

HUERTA MUST GO; THAT'S LAST WORD OF UNITED STATES

Final Ending of Negotiations Today When President Wilson Reads His Special Mexican Message to Congress.

ENVOY LIND HAS LEFT CAPITAL OF MEXICO

Accompanied by Many Americans, Lind Goes to Vera Cruz to Sail for Home. Mexicans Anxious.

Mexico City, August 26.—President Wilson's personal representative, John Lind, and Frederico Gamboa, Mexican minister of foreign affairs, again are exchanging notes on the subject of the relations between the respective governments, notwithstanding Mr. Lind already has left this capital and that President Wilson's other agent, William Bayard Hale, has planned to leave tomorrow.

Senator Gamboa's note, which he says is in reply to one he received from the American envoy, was sent to Mr. Lind at Vera Cruz tonight. The Mexican foreign minister is reticent as to the character of the exchanges, but officially it is said they will not affect the situation.

Mr. Lind made the trip to Vera Cruz in an ordinary day coach, in the absence from the train of the private car which had been proffered by President Huerta.

Senator Gamboa was told that the officials at Washington appeared to believe that Mr. Lind's return to the Mexican capital was not improbable.

"Mr. Lind will be entirely welcomed in Mexico, should he wish to return," replied the minister.

Though somewhat reassured by the press dispatches from Washington, indicating that the administration still is strongly opposed to intervention, there still prevails here intense anxiety on the part of the foreign residents as well as Mexicans. Trains for Vera Cruz today carried away many Americans, and many more have planned to go tomorrow.

Statement by Foreign Office.

The following statement was issued at the foreign office tonight: "In order to calm the natural anxiety of the public, occasioned by the negotiations which have been carried on with Mr. Lind, the confidential agent of President Wilson, Senator Gamboa declares that up to the present there is no reason for alarm.

"Since the beginning Mexico has tried to maintain a conciliatory attitude, although at the same time a dignified one, and if the president of the United States considers it opportune to submit to congress the status of the negotiations, then Mexico is relieved from the tact agreement and from the customs observed in negotiations of this class nor to give publicity, and will hasten them, and only then to make public in their entirety all the documents which have been received or which may be received at that date.

"The situation is far from being desperate. It can be only called serious, and for this reason, it is desirable that the public should be discreet and reserved, since this is the best method in which they can aid the government."

The governors and local politicians have been instructed by the minister of interior, Dr. Urrutia, to organize and drill all able bodied men and to report to the capital the number of organizations and the condition of the men. It is explained that the reason for the order is to have these men participate in parades to be held in all the cities of Mexico on September 16, the anniversary of independence.

Lind Reaches Vera Cruz.
Vera Cruz, August 26.—Attended by 24 secret service men, Mr. Lind, President Wilson's envoy, arrived here from the Mexican capital at 7:30 o'clock this evening. He is accompanied by Mrs. Lind.

Rear Admiral Frank K. Fletcher, commanding the second division of the United States Atlantic fleet, and a representative of the American consulate met him at the terminal station. It is expected that after a brief rest Mr. Lind will go aboard the battleship Louisiana and get into communication with Washington by wireless. He declined tonight to make any statement.

It is believed here that Mr. Lind's mission is ended and that General Treviño's sudden call to Mexico City.

Alleged "Slaver" and His Victim

DREW CAMINETTI

LOLA NORRIS

Drew Caminetti, son of United States commissioner of Immigration Caminetti, is on trial at Sacramento, Cal., on a charge of white slavery. It is thought likely Caminetti's trial will not last as long as that of his companion, Maury I. Diggs, who was recently found guilty of violating the Mann white slave act in taking Marsha Warrington to Reno, Nev., from Sacramento at the same time that Caminetti accompanied the Norris girl. Though both married, these two young men took Lola Norris and her friend, Marsha Warrington, to Reno, Nev. Their case was postponed by the department of justice at Washington despite the protests of United States District Attorney McNab, now resigned. The matter created a national sensation because of the allegations of political influence.

CAMINETTI AT BAR AS "WHITE SLAVER"

Companion of Diggs on Trial. Six Jurors Secured—The Government Wants Married Men to Try Case.

San Francisco, August 26.—Six men have been chosen to sit on the jury that will try F. Drew Caminetti on the indictment charging him with violation of the federal white slave act. Counsel believe the jury will be completed tomorrow.

Three of the jurors are men who were rejected at the trial of Maury I. Diggs, friend and companion of Caminetti, who was convicted last Wednesday in the same court on a similar charge. Four of them are men of wealth, one being Francis J. Carolan, society leader of Burlington and Newport, a polo player and millionaire.

It is believed the case will be submitted by Thursday or Friday of next week.

Caminetti is being tried on four charges of an indictment which charges that he transported Marsha Warrington and Lola Norris, two Sacramento girls, to Reno, Nev., March 10, for immoral purposes.

Diggs Sits By Caminetti.
Attorney Charles B. Harris, of Sacramento, under a charge of subornation of perjury in behalf of Diggs, sat at the counsel table today and in the afternoon Caminetti was joined by Diggs, who is at liberty on a half awaiting sentence to be pronounced Thursday.

The same witnesses who testified at the trial of Diggs last week appeared at the federal building and, struggling through the crowd that had gathered about the courtroom, forced their way into the building, shielding themselves as well as they could from the battery of clicking cameras trained upon them by newspaper photographers and representatives of moving picture concerns that are making capital of the plight of the youthful defendants and their girl victims.

Sits at a Premium.
Hours before 9 o'clock, when the case was called, the corridors outside the court room began to fill and then the crowd overflowed to the steps of the building and to the street.

The first forty-eight places were held at a premium, for it was known that by edict of the court only that number would be admitted. Despite the fact that it was well understood that no testimony would be introduced today, as the time will be given over to prospective jurors, the crowd stayed on and, among the forty-eight at the head of the line many were offered inducements of various sorts to yield the coveted places.

Government Wants Married Jurors.

The same method that was pursued in the examination of the talesmen at the Diggs trial was pursued today. It was important both to the defense and to the government to learn the names of the talesmen under examination who were married, single men, and whether they were men of family. The government, as was the case at the Diggs trial, showed by the questions asked that it sought to try the case before a jury of men married and with families.

Marsha Warrington and Lola Norris were not in the courtroom, but remained in an office nearby, ready to appear should their presence be desired.

Heinberg Held as "Slaver."

Pensacola, Fla., August 26.—Ben J. C. Heinberg, aged 26 years, a member of a prominent Pensacola family, was arrested here today by federal authorities on a white slavery charge. He was released on bond of $2,000. The authorities charge that Heinberg paid for the transportation of a 15-year-old girl to Birmingham for immoral purposes. It is said Heinberg and the girl returned here yesterday after an absence of two weeks.

MERCHANTS BEHIND ATTENDANCE MOVE

Field Day Today to Stimulate Interest—Prizes by Local Merchants—Half-Holiday for the Grocers.

Birmingham has questioned Atlanta's right to her claim as the "best ball town in the Southern league." And the Magic City will substantiate her challenge, unless there is a concerted effort on the part of every true fan in the city.

The team eliminated Birmingham from the race for the Southern league pennant by taking seven straight games.

It's now up to the fans to eliminate the Magic City again by pouring out to the ball games for the remainder of the season. The way the fans of a city support the ball club is evidence of that city's standing as a ball town. And the support is known only by the attendance record.

At present Birmingham leads Atlanta in attendance by a small majority. Concerted effort will be needed to pass the Barons and grab off the attendance honors as well as the ball playing honors. The team rose to the occasion when Birmingham challenged their standing ranking. What are you fans going to do about this attendance proposition?

Field Day Today.

Today being a half holiday for the grocers and butchers of the city, a gala and festive program has been arranged for their amusement at the ball park.

A field day consisting of five events common to all ball field days have been arranged and the players of the Memphis and Atlanta clubs will contest for prizes offered by the local merchants who are lining up behind the movement.

These events will start promptly at 3 o'clock and will be concluded in time for the ball game which will start promptly at 3:30. If you've never seen a baseball field day, you do not want to miss it. It's great sport.

Here are the list of events and the prizes that will be given to the winners and by whom they are offered:

100-yard dash: Nat. Law Brothers.
50-yard sack race: $5.
Circling the bases: Pair of shoes, Byck Brothers.
Fungo hitting: Two silk shirts, Parks-Chambers-Hardwick company.

Long distance throwing: Silk umbrella; George Aluse Clothing company.

The sporting editors of the three local papers will act as judges.

To Close Shops.

Several of the largest business houses of the city have given their promise to the local baseball association that they will give as many of their employees as is practicable with the continuance of their business permission to attend the games for the remainder of the season.

A complete list of those who have agreed to this is not obtainable, but here is a partial list:
W. A. Chapin Insurance company, Royal Insurance company, Georgia Railway and Power company, Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph company, Third National bank, V. H. Krieshaber & Son, Lowry National bank and others.

"Birmingham must be beaten" is the slogan of the local club, merchants and fans. The attendance for the remainder of the season should be immense.

The Atlanta spirit is working splendidly.

ABSORBED IN MEXICO BRYAN FORGETS HOME

Washington, August 26.—The Mexican situation so absorbed the attention of Secretary Bryan that he forgot to go home last night and while he waited for messages from John Lind he curled up on a couch where he slept until time to go home for breakfast.

MACHINERY MOVES FOR IMPEACHMENT OF U. S. JUDGE SPEER

Resolution Providing for Inquiry Into Charges Temporarily Blocked by Opposition of Republican Leader.

CHARGES MOST GRAVE, ACCORDING TO BARTLETT

Chairman Clayton, of Judiciary Committee, Says if the Charges Are True Speer Should Be Removed.

EVIDENCE IN SPEER CASE WILL BE TAKEN IN GEORGIA

Washington, August 26.—(Special.)—Judge Speer has advised the judiciary committee that he is now at his Mount Airy home suffering from hay fever. His convenience will be consulted by the committee as far as possible in any investigation it may be directed to make. The committee, or sub-committee, will probably go to Macon to take testimony before the conclusion of the present session of congress. Judge Speer will be present at this examination. Even if the committee reports articles of impeachment and the house approves, it is not probable that the senate will try the case until next session.

By John Corrigan, Jr.

Washington, August 26.—Machinery for the impeachment of Judge Emory Speer, of the southern district of Georgia, for high crimes and misdemeanors, was put in motion in the house of representatives today, when Representative Henry D. Clayton, of Alabama, chairman of the judiciary committee, offered a formal resolution of inquiry.

The committee had become convinced, he said, that the charges against Judge Speer, supported by the report of a special investigator of the department of justice and by letters and affidavits, merited full investigation.

"We are of opinion that if these charges are true, the judge ought to be removed from office as being unfitted for his judicial office," said Mr. Clayton.

He, therefore, asked authority from the house to probe the charges, subpoena witnesses and conduct a thorough investigation in Macon and Milledgeville. He had already secured special permission and make an appropriation for this purpose.

Objections offered by Representatives James R. Mann, of Illinois, the republican leader, caused the resolution to go over until tomorrow, when it will be called up immediately following the president's message on Mexico.

Amendment May Be Added.

Should partisan opposition develop to its further consideration, the resolution will be amended by adding to the direction for an investigation instructions to bring in articles of impeachment provided the charges are sustained. This will make it of the highest privilege, and not subject to a point of order.

Another course would be for the rules committee to bring in a special rule making the Speer resolution privileged.

A meeting of the Georgia delegation was held this morning on the call of Representative Bartlett, dean of the delegation. All the Georgia members who are in Washington attended except Representative Tribble, who declined to attend.

The question of whether any members of the Georgia delegation should rise and move the impeachment of Judge Speer was discussed. The delegation anticipated what afterwards developed, that objections would be made that the house did not know the details of the charges against Judge Speer laid before the judiciary committee by the department of justice.

In the case of Judge Charles Swann, of Florida, who was tried on impeachment charges, a motion was made by Representative W. B. Lamar.

When Representative Mann made the point in the house of lack of information, Representative Clayton said that, reluctant as he was to disclose the charges, he would do so.

Representative Mann also objected to that course. "Will the gentleman object to unanimous consent to take this matter up tomorrow, following the reading of the president's message?" asked Mr. Clayton.

"I cannot say at this time," replied Mr. Mann.

Speer Alleges Conspiracy.
Judge Speer has written several members of congress about the charges and it is reported he has declared the attack on him is the result of a political conspiracy. Another factor entering into it is the recent controversy between Representative Mann, the republican leader, and Attorney General McReynolds over the Diggs-Caminetti case, in which Mr. Mann severely scored the action of the department of justice in postponing that trial.

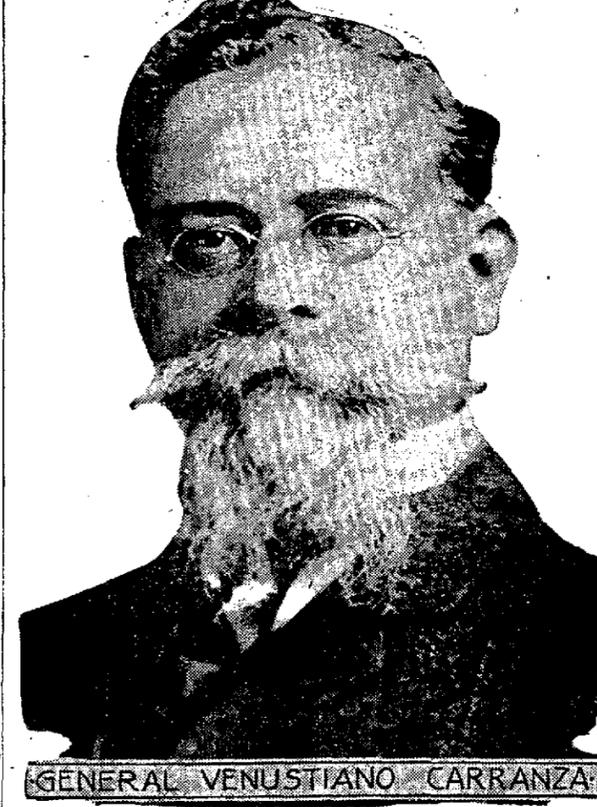

Representative Bartlett, who represents the Macon, Ga., district, made an impassioned speech, saying that it was right to choose trial either at once or before the king's bench in October.

The news spread quickly through the hotel corridors. Sheriff Hornbeck, of Dutchess county, who is particularly anxious to get home, expressed his great disgust. The band cuffs and log irons he brought with him have proved only a burden, and he has been roaming about town for a week waiting for something to turn up.

THAW'S LAWYERS SPRING A SURPRISE

Withdraw Habeas Corpus Writ and Decide to Let Client Stay in Jail—Move Creates Enigma.

Sherbrooke, Quebec, August 27.—(Wednesday)—The New York state forces and associated counsel fighting for the return of Harry K. Thaw to Milledgeville, announced early today that, in their opinion, the move of the defense to abandon the writ of habeas corpus could not be done without formal permission of the court, and that, in any event, Thaw would be forced into court, even if the commitment on which he is held, had to be quashed.

The announcement was made by Franklin Kennedy, deputy attorney general, who returned from Ottawa and Montreal late last night. If the state forces can make good their threat, Thaw may be discharged today and turned over to the immigration authorities for deportation before night.

Sherbrooke, Quebec, August 26.—Harry K. Thaw's Canadian attorneys late today withdrew the writ of habeas corpus obtained last week in his behalf and the fugitive from Matteawan will not be arraigned in the superior court tomorrow morning, as had been expected. The withdrawal of the writ may prolong the proceedings indefinitely.

The next move in the Thaw case is now distinctly up to those desiring his deportation. Under the present commitment he might remain in the Sherbrooke jail indefinitely, electing to have a hearing before a district magistrate, or demanding a jury trial before the king's bench, criminal side, which does not sit until October. Briefly, Thaw's lawyers have decided to let him pace his cell, meanwhile perfecting plans to defeat attempts to put him across the Canadian border.

It's Beyond Jerome.
"It's beyond me," said William Travers Jerome. "The fine points of Canadian law involved are such that I would not feel justified in even guessing at the outcome. We hope to get him in the end, but this tangle must be straightened out first."

Hector Verret, K. C., representing New York state, said tonight that he regarded the withdrawal of the writ on Thaw's behalf as tacit admission by his lawyers that the commitment was legal, and did contain a charge on which Thaw could be brought into court.

"Then we might get out another commitment charging some other offense," he added. "We could bring him into court on that, surely. There would still remain, however, Thaw's right to choose trial either at once or before the king's bench in October."

The news spread quickly through the hotel corridors. Sheriff Hornbeck, of Dutchess county, who is particularly anxious to get home, expressed his great disgust. The handcuffs and log irons he brought with him have proved only a burden, and he has been roaming about town for a week waiting for something to turn up.

Amounts and Representatives.
Following are the amounts allotted to each of the southern states, the cities designated as depositories and a partial list of the government's representatives:

Alabama, $1,500,000; Birmingham, E. M. Tutwiler; Mobile, Albert Bush; Montgomery, W. A. Gayle.
Arkansas, $500,000; Little Rock, W. M. Kavanaugh.
Florida, $1,150,000; Jacksonville, Pennsylvania, J. B. McNeil; Tampa, Georgia, $1,700,000; Atlanta, J. K. Orr; Savannah, E. Randolph; Macon, Augusta, William H. Barrett; Macon, William H. Felton, Jr.
Kentucky, $1,650,000; Lexington, J. E. Cassidy; Louisville.

The southern banks have asked that their share of the funds be deposited in August and September and those in the west and south to be apportioned to them during September, October and November. The money will be allowed to remain on deposit on an average of four or five months. All of it is to be returned not later than next April, and the southern bankers, who get their money first, in December, will begin turning it back into the treasury in monthly installments.

Statement by McAdoo.
In a statement announcing the apportionment, Secretary McAdoo said: "The money has been deposited in the banks in the west and south at this time because it is believed there is a special demand for the money to assist in marketing of the crops which are now being harvested in these particular sections, but if in the east or elsewhere it should be needed as such, it is to be returned not later than next April, and the southern bankers, who get their money first, in December, will begin turning it back into the treasury in monthly installments."

Many factors were taken into consideration in arriving at the apportionment of deposits in the west and south. "Among these," the secretary said, "were the immediate needs of the localities as reported by the committees of the clearing houses in Washington, the capital of the different national banks and the character of business transacted by them. The amount of money which these banks are at the present time advancing to their country bank correspondents and the additional accommodations which they expect to extend to these correspondents; their present condition as shown by their last comptroller's report; outstanding circulation and the amount of rediscounts they may have made in their efforts to meet the legitimate demands upon them of customers and correspondents."

In each depository city the government has chosen a special representative who will serve in conjunction with the clearing house committee of five to pass on all commercial paper recommended as security for deposits and all paper before being accepted must be unanimously recommended by this committee.

FRANK SENTENCED ON MURDER CHARGE TO HANG OCT. 10

Motion for New Trial Made and Hearing Set for October 4, Thus Making It Certain Prisoner Will Get Delay.

NEWT LEE IS RELEASED BY ORDER OF THE COURT

Leo Frank Tells Judge That He Is Innocent, but That His Case Is in the Hands of Counsel.

Leo M. Frank is sentenced to be hanged on October 10. This was the date set yesterday morning by Judge L. S. Roan, when the man convicted of the murder of little Mary Phagan was brought before him to be sentenced. The fact that the man's attorneys immediately made motion for a new trial and that Judge Roan set this hearing for October 4 makes it certain that Frank will not hang on the date set.

Should Judge Roan, after a hearing, grant a new trial, the execution would be postponed; should he refuse it, the execution would be postponed while the matter went through the higher courts.

With the sentencing of Frank came a court order, secured by Attorney Graham and Chappell, giving freedom to Newt Lee, negro nightwatchman for the National Pencil factory, of which Leo Frank was superintendent. The negro had been in custody since 3 o'clock on the morning of April 27 when officers came at his call and found the dead girl's body in the factory basement.

Conley Still in Tower.
James Conley, the negro sweeper, who testified that he aided Frank in disposing of the body and whose story the jury believed, is still in jail, an accessory after the fact by his own confession. The maximum punishment for Conley is three years and it is expected that he will be indicted in short order and enter a formal plea of guilty. It is believed that he will be given less than the maximum, as is often done where a person turns state's witness.

When Frank was called upon Tuesday morning by the sentencing judge for any reason why sentence of death should not be pronounced upon him, he reaffirmed his statement of innocence.

"Four honor, I say now, as I have always said, that I am innocent of the fact that my case is in the hands of counsel." These were the words the man spoke and he looked directly at the judge as he spoke.

Very few persons were present when the sentence was passed. Judge Roan sat in his regular courtroom in the Throver building, instead of in the civil division of the courthouse, where the trial was held, and not over 50 people were present as spectators.

Mrs. Frank Not Present.
Not even the convicted man's wife was present. She had heard of the fact that her husband was to be pronounced and was rushing to the courthouse when the words were pronounced by the judge.

As the prisoner in the custody of Deputy Sheriff John E. Owen, Frank Brodax and T. C. Burdette was being taken back to the Tower Mrs. Frank, the wife, came up in an automobile. The two met in front of the Throver building. The wife greeted her husband with a smile and then followed him to the jail, where she threw her arms around him and kissed him repeatedly.

Solicitor General Hugh M. Dorsey was not present at the sentencing, and neither was Frank A. Cooper, special counsel who aided him in the trial. The state was represented by E. A. Owens, assistant to the solicitor. All three of the defendant's attorneys were present and had a conference with Judge Roan in his chamber shortly before the sentencing. It was then that the judge was given informal notice of the motion for a new trial.

Attorneys Luther Z. Rosser, Reuben K. Arnold and Herbert Haas are all confident that Frank will get a new trial.

Statutory Grounds Given.

In making their motion for a new trial, attorneys for Leo Frank set forth statutory grounds and at an early date will file the real motion as an amendment to the present one.

The motion as filed Tuesday sets forth that the verdict of guilty was contrary to the evidence; that the verdict was contrary to the law; that it was contrary to the weight of law; and that the court, after overruling motion of the defense, allowed certain testimony, which was relative to other cases not mentioned in the bill of indictment.

The last mentioned part of the motion will be the principal one on which the amended motion will be made. It refers to the testimony of Conley in which he charged perversion on the part of the young superintendent and also declared that on many previous occasions he had acted as "lookout" for him at the factory.

Leo Frank's cell was a mecca for visitors yesterday. Friends came to the jail in crowds, appearing as early as daybreak and as late as 10 o'clock at night. Even when he went to the courthouse to receive the sentence of death, he was accompanied by friends.

Both his mother and wife came to the Tower during the morning. He seemed cheerful. The wife plainly showed the effect of the terrible strain which she had undergone during the latter days of the trial.

When the trio emerged from the room, both women kissed the pris oner goodbye and left the Tower. They were accompanied by friends and neighbors who left with them. Frank was sent back to his cage and locked in. He occupies an entire cell block in ward 3.

Statement by Defense.

Reuben Arnold and family left the Ford Springs, where they go to spend a month's vacation.

Shortly before leaving the city, Mr. Arnold conferred with Attorney Luther Rosser. The result was a short statement given out to the newspapers in which the counsel for the defense declared it would have taken a jury of Stoics to have given Frank a fair and impartial trial.

The statement was:

"We deem it not amiss to make a short statement as the attorneys of Leo M. Frank to the public.

"The trial which has just occurred and which has resulted in Mr. Frank's conviction was a farce and not in any way a trial. In saying this we do not make the least criticism of Judge Ruan, who presided. Judge Ruan is one of the best men in Georgia and is an able and conscientious judge.

"The temper of the public mind was such that it invaded the courtroom and invaded the streets and made it self manifest at every turn the jury made; and it was just as impossible for this jury to escape the effects of the public feeling as it was for those permitted to mingle with the people.

"In going this we are making no criticism of the jury. They were only men and unconsciously this prejudice rendered any other verdict impossible.

"We would have required a jury of Stoics, a jury of Spartans, to have withstood this situation.

"The time ought to come when this man will get a fair trial and we profoundly believe it will.

"The final judgment of the American people is a fair one. It is sometimes delayed in coming, but it comes.

"We entered into this case with the profound conviction of Mr. Frank's innocence. The result has not changed our opinion. Every step of the trial has intensified and fortified our profound conviction of his innocence.

Frank Jurors Did Not Even Know KEPT UP WITH THE BASEBALL SCORES General Assembly Had Adjourned

"Say, what's the legislature doing these days?" a member of the Frank jury asked a friend yesterday. The juror, who had been locked up from communication with the outside world, could hardly realize it when he was told that the legislative session of 1913 was history.

"Well, I wonder what's going on in Washington; what has happened in Mexico and, oh, well, I'm going to get the back copies of the paper for a month and find out what has happened," he concluded.

The twelve men who, after listening for twenty-nine days to testimony and argument in the trial of Leo M. Frank for the murder of little Mary Phagan, know almost nothing of what was going on in the world around them.

Heard Report About Thaw.

They heard one of the balliffs say that Harry K. Thaw had escaped from Matteawan asylum, but not until they began to discuss things in general Tuesday did any of them know that the slayer of Stanford White had been captured in Canada.

There was one feature of the news that went daily to the men and that was the results in the Southern league. Each evening a deputy sheriff informed himself upon the outcome of the baseball games and also the standing of the Atlanta team and told this to the jurors.

Of other news the men knew almost nothing. They wrote to their wives and they made certain arrangements about their business from day to day, but a deputy had to read even these letters, and as an example of the strictness with which even this mail was censored was when one of the jurors wrote his wife two weeks ago that he would probably be locked up a week or ten days longer.

The deputy made him rewrite the letter and leave out all reference to the length of time he thought the case would continue.

Oath of Silence Taken.

What happened in the jury room from the time that the twelve men came in from lunch Monday and started to deliberate with a man's life as the subject of their verdict will never be known, according to the jurors.

A solemn oath never to reveal what transpired was taken by each of the men before the deliberation started. At that time it was not known how long they would stay out, nor what arguments and persuasion might be needed before a verdict was reached.

The only thing that was given out, and that came not in a direct statement, was that all reference to the first ballot and that each man was rather surprised at the unanimity of the twelve.

Friendships that will last through life and that are expected to result in reunions from time to time sprang up in the course of the case. The jurors learned to call each other not by surname or given name, but by nickname, and the list of these nicknames would cause laughter anywhere.

Nowhere but among his closest friends would, for instance, M. Johnson consent to be called "Daisy Hopkins," nor A. H. Henslee "Big Newt," but those were their nicknames and by them they were also called.

The others were called as follows: Foreman F. E. Winburn, "John Black," after the city detective whom Attorney Luther Rosser grilled so fiercely; W. F. Medcalf, "Albert McNight," after the disowned husband of Minola, cook for the Selig family; J. P. Higdon, "Luther Rosser," from the redoubtable attorney in the case; W. M. Jeffries, two nicknames which were used interchangeably, "Judge Roan" and "Tolloway," the latter after the witness whom the solicitor accused of "grapping" him; C. J. Bastard, "Burtus Dalton," after the state's witness who described Daisy Hopkins as a "peach"; J. T. Osburn, "Christopher Columbus Barrett," after the discoverer of the blood spots; Frederick Van L. Smith, "Rabbi," after Dr. David Marx, character witness and staunch friend to the defendant; Deder Townsend, "Bride," since he had been married only four months; A. L. Wisbey, "John Starnes," after the city detective; M. E. Woodward, "Little Newt," as he was running mate and close friend to "Big Newt" Henslee.

The others were called as follows: Foreman F. E. Winburn, "John Black," after the city detective whom Attorney Luther Rosser grilled so fiercely; W. F. Medcalf, "Albert McNight," after the disowned husband of Minola, cook for the Selig family; J. P. Higdon, "Luther Rosser," from the redoubtable attorney in the case; W. M. Jeffries, two nicknames which were used interchangeably, "Judge Roan" and "Tolloway," the latter after the witness whom the solicitor accused of "grapping" him; C. J. Bastard, "Burtus Dalton," after the state's witness who described Daisy Hopkins as a "peach"; J. T. Osburn, "Christopher Columbus Barrett," after the discoverer of the blood spots; Frederick Van L. Smith, "Rabbi," after Dr. David Marx, character witness and staunch friend to the defendant; Deder Townsend, "Bride," since he had been married only four months; A. L. Wisbey, "John Starnes," after the city detective; M. E. Woodward, "Little Newt," as he was running mate and close friend to "Big Newt" Henslee.

Hugh Dorsey's Great Speech Feature of the Frank Trial

By Sidney Ormond.

The Frank trial a matter of history, Solicitor Hugh Dorsey and his wonderful speech, which brought the case to a close, form the subject matter for countless discussions among all classes of folk in all sorts of places—on the street corners, in clubs, newspaper offices, at the courthouse and wherever two lawyers chance to get together for an exchange of words.

Beyond all doubt, Hugh Dorsey is the most talked of man in the state of Georgia today. The widespread interest in the Frank case caused all eyes from Rabun Gap to Tybee Light to be centered on this young man, who, up to a few months ago, was little heard of outside of the county of Fulton.

The Frank case has been to Atlanta and the state—in fact, several adjacent states—what the Becker case was to New York and the country-at-large.

Made Thorough Probe.

When Rosenthal was killed by a gang of gunmen at the Hotel Metropole, District Attorney Whitman was unheard of outside of New York. Today he is a national figure. The same thing holds true of Hugh Dorsey in a lesser degree.

Incidentally, there is another point of comparison. When Rosenthal was murdered, Whitman plunged into the case and personally directed the investigation which led up to the arrest and subsequent conviction of the murderers. No one criticized him for his activity in the case. Hugh Dorsey did the same thing. The Frank case was one of far too much importance to be bungled. It was worthy of the best efforts of every court official sworn to uphold the enforcement of the law. The city was in a state of mental stress. Lines were closely drawn. It was no time for mistakes of judgment. Dorsey knew this. He felt the responsibility of his position and he entered into the work of clearing up the awful mystery with but one end in view—that justice should prevail. Unlike Whitman, he met criticism in some quarters—a criticism which was unmerited. He did what he felt to be his duty and that nothing more; and it is certain that had he felt Frank innocent, he never would have sought his indictment by the grand jury.

During the progress of the Frank trial a close friend of the unfortunate young man said, in a tone that expressed some surprise:

"I actually believe Hugh Dorsey thought Frank guilty."

Thought Him Guilty.

And he was right. Anyone who knows Hugh Dorsey has never for one instant doubted that all along he has been firmly convinced. Frank's guilt. Hugh Dorsey is no head-hunter—no savage thirsting for the blood of innocent men. He is human, with human sympathies—tender as a woman at times, but stern as a Spartan when it calls.

It was the call of duty that caused him to probe the murder of little Mary Phagan; it was the same call which caused him to prosecute the man he thought guilty of the murder.

Don't think for one instant that Hugh Dorsey did not suffer during the progress of the trial. He suffered as seldom a man is called upon to suffer. It is hard enough to call upon a jury to convict a man of murder; it is doubly hard to do so in the presence of the man's wife and mother. During the last half hour of his speech it was nothing short of torture for him to face these faithful, devoted women and ask that the law which condemns men to death be invoked.

When he said afterward that he felt for the wife and mother he meant every word. He is not a man given to the parade of emotion—men who feel deeply seldom are.

But, back to the trial of the case. If it is given to one to view the case without prejudice—and there are many such in Atlanta—the heroic task which Hugh Dorsey had before him is apparent.

First, Luther Rosser was employed. Then Rube Arnold entered the lists for the defense. No more formidable array of legal counsel could have been found in the south. Extremes in method, manner and temperament, equally well versed in the law and experienced in its practice, they formed a bulwark that few men would care to attack.

The knowing ones said:

"Well, Hugh Dorsey will get his. They'll chew him up and spit him out."

Did they? Not so you could notice it. For once Luther Rosser met his match. For once Rube Arnold crossed swords with a man who caused him to break ground.

Fought Them Every Step.

They tried all sorts of tactics. They used sarcasm; they interrupted; they hammered and they hauled, but it was to no purpose. Dorsey met them at every turn, countering them, slamming heads there. He fought them any fashion they pleased to try.

But his speech was the thing that proved him master. It was a masterpiece. No such speech has ever been heard in the Fulton county courthouse, and the words are measured as they are written. It was, as Burton Smith expressed it, worthy of Bob Toombs in the first-flush of vigorous manhood. It was clean-cut, convincing, forceful. It carried conviction with every sentence. It proved, if proof were needed, that Hugh Dorsey is a lawyer of whom any man need have fear. The speech will live long in the memory of those who heard it, no matter what opinion may be entertained of the guilt or innocence of Leo M. Frank.

Job, Provisions and Clothes Asked for Old Man Newt Lee

Old man Newt Lee, discoverer of Mary Phagan's body, and a leading witness in the Frank trial, sniffed the air of freedom yesterday for the first time in months when he was liberated from the Tower shortly after noon.

He went first to police station, then to his home. The house was empty. His wife had gone. The chickens were absent and his household effects had departed with the lowly and his deserting spouse.

His clothes were missing. He wore the same garments he had worn for the past four months. He went directly to the office of his attorney, Graham and Chappell.

They have made an appeal for the old nightwatchman, asking for clothes and provisions and for a job. Newt is a good workman and is conscientious. In all the testimony with which the defense sought to attack him, there wasn't the slightest evidence that he had been unfaithful to his employer. He had been nightwatchman at the pencil plant for three weeks.

His attorneys have asked that anyone who can give the aged Newt a job, clothing or provisions, communicate with them over telephone Main 3182.

FATHER IS CONFIDENT OF FRANK'S INNOCENCE

"Prisoner Being Railroaded," Declares New York Attorney for the Family.

New York, August 26.—(Special.)—Rudolph M. Frank, father of Leo M. Frank, who was convicted yesterday in Atlanta after a trial of over four weeks of the murder of 14-year-old Mary Phagan, an employee of the National Pencil company, of that city, today expressed, through his daughter and his attorney, complete confidence in his son's innocence.

Mr. Frank, who is an elderly man, is prostrated at his home, 152 Underhill avenue, at the unexpected outcome of the trial, which has kept him at a nervous tension since its beginning on July 28. When he received news this afternoon that his son had been sentenced to death on October 10, he broke down completely.

"Mr. Frank, and everyone who knows his son, has absolute confidence in the boy's innocence," said Harry Lewis, attorney for the Franks, at his office at 215 Montague street today. "The boy is simply being railroaded on the uncorroborated evidence of a negro who has been already convicted of crime seven times."

When inquiry was made at the Frank home in Underhill avenue today, reporters were not allowed to see Mr. Frank.

Leo Frank's sister and brother-in-law were seen and they both also expressed confidence in his innocence. The brother-in-law said that the father had not been told of the verdict yesterday, as they feared the effects. When he was told this morning he collapsed and is at present under the care of physicians.

DODGE

For 30 Years the Keystone of Power Transmission

Thirty years ago the Dodge Manufacturing Company produced the first wood-split pulley. Today Dodge is still the standard of the world.

They are unequalled in quality of material—workmanship and finish. Dodge Independence Wood Split Pulleys are fully guaranteed for any fine regular leather belts or any fine or counter shaft service in which Wood Split Wood Pulleys cost less than steel or iron and in a great majority of cases they are far better.

The Dodge Independence is known as the "balanced pulley"—because of the care and study which is given to produce absolute accuracy in their manufacture.

Dodge interchangeable Bushings enable you to fit any pulley to any shaft.

Dodge Bushings give 100 per cent clamping surface.

Dodge Wood Pulleys are guaranteed to transmit from 25 per cent to 60 per cent more power with the same belt than any iron pulley made, with equal tension of belt.

You should investigate the Dodge Wood Split Pulley. You will probably find it will save you more money in your plant than any one piece of transmission machinery. Write to Dodge-Atlanta and ask them to send you a copy of our booklet, "From Lock to Line Shaft," or get it from your local dealer.

Street Car Conductors Growing Enthusiastic About Constitution's Prize Contest

No. 122 says the $100 in gold shall be his already winning subscriptions. Enrollments steadily increasing, as the men in blue realize the money they can make.

"I'm after that $100 in gold, silver or paper. It doesn't matter which, so long as I win it," said Conductor No. 122, whose run is from Inman Park to Grant Park. "It certainly would come in handy, what with the repairs I'm making in the home and the things I'll be needing this fall. The overcoat and the full uniform look good to me, too. But if I don't win any prize, I'll at least make my Christmas money, and that is certainly worth while."

"How are the men taking the contest? Oh, they're waking up to the realization that they can make a great deal of money out of it, if they hustle a bit. Some of the boys told me they'll give me a good run for the big prize. They're already picking rival runners, and we'll surely show how well we stand with the general public before October 4."

An Unusual Plan.

The Constitution wants to know who is the most popular conductor in Atlanta? So this contest is for the benefit of conductors only. And every one has a chance to win something. The conductors are recognized by gildings of Atlanta, and are paid for every subscription they turn in at the Constitution office to the daily and Sunday paper. Each three months subscription gives them a thousand votes and each six months subscription gives three thousand. The men who don't win a prize will receive 25c for every three months subscription and 36c for every six months subscription. A committee of disinterested business men will decide who are the winners after the contest closes October 4.

$100 in gold will be given to the conductor polling the greatest number of votes; a solid gold railroad watch will be given to the next man; the third man will get a tailor-made conductor's overcoat; the fourth man a complete uniform, and the last man a twenty-six piece silver set guaranteed for twenty-five years.

Prizes in With Them.

"Certainly I'll help the conductors," said a local retail merchant. "Why shouldn't I? They're a good, hard-working lot of men and deserve my co-operation."

That's the spirit of the public as reported to a Constitution man. "Sure they're with us, said several conductors. "After this contest is a good thing for every one concerned. The people will learn to know us better and that means better service from us men; they'll learn to know how good a paper the Constitution is; the Constitution will get new subscribers, and we'll get either prizes or cash."

They'll learn to know how good a paper the Constitution is; the Constitution will get new subscribers, and we'll get either prizes or cash."

Just one of them saw a man, he knew. "I'll get his signature to a subscription blank now," he said. "So long."

PASSING BAD CHECK CHARGED TO WELLS

Real Estate Man Wanted in a Number of Cities, According to the Police.

L. W. Wells, of the Jones-Wells company, real estate dealers with offices in the Third National bank building, was arrested Tuesday night about 8 o'clock in the Aracoon hotel, just as he was packing a hand satchel apparently with the intention of taking leave of Atlanta, and charged with passing a worthless check.

Wells gave a check drawn on the Atlanta National bank for $7 to a North Broad shoe store on last Wednesday, in payment for a pair of shoes priced at $1.95, receiving $3.05 in cash. He had previously been notified by the bank. It is stated that his account was overdrawn and that no checks with his signature would be honored until he made a deposit covering his overdraft. Detective Harper located Wells Tuesday night.

When searched at headquarters after being arrested by Call Officer Gorman, there were found among his effects a number of bank books showing deposits in various banks throughout the south, the aggregate total of which is considerably more than $100,000, one pass-book alone showing a balance of $48,000. According to the police these deposits are forgeries.

It is charged that Wells is wanted for the same offense in a number of cities in Tennessee, North Carolina, Alabama, Georgia and Florida. He admits that he has passed worthless checks in other cities than Atlanta, but declares that they were all merely overdrafts, and only such as any business man is compelled to give at times when money is tight.

He stated that the $48,000 account shown with a Mason, N. C., bank is one representing deposits that had been actually made in his name, but later admitted that his account with this bank was closed more than two years ago.

WIRELESS WAVES START RACE AGAINST DEATH

Washington, August 26.—Wireless waves spluttering out over the Bering sea today are calling a revenue cutter to start on a 2,000 mile race against death. Somewhere out of the squadron cruising the waters of the Arctic circle, a ship will be found to get Fred M. Chamberlain, a government naturalist at St. Paul Island, and rush him down to Seattle in time it is hoped to save his life. Chamberlain, a bridegroom of a year, went to St. Paul to take the last census for the department of commerce.

WHITMAN IS PLACED ON TAMMANY TICKET

"Boss" Murphy Indorses Republican District Attorney for Re-Election.

New York, August 26.—Tammany Hall tonight placed District Attorney Charles S. Whitman, republican, on its ticket for re-election. Before the prosecutor was designated by the democratic committee, Charles F. Murphy said no assurance had been received that Mr. Whitman would accept. The district attorney, when informed of Tammany's action, declared he was not ready to say whether he would accept the designation, but would make his decision known within two or three days.

Mr. Whitman's acceptance of the Tammany endorsement would place his name on all the tickets that have so far been nominated. The fusionists, the republicans and the progressives and the independence league have named him for re-election. I am much gratified at the compliment paid me by all the political parties of this county in the unanimous nomination for re-election to the office of district attorney," said Mr. Whitman tonight. "I can certainly regard this action of my fellow citizens as a great tribute to the work of the office and to my loyal and able assistants, as well as to myself."

Before Mr. Whitman returned to his home in Bretonwoods, a telegram was dispatched to him by both the republican, former mayor, and one of the leaders in many fusion movements, urging Mr. Whitman to refuse the Tammy designation, and "keep the anti-Tammany issue clear and unmistakable."

BANKERS' SECRETARY WILL VISIT ATLANTA

Fred Farnsworth, general secretary of the American Bankers' association, will visit Atlanta within ten days to inspect the hotel facilities and report upon them in case the American Bankers' association should decide upon Atlanta for their convention city in 1914. When here Mr. Farnsworth will be entertained at a sumptuous dinner given by the Atlanta Hotel Men's association, at which distinguished men of the city and state, leading business and professional men and members of the press will be invited. This convention would bring fully 1,000 delegates to the city, and Mr. Lousier announced Tuesday that 1,791 hotel rooms were ready for the visitors should Atlanta be chosen.

Famous Kimballville Farm Gains New Boss by Marriage of Owner; Will V. Zimmer and Bride Start Their Honeymoon With Auto Trip

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hazler, of Detroit; Mrs. Will V. Zimmer, Will Zimmer, Jr., and "Farmer Bill" Zimmer enjoying some of Kimballville's famous barbecue.

There was a big stir around Kimballville Farm Tuesday afternoon when it became known that Will V. Zimmer, more intimately known as "Farmer Bill," had given his friends the slip and quietly joined the ranks of the beneficiaries. The wedding ceremony was performed by Rev. J. B. Robins, pastor of Trinity Methodist church, at the parsonage.

The future Mrs. Zimmer, the new boss of Kimballville ranch, was until 7 o'clock last night Miss Mabel L. Leys, of Detroit. The bride is a beautiful and accomplished young woman.

The romance which ended Tuesday evening had its beginning fifteen years ago when "Billy" first met the now Mrs. Zimmer. "Billy" didn't tell his most intimate friends in on the glad event, and had it not been for an inquisitive and alert newspaper reporter who happened to be around the Piedmont hotel, the news would probably be a secret to this good hour.

After the wedding ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Zimmer, accompanied by the bride party, drove over to the Piedmont for the wedding supper, for it seems that Mr. Zimmer is long on sentiment. He selected the Piedmont because he was the first manager of that splendid hostelry twelve years ago. It was there, in room No. 123, that Will V. Zimmer, Jr., the "Prince of Piedmont," was born just twelve years ago. Will V., Junior, by the way, was the first baby born in the hotel. It was natural, therefore, for Billy to seek out the place in which he passed many of the happiest days of his life, the place where he extended the glad hand and the warm heart to thousands of weary travelers.

Wedding Supper at Piedmont. The wedding supper, it is said, rivaled Kimballville's most sumptuous ones. That's going some. In the wedding party were Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hazler, of Detroit, Lee Jordan, Will V. Zimmer, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Chancellor, Clarendon Chancellor, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hill, Mrs. Ella Hutchinson, Jesse Mercer, and E. R. Tucker. Mrs. Chancellor is Mr. Zimmer's sister and a friend of the bride and her family.

The bride was accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Hazler. After the wedding supper the bridal party started on an automobile tour from Atlanta to Savannah and Tybee. Mr. and Mrs. Zimmer will be at home at Kimballville in about ten days.

HOTEL SAVANNAH GREAT CREDIT TO ITS CITIZENS

Erected at a Cost of Nearly a Million. Summer Rates Next On.

The enterprise and zeal of Savannah people has been enthusiastically demonstrated in the erection of their new Hotel Savannah. Its erection cost nearly a million dollars, which amount was subscribed by the citizens of Savannah in order that they might have a hotel in keeping with the city's progress. It is a handsome fire-proof building, situated in the heart of the city, in the immediate vicinity of the theaters, department stores and office buildings. Its appointments are exceedingly beautiful and artistic in arrangement, and its air of comfort makes it unusually inviting. The Hotel Savannah is equipped with the latest metropolitan conveniences, such as bathroom bottles in guest rooms, providing them with ice water at all hours, without having to ring, and many other comforts. It is equal to any Southern hotel, and doesn't take second rank compared with many New York hotels. It is situated in the heart of the city, in the immediate vicinity of the theaters, department stores and office buildings, which conveniences will certainly attract the greater number of traveling men to whom it caters particularly, assuring them of every possible attention. The Hotel Savannah is operated by the Newcomb Hotel Company, well-known throughout the South for their competent management. Reasonable rates at this hotel is the talk of all the traveling public.—(adv.)

FALL 1913 TAILORING

In about a week the door of Fall will open, and with it the questions incident to that season.

Taking time by the forelock is the part of wisdom and the act of the prudent.

We wish, therefore, to present at the very threshold of your mind today our New Fall Woolens fresh from foreign looms.

They are without peers, so far as our experience goes; and are such as when wrought into suits under the careful supervision of our splendid designer will add emphasis to the good appearance of any man.

A look into our South window will be first aid in bringing you about to our point of view.

An order will test our words, and must result to our mutual benefit.

Look, order.

WOMAN AND HER NIECE ARE FOULLY MURDERED

Nashville, Tenn., August 26.—A coroner's jury this afternoon investigated the deaths of Mrs. William Cook and Miss Lucy Stanford, whose bodies were found early this morning at the home of the former near Smyrna, Tenn., both evidently having been murdered. The jury did not conclude its investigation, which will be renewed Friday.

The principal witness examined was William Cook, husband of one of the dead women, who stated that he returned from church and retired, and on waking the following morning missed his wife and began a search, which resulted in finding the bodies in the blood-soaked room. Rutherford county officers stated tonight that arrests would probably be made tomorrow.

Cook said he slept last night in the room adjoining that in which the two women had occupied, and in which he found Miss Stanford's body. The body of Mrs. Cook lay on a porch.

Last night Mr. Cook attended a revival service at Smyrna, returning home about 10:30 o'clock. Mrs. Cook was not in her room, but thinking she was in her niece's room, he retired. When he awoke this morning he saw no signs of his wife having retired, but going out on the back porch he found her dead body covered with blood. In the niece's room was the latter's dead body. The wife's body had apparently been dragged from the girls' room.

Cook gave the alarm at once, a neighbor telephoning to the sheriff of Rutherford county at Murfreesboro, who went to the scene with bloodhounds.

SWIMS TO HIS DEATH IN TALLULAH LAKE

Tallulah Falls, Ga., August 26.—(Special.)—Somewhere in the depths of Tallulah Falls, whose waters swirl over the rocky bottom in some places 80 or even 90 feet, lies the body of Veatch Coffee, a 15-year-old boy, the first to fall a victim to the waters of the newly-formed lake above the dam.

For many hours today a rescue party dragged the lake in vain for the boy's body. He is the son of George Coffee, a resident of Tallulah Falls.

Young Coffee was not drowned in the deepest part of the lake, but near the upper end. He went in swimming yesterday afternoon fully half a mile above the tunnel. His clothes were found on the bank near the upper end of the lake, and several people had seen him in the water.

This is the first death by drowning reported at the falls this year, the last having been a young engineer with the power company, who plunged to his death in "Devil's Jail," in August, 1912.

JAPAN'S LATEST NOTE DELIVERED TO BRYAN

Washington, August 26.—Ambassador Chinda late today delivered to Secretary Bryan Japan's latest note in the California anti-alien land controversy.

Secretary Bryan and Ambassador Chinda agreed to continue their understanding of making public nothing contained in the diplomatic exchanges on the question and upon that all information that was contained in the Tokio government's latest communication was withheld from publication.

It may be said, however, that the latest Japanese note contains nothing in the nature of an ultimatum or which might bring the negotiations to a finality. On the other hand, it is couched in a vein to carry the negotiations along and preserve the issue without making any determination of the contentions of either government. Its general tone is said to indicate

SHALL R. R. COMMISSION ACCEPT FREE PASSES?

The railroad commission, which inaugurated the no pass system in Georgia, is up against a serious proposition. Shall its own members accept a pass?

Several members of the railroad commission are in receipt of annual passes to the Panama-California exposition to be held at San Diego throughout the year, 1915. Of course, the exposition is not regulated by the railroad commission of any state, but the question is being freely debated among the members, whether that body which has said that nobody else shall accept free passes of any kind shall take them from the San Diego exposition authorities.

Judge George Hillier, it is understood, has decided to return his pass.

That the negotiations may continue for months, Secretary Bryan soon will prepare a reply.

SCOTT IS RELIEVED AS GENERAL MANAGER

Augusta, Ga., August 26.—Colonel T. K. Scott, having asked to be relieved temporarily of the office of general manager of the Georgia railroad on account of ill health, announcement is made today that J. H. Ellis, secretary of the Louisville and Nashville, will succeed him.

Vice President Hapother, of the Louisville and Nashville, which is one of the lessees of the Georgia, in making the announcement, said Colonel Scott will reassume the office so soon as his health permits.

C. P. MATTHEWS DIES FROM POISON TAKEN SUNDAY AFTERNOON

Augusta, Ga., August 26.—(Special.) Large quantity of poison, taken with suicidal intent by C. P. Matthews Sunday afternoon, resulted in his sudden death at the city hospital today about noon. His condition was considered good by his physician, who visited him just a few minutes before his death, but the drug suddenly affected the heart action and within a few moments death resulted.

Worry over serious financial reverses which he had suffered during the past two years prompted her husband to destroy himself, says Mrs. Matthews. He lost his rather valuable farm in Burke county about two years ago, which was followed by other serious financial losses. Since his removal here, following the loss of his farm, Mr. Matthews had been more or less despondent.

B. SIMMS HEARD DIES IN ATLANTA SANITARIUM

The funeral of B. Simms Heard, of Macon, who died suddenly Monday night at a local sanitarium, will be held at 10 o'clock today at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Heard, in Covington.

The death of the popular young man came as a decided shock to his many friends throughout the state. He was apparently in perfect health until Thursday last when he was taken ill while visiting his parents. He was brought to Atlanta for treatment in a stranger for a lurch of chills, crackers and sardines, demanded at 3 a. m., J. L. Anderson, an aged merchant of North Lindale, and his seventy-year old wife were threatened with death. They have sworn out warrants charging Clarendon a prominent young resident of Lindale, with assault with intent to murder.

Anderson keeps a small store and sleeps in the rear. He was awakened before dawn by Clinton, he says, who ordered a substantial lunch. When the merchant asked for payment, Clinton, he claims, drew a pistol, and told him to "charge it." Mrs. Anderson intervened to assist her husband and claims to have received similar rough treatment.

BAILIFF'S UNHAPPY LOT TO TRAIL OWN KINSMAN

Rome, Ga., August 26.—(Special.)—Continual pursuit of his close kinsmen by the unhappy lot of Bailiff A. P. Duncan, of the Landale militia district, he was today handed a warrant charging his son with drunkenness at the home of another and obscenity in the presence of females, the prosecutor being Mrs. Clara Wright. The son is named Clifford Duncan and the father says he will bring him into court as soon as he shows up at home.

A short time ago the bailiff had to arrest his own brother on a similar charge. No one knew where the brother was, but the faithful outcove brought him into court. The judge was so pleased at his fidelity to duty that he presented Duncan with a new hat. Duncan says it is unpleasant to arrest your kinfolks, but that the law must be obeyed.

ASKED LUNCH OF CHEESE AT POINT OF PISTOL

Rome, Ga., August 26.—(Special.)—Because he refused to credit a drunken stranger for a lunch of cheese, crackers and sardines, demanded at 3 a. m., J. L. Anderson, an aged merchant of North Lindale, and his seventy-year old wife were threatened with death. They have sworn out warrants charging Clarendon a prominent young resident of Lindale, with assault with intent to murder.

Anderson keeps a small store and sleeps in the rear. He was awakened before dawn by Clinton, he says, who ordered a substantial lunch. THE MEXICAN SITUATION.

The status of our relations toward Mexico will probably assume more definite shape today, and it is highly significant that the Mexican government requested President Wilson to withhold until today his message to congress on the subject. This indicates that Mexico may be coming to its sense, and that it is preparing to make some kind of an answer to the president's suggestions that may point the way to a satisfactory adjustment of the whole affair.

Senator Elihu Root, of New York, upon his return from Europe, joins his colleagues in testifying to the soundness of President Wilson's course of non-intervention in Mexico.

It is reassuring to have the word of so well-balanced and able a statesman in this grave national situation. Mr. Root understands diplomacy; he understands the Latin-American temperament, from close association with the representatives of those countries while secretary of state and later.

No thought of any narrow, partisan advantage will restrain his expressions of approval, and it is a good thing for the country that his counsel will again aid the senate foreign relations committee in their deliberations in the Mexican crisis.

Doubt has spread over the country as to the wisdom of the latest move of the administration in arming and ammunitions to be shipped to the Huerta government and denying the same privilege to the constitutionalists.

If the embargo on arms is to be raised both sides should be permitted to purchase all the munitions of war they want—and can pay for. At present Huerta is reported to be in serious financial straits; his credit is gone; his soldiers are mutinous from being long unpaid, and his rule is crumbling.

What the next move will be is a matter of serious concern.

In this connection it is held by many that the Monroe doctrine, which has been urged as an argument against a concerted movement of foreign powers against Mexico, as was done in Pekin during the Boxer uprising.

The Monroe doctrine was designed to notice to Europe that the United States would not stand for further colonization by them on the western hemisphere. England readily agreed to this decision. One reason was that England already had all the territory she wanted or needed and was well satisfied to have the United States stand off the other powers.

But there is some doubt as to whether that doctrine forbids an invitation to the other powers to refrain from joining with the United States in protecting their own people, who are in peril, if invited to do so.

Something of this sort may yet come to pass. A small expedition could restore temporary order in Mexico, with probably little resistance. The problem of policing the country and permanent, maintaining order, would be the serious difficulty.

An invitation to foreign powers to join us would be a notice to all Mexico that our purpose is not one of territorial aggrandizement. It would, therefore, not do what Mr. Huerta confidently hopes for—unite all Mexico behind him as against the invader.

THE COTTON MOVEMENT.

A correspondent makes a valuable suggestion in a communication published elsewhere in The Constitution today, urging the state department of agriculture to establish a system of cotton marketing in Georgia by which the movement of the crop on its way to market shall be recorded each week. The Constitution published yesterday a tabulated statement of the receipts from south Georgia towns, making a comparison with the receipts in these same towns for the same date last year and the year before.

This statement was read with intense interest, and furnishes valuable data showing that the crop is moving very much faster and more abundantly than the crop of last year, while up to the present time it is not up to the crop of the year before.

The department of agriculture should prepare at once to get this information from every cotton receiving town in Georgia, publishing the same each week with the comparative statement for the same period for each year for several years past.

Such a statement would be of great benefit not only to the farmers, but to business men generally throughout the state.

AGRICULTURAL CO-OPERATION.

Recently two commissions on agriculture have returned from a tour of four months, in which they carefully studied agricultural methods in almost every country in Europe, including Italy, Hungary, Austria, Germany, France, England and Ireland. The American commission consists of seventy-five members, appointed by the governors, agricultural colleges and farmers' associations of thirty states. The United States commission, appointed by President Wilson, consists of seven experts who have assisted the larger commission in its work of research and compilation.

These commissions have sent all their testimony and other records to the department at Washington, and it is now being classified for a report that will be ready for distribution early this winter.

President Kenyon L. Butterfield, of the Massachusetts Agricultural college, who is executive head of the United States Commission of Agricultural Co-operation, and vice president of the American commission, while desiring not to anticipate the report to be issued by the government, gives an interesting statement of his trip—reproduced on this page today.

Agricultural co-operation, when fully understood and properly carried out, will mean a great deal to the American farmer.

Here is an example of lack of co-operation that shows the need of it. It is not a supposed case. It actually occurred. A Georgia farmer was selling eggs at two-thirds their market value. He happened to get hold of the market reports in The Constitution. The next time he carried eggs to town he informed himself as to the market price of eggs for that day and charged that price.

The farmer sold his eggs elsewhere at the market price, and the man who declined to pay his former egg purveyor at the market price went elsewhere and paid the market price for them. This may be called compulsory co-operation.

But co-operation in any form will pay the farmer.

THE PISTOL TOTER AGAIN.

A young newspaper man, residing in a sister state, applying to The Constitution for the position of correspondent for his locality, makes this significant and alarming statement:

"This is a pretty rough section, full of fighting men, and I could supply you with a number of interesting cases of murder and shooting."

Unconsciously this young man has written in a very few words a severe condemnation of our section. His community "is full of fighting men" because toting pistols makes fighting men, and because fighting men tote pistols. Murder and shootings are frequent because of the pistol toter.

The situation would not be so distressing if that young man's statement applied only to his circumscribed locality. What he says applies, in a greater or less degree, to every community that has its pistol toters. Scarcely a day passes that the newspaper is not called upon to tell of some horrible crime that is directly chargeable to the pistol toter.

Just the other day a young Atlanta lady visiting in Cedartown, Ga., was shot by a duelist. The so-called civilized men, in a brutal manner, undertook to settle, publicly, a private grievance, on a crowded street. An innocent, happy girl was shot down on a crowded thoroughfare of a prosperous and otherwise highly civilized Georgia town in which she was a visitor. Pistol toting was the cause of that deplorable accident.

We have too many "fighting men," too much murder; too many shootings. The pistol toter must go. He is a relic of barbarism. He has no place in a civilized community. Public sentiment is the sentiment of every individual making up a community or a commonwealth. Public sentiment must put an end to pistol toting by the enforcement of the laws punishing the pistol toter.

Our whole section has been indicted long enough by the barbarians.

For the summer resorter—short days and dollars now.

They are talking of "Mr. Bryan's policies," but the news is that they are pretty well "edited."

Governor Sulzer might have retired gracefully by announcing that he had taken a much-needed vacation on full pay.

If Castro continues to finance revolutions he'll come to the lecture platform in his old age.

Even when congress adjourns the fences that need fixing will put "rest" out of the question.

Just From Georgia
By FRANK L. STANTON

And They Can't Swim Out.

From forty thousand stamps—and more—the tariff they explained,
And votes in forty thousand lots in campaigns big they gained;
And the voters, as they listened, said: "They know what they're about."

But now they're in the deep sea, and they can't swim out!

They took the tariff, piece by piece, and scattered it around;
'Twas just as plain as preaching as it lit,
And we sent 'em up to congress with it—halleluia shout,

And we sent 'em up to congress with it—halleluia shout,
But now they're in the ocean, and they can't swim out!

Returned on Time.

"Yes," said the camp meeting brother, "that new singer lifted me clear to the skies!"
"I notice," said a good old stater, as the brother reached for a third helping of fried chicken, "that you didn't rise too high to hear the dinner-horn!"

Tryn' to explain the tariff game—craps in the grass, an' the boss gone lame; tryn' to figger what congress 'll do 'bout reformumaxed as the rest of you! Oh, I reckon they ain't no use to wait—swingin' wild on a tariff-gate—lawin' an' jawin' from state to state; so I'll sell my hoss an' I'll emigrate!

The Dream-Train.
Going on, unknowning
Of the trouble and the strife,
Soon you'll leave the Dream-Train—
Change cars for Life!

Now the flowers seem
To brighten every dream,
But soon you'll leave the Gardens
On which the dewdrops gleam.

Comes a solemn feeling—
Flowers with thorns are rife
When the Dream-Conductor
Says: "Change cars for Life!"

But still may flowers flame,
And Love your dear heart claim
And in Life's deathless thills
Still may you read Love's name!

Heard on the Highway.
Dar's men who gits what dey wants by takin' de word by surprise an' askin' fer it. If you wuz ter give such a man a so-sax he wouldn't hesitate ter ask de devil fer a match.

Don't lose faith in yo' human kind be-cause when you let de Col' Win' in ter warm its hands it blowed yo' fire out.

A politician who happens ter slip into heaven an' falls ter tell de folks dar how ter run it couldn't a' been much of a politician in dis world.

Ef a cow had any idee of de funny side o' life she'd 'un' 'roun' an' lauch ter see you cryin' kaze she kicked de milk over.

The Life-Saver.
This is one of the little rhymes of life,
By L. A. N. Galesville, Ga.
If I should chance to live to be,
The last green leaf upon the tree
In the autumn time;
If I should chance to linger on,
And reach the time where I forlorn,
Am far beyond my prime;
If Old Time then should wither me,
And twist and curl and turn,
And toss me down beneath the tree—
I would not care, or turn a hair,
If I were sure that you were there."

A Patriot for the Love of It.
"Polks who ain't good acquainted with politics in this here bellwether," said the ancient officeholder, "wonder how it is I've been a-holdin' of the same office nigh on to 40 year; but the reason ain't fur to seek, my son: The salary of the office is most too small to see with a magnifying glass, an' nobody else wants it; hence, I'm a-livin' as I'll die, an obscure, unknown patriot, servin' his state because I was so, still in hopes of his final, Providential release!"

Chanced Conditions.
Recalling his school days in the misty past,
Colonel George Bailey says:
" 'In the old days, the teacher frilled the fractious kid with a hickory sapling, and as soon as the little devil went home paw would land some hefty swats with a leather strap. Now the double play is barred."

Shot on Heat.
"The other night," says a Georgia editor, "a good brother came in meatin' and said he'd like to rest a million years in heaven;" but we'd like to add that if it's like what they say it is we wouldn't mind resting there a million and a half!"

President Wilson has trouble to burn, but his business seems to be that of fighting fire.

No more beer for the kaiser. Even a king may go back on his raising.

The prophecy is, Huerta may die in his boots, but he'll never resign in his office.

The chaplain's prayers for congress may have some effect. If the angels know anything about it they are needing a rest themselves.

NURSING TROUBLES.

"I'm sorry to see you with your face in a sting, my dear Mrs. Jiggers," said the star boarder, sympathetically.
"I've been having a terrible time with neuralgia for three days," replied the landlady. "I never before realized how much a human being can suffer and still live."

"I have no doubt that the story of your sufferings, if published in book form, would make a five-foot shelf, Mrs. Jiggers, and my heart bleeds for you. Yet, I can't help wondering why you don't go to the painless dentist and have the tooth pulled and be done with it. Of course you will say that it isn't plain, plebian toothache. You will insist that it is neuralgia, and that the painless dentist has nothing to do with it."

"Most people yield to this form of vanity. The good old-fashioned toothache which makes our doctors' lives one round of pleasure has been superseded by the elite. It will do well enough for laborers who earn a dollar a day and eat out of a tin pail, but people who hope to mingle with the best society must steer clear of cheap diseases with vulgar names, and so toothache has been made a disease of the elite."

The World's Mysteries
WHAT BECAME OF JEAN LAFITTE?

The name Jean Lafitte is more or less unfamiliar no doubt to the average reader, and this is due principally to the mystery that surrounded the man for no one knew from whence he came or what became of him. Lafitte was the founder of Galveston, Tex., and when the government captured that place in 1836 he sailed away with a well-loaded treasure ship and no one ever heard of him thereafter.

As the name of the Louisiana, Lafitte was a Frenchman, and was well known in the extreme south for a dozen years during the first part of the last century. He first attracted attention when he and his brother Pierre opened a blacksmith shop in New Orleans. This was more or less of a hindrance for neither of the brothers was a blacksmith. They prospered, however, for they got several colored men to do the hard work of the business, while they lollied about and connived bigger enterprises.

It was not long, however, until Jean's real occupation became known. He was a pirate who would frequently ally forces with the United States, and return in no ways empty handed. The authorities began to look upon him with suspicion, but unfortunately for him the war with England broke out and he returned his good resources to valuable account with advantage to the United States.

Historians are slightly contradictory regarding the two brothers, for some say that it was Pierre Lafitte who sailed into the unknown, and that Jean ended his days in luxury in Yucatan, but most of them are sure that it was Jean who disappeared so mysteriously.

At any rate, historians agree that the brothers made their vast wealth by slave smuggling; or to be more explicit, by a slave trade between Africa and America. During the first ten years of the last century Louisiana was a vast territory of rich, unsettled land to which the pioneer hastened to find his Eldorado. The slaves were needed to work these plantations, and the Lafitte brothers were just clever enough to know how to get them and make a vast profit. It was possible to purchase a colored man in Africa for ninety dollars, and he could easily be disposed of to the Louisiana planter for $1,000 on the New Orleans market. By the time the United States became fully cognizant of the illegal practice and made laws to prevent it, Jean and Pierre Lafitte had accumulated a vast fortune for those days. But the Lafittes were not to be thwarted by any laws, so realizing that it would be unsafe for them to export slaves, they hit upon a new idea. It would be economy for them to make the Spanish slave ships off the Cuban coast and take the slaves, thereby getting them without cost.

Jean did not go himself after such a piratical work, for he was a "business man," but instead he gathered about him 1,500 men, whom he had in his employ, and with them he made his headquarters. He was a man of a peculiar temperament. He held himself aloof from all his men and rarely spoke to them. The pirates disliked him to the extent that behind his back they called him "the old man," but to his face he was "Boss," and his word which Henry meant "pronounce," and it was the origin of our English word "Boss."

The government finally became cognizant of the illegitimate business Jean Lafitte was conducting, but here again he was clever, for by judicious bribes he managed for a long time to keep out of the hands of the law.

When the British, in 1812, undertook the capture of New Orleans, they offered Jean Lafitte a large sum of money for his assistance and that of his men; but instead of accepting the turned around and informed the United States of the British plan and offered them his service. Andrew Jackson accepted his offer and the pirate fought bravely for America, and the British, in revenge, destroyed his Barataria plantation and seized his ships.

The United States government, in appreciation of his assistance, pardoned him for all the crimes he had committed, and when the war was over he went back again to his old pursuits, settling on the land now occupied by the city of Galveston, Tex. Finally he became so audacious, however, that the government was compelled to capture his camp, but Lafitte escaped, and nothing was ever heard of him afterwards, but several of his followers were hanged to break up the legitimate practice.

SUDDEN THOUGHTS.
By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

Some of our best as well as our most useful thoughts are those that come to us suddenly. And the pity is that they so often suddenly leave us. Just like the money we earn—but a small part is saved by a very few. But those few make up the substantial lot of human Progressors.

Thrift in thought is a kind of saving that even more easily disposed of to the Louisiana planter for $1,000 on the New Orleans market. By the time the United States became fully cognizant of the illegal practice and made laws to prevent it, Jean and Pierre

Some of our best as well as our most useful thoughts are those that come to us suddenly. And the pity is that they so often suddenly leave us. Just like the money we earn—but a small part is saved by a very few. But those few make up the substantial lot of human Progressors.

AGRICULTURAL CONDITIONS
as Viewed Abroad

(Interview with President Butterfield, of Massachusetts Agricultural college, on trip abroad, as member agricultural commission.)
The first impression I got was one of surprise at the virility of European nations, especially on the continent. The members of the commission will not call Europe an progressive hereafter. Northern Italy, Germany and even France show wonderful examples of virility and progress. We saw more human derelicts in the streets of English, Scottish and Irish cities than in any of the cities on the continent. I was impressed by the scope and agriculture of every nation by the soil and the land is used and their use of it is scientific. The Germans raise 30 bushels of wheat to an acre, where we raise 15, and the best of their farmers can produce 45, although the annual rainfall is only 30 inches.

I was struck with the marvelous way their co-operative idea works out. European farmers co-operate in securing mortgages; credit, personal credit, short-time loans; they co-operate in getting farm and home supplies, in manufacturing, in dairying, in storage, in selling, in insurance, even in their ordinary saving work. Especially in breeding, the benefits of scientific farming may be realized. No phase of their social or economic life is untouched by their co-operative spirit. Another notable thing is the attitude of the governments and private interests toward agriculture. For example, we were interested to see how largely the bankers help the farmers. The same encouraging spirit prevails all along the line; why, I cannot tell, but the fact is a tremendously impressive one. Child labor there is not carried on any more than in this country. People in the United States who fear we cannot feed our people in the future must change their attitude. Germany, smaller than Texas in area, is very nearly supporting its 65,000,000 people. Their methods of intensive cultivation are ones which we want American farmers to understand.

I was naturally interested in the agricultural education of those countries. I am satisfied after seeing their schools that our country has the most complete system of agricultural education in the world. It is true, nevertheless, that Europe can still give us valuable lessons in managing our system. In research work they are far more thorough, and often men devote their whole lives to one branch of such work. The extension work is not largely done by the colleges, as it might better be, but by co-operative societies and state agricultural societies. Their work in that respect is efficient.

I was impressed by the self-respecting spirit of the farmers, who are now largely owning their own farms. They show also a spirit of discipline, which the military system often strengthens.

We believe that this commission came into being at the psychological moment. The country life movement in America is taking form rapidly, especially that phase which deals with finance and marketing. In these branches we can particularly learn from Europe. The one great lesson which we learned was this: Co-operation is the key to agricultural success; co-operation will enable the farmer to get more from the land and feed the nation better.

WHOLESALE SECTION AN ASSURED FACT

Southern Railway Begins Work on Spur Tracks in Walker Street.

A wholesale district on the west side of the railroad is now no longer a promoter's dream or a mere speculation. For work of laying the spur tracks into the Walker street section purchased last year for this purpose began on Tuesday.

The Southern railway, from whose tracks the spur tracks will be projected, is doing the work. A steam shovel and a couple of work trains are excavating the roadbed and removing the dirt.

The work will be pushed with all speed possible and in a short time it is expected that the tracks will be laid and ready for the construction of warehouses alongside of them.

Leaving the main line at Peters street viaduct, just below the Terminal station, four spur tracks will be projected through a small block of property owned by the A. B. & A. railroad, and thence through a part of the Stocks coal yard property to Main street.

Only two tracks will cross Mangum street, but on the other side of this street the tracks will again branch into four lines and extend to Haynes street.

This will allow for warehouses for a distance of two long blocks on either side of the tracks, with a truckway between two pairs of tracks.

A number of substantial business men are behind the project and it promises to be one of the most successful real estate and business enterprises of some years.

HICKS BADLY INJURED AS DYNAMITE EXPLODES

Ed S. Hicks, a plumber, living at 21 Keweenaw street, was severely cut and bruised by an explosion of dynamite about 8 o'clock Tuesday morning, while working in a vacant house at 23 Tattnall street.

Picking up a small package wrapped in a newspaper which he found in a dark corner, Hicks carelessly struck the bundle a sharp blow with a steel chisel, the explosion resulting. His right hand was so badly torn that it was necessary to amputate the index finger. Several other fingers in the house were severely jarred by the explosion.

The house where the accident occurred is the one formerly occupied by Howard Grady, the negro who killed his wife and committed suicide about a month ago, and has been vacant since that time. Several days ago, neighbors found a quantity of dynamite concealed in the house, but it was thought that all of the explosive had been removed.

ARMY OFFICER FOR RIVERSIDE ACADEMY

Word has been received at the office of the adjutant general at the state capital that the United States war department has approved the recommendation that an army officer be detailed to serve at Riverside Military Academy.

This detail will carry with it not only the presence of an army officer at Riverside in charge of the cadet corps but in addition complete equipment of modern rifles, dunes and service equipments as used by the United States army and also artillery and cavalry equipment for dismounted service. The uniforms of Riverside cadets are identical with those used at West Point.

The action of the United States war department follows closely upon the splendid recommendation made in a special report by Major R. F. Haultway, of the Seventh infantry, who was given a special detail in duty to make this investigation and report.

MESSENGER BOY HURT: HIT BY AUTOMOBILE

Reuben Bantz, a 15-year-old messenger boy, living at 24 Woodward avenue, was knocked down and severely bruised and cut about the head when an automobile driven by R. C. Bone, 7 East Ontario avenue, ran into his boy at the corner of Whitehall and Atlantic streets Tuesday night about 8 o'clock.

The boy was picked up and placed in the car by Bone and taken to the Grady hospital for treatment. He sustained a bad cut over the right eye, and a number of bruises and abrasions. Bone was arrested and will be held in the Grady hospital until this afternoon and a charge of reckless driving.

About Diamonds

You have to depend upon the reliability, integrity and knowledge of your dealer in the buying of diamonds, for the essential characteristics that determine their value are known to few people aside from experts.

Intuitive knowledge and the experience gained by handling diamonds for a quarter of a century, insures accuracy in the classification and weighing of our diamonds.

All weights and grades are guaranteed by us and every stone is plainly marked, showing quality, exact weight and the one price we ask for it.

Net prices and full particulars about our attractive selling plans are given in our booklet, "Facts About Diamonds."

Refuses to Leave Hospital Where Brother Is Patient

Harry and Charlie McAfee on the bottom row. The two boys on the top row are friends.

The old adage which says twins have one another is disproven by an incident at Grady hospital. Sunday afternoon Charlie McAfee, 12-year-old son of Mrs. C. M. McAfee, of 73 Capitol avenue, was run over by an auto on Peachtree near Baker street, and taken to Grady in a serious condition.

His twin brother, Harry, rushed to the bedside of Charlie when he heard of the latter's injuries, and refused to leave when visiting time was up.

Pleading, coaxing, and even threats were of no avail.

"He's my brother, and he's hurt. You're bigger'n me, but you gotta hick me before you take me away from my brother," said little Harry to the hospital officials.

And so they were forced to allow him to remain.

"I'm going to stay right here until he gets well, you just watch me," he said. And evidently he is, too. It is thought that the injured boy will recover.

MASSEY TO RETURN SUM BROTHER-IN-LAW STOLE

Provided Mrs. J. T. Shepherd, His Sister, Has Nothing Further to Do With Husband.

Macon, Ga., August 26.—(Special.)—J. Turner Shepherd, for three years bookkeeper for the J. N. Neel Clothing company, of Macon, has disappeared, leaving a shortage in his accounts of $2,500, besides a wife and two children.

The shortage dates back to 1910 and various amounts had been taken from then up to the present time. Some time ago Mr. Shepherd confessed to Mr. Neel that he was short in his accounts and advised Mr. Neel to call in an auditor and have the exact amount determined with a view of settling up. Shepherd aided the auditor in his work and had been promised immunity from prosecution if he made the amount good. Apparently, he could not do so, and Saturday night he disappeared and has not been heard from since.

It is said that while employed previously by H. F. Haley, Shepherd was also short in his accounts to the amount of $700, but secured the money and made the amount good.

Today W. H. Massey, brother-in-law of Shepherd, told Mrs. Shepherd, his sister, that he would make the amount good if she would agree to have nothing to do with her husband. She consented. Mrs. Shepherd was formerly Miss Pearl Massey.

Shepherd received a salary of $1,500 from the Neel company, while his wife averaged $40 a month as a music teacher. The money he stole from the firm is said to have been dissipated in being a "good fellow."

SIX MACON MILKMEN ARRaigned IN COURT

Macon, Ga., August 26.—(Special.)—Six local dairymen were arraigned before the recorder this morning on the charge of selling impure milk. Samples of the milk had been taken from the dairy wagons by Food Inspector Fletcher and turned over to the city bacteriologist, the test proving that each sample of the milk contained more than 200,000 bacteria per cubic centimeter.

When he appeared before the recorder the bacteriologist explained that the bacteria could be kept down only by using clean vessels and keeping the temperature at a low degree.

The dairymen complained that the inspector is not equipped with an ice chest in which he may place the samples of milk, but is forced to carry it around in a wire basket and it soon becomes the same temperature as the outside atmosphere. Therefore, when the test is made, the bacteria have greatly increased.

GRAND JURY SCORES BUTTS TAX DODGERS

Jackson, Ga., August 25.—(Special.)—The grand jury that has just adjourned made some pertinent recommendations as to tax defaulters and the continued decrease in the acreage of land.

It was shown that since 1878, when about 124,000 acres of land was returned, there has been a decrease until now the total number of acres returned for taxation is about 112,000. This year's report shows an increase in the number of acres returned last year, however, and the nice gain in tax values in Butts this year was the subject of comment by the grand jury. The grand jury suggested that land be returned to the tax receiver by lot number.

NOMINATION OF JONES FAVORABLY REPORTED

Confirmation Likely Today. Notes About Georgians at the National Capital.

By John Corligan, Jr.
Washington August 25.—(Special.)—Bolling H. Jones' nomination as postmaster at Atlanta was favorably reported to the senate today by Senator Hoke Smith from the senate committee on postoffices and post roads. The nomination was not acted upon at the short executive session, but will probably be confirmed tomorrow.

North Winship, of Macon, who has been transferred from consular agent at Tahiti, Society Islands, to Owen Sound, Canada, was in Washington today on route to his new station.

Leon S. Dure, a prominent real estate man of Macon, was a visitor at the capitol today.

J. H. Allen, of Fort Valley, a successful peach grower of Houston county, was explaining today to Representative Hughes his success with a new refrigerator system he has installed on his home place.

J. E. T. Bowden, of Waycross, left Washington today, being disappointed over the president's decision to delay his Mexican message until tomorrow.

Mrs. Annie Macy, of Atlanta, is visiting relatives in Washington.

Judge Judson C. Clements, member of the interstate commerce commission, and former representative from the seventh Georgia district, was an interested spectator on the floor of the house today during the discussion of Judge Spear's case.

SPF AKERS ANNOUNCED FOR SUFFRAGE RALLY

Arrangements have been completed for an open suffrage meeting in the senate chamber on next Friday night at 8 o'clock. There will be several prominent speakers on the program, which is calculated to draw a large audience, and the public is cordially invited.

A feature of the evening will be the address of welcome by Mrs. Mary L. McLenon, president of the Georgia Woman's Suffrage association, auxiliary to the National American Woman's Suffrage association.

The principal addresses will be delivered by Rev. A. M. Hughes, Dr. I. C. Hardin and Attorney Leonard J. Grossman. This will be Rev. A. M. Hughes' second suffrage rally, the former occasion being well remembered because of his eloquent address at TAIT hall.

More leagues for the enfranchisement of Georgia women will be discussed by Attorney Leonard J. Grossman, who is completing plans for the organization of a Georgia Men's Equal Suffrage league.

21 PERSONS INJURED IN RAILROAD WRECK

Lynchburg, Va., August 25.—Twenty-one persons were killed in a wreck of a mixed train on the Buckingham branch of the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad, near Brown, early this afternoon, one of them conductor J. C. Powell of New Canton, Va., being internally injured, probably fatally.

The train was derailed by spreading rails and the passenger coach and three freight cars loaded with lumber tumbled over a 29-foot embankment.

Miss Helen Page, of Lynchburg, who had a marvellous escape, was a heroine in the rescue, for she worked faithfully with the male passengers in their efforts to rescue those under the debris. The more seriously injured were taken to a hospital in Richmond.

BLEASE GIVES ADVICE TO GOVERNOR SULZER

Columbia, S. C., August 26.—In a letter today Governor Blease recognized William Sulzer as governor of New York and scored Lieutenant Governor Glynn for his conduct in attempting to assume the duties of the office.

Governor Blease states that he, too, felt the sting of persecution, though impairment was not attempted, reference being to the action of the Investigating committee of last summer.

"Trust in God and the white people and you will always be a winner," is the South Carolina governor's advice to the impeached governor of New York.

BRINSON ROAD ASKS TO ISSUE MORE BONDS

The Brinson Railway company on yesterday asked the railroad commission for permission to issue $2,500,000 of refunding bonds. The officials of the company admit that they do not hope to be able to place that sum in bonds on the market, but they do hope to be able to use half the issue as security for $1,250,000 worth of two-year-old gold notes to be sold within two years at the rate of 6 per cent.

The bonds, if allowed, are to be for thirty years and to bear 5 per cent interest.

The Brinson railroad runs from Savannah to Waynesboro. It is the hope of the promoters to continue the road on to Athens, but so far it has been built only to Stephens crossing about twelve miles from Waynesboro. Lumber & Co. of Baltimore, are owners of the existing bonds. These bondsmen have taken over control of the road.

POWELL'S ASSAILANTS ARE HELD UNDER BOND

Cordele, Ga., August 26.—(Special.)—Harley Blanchard and John Warren, charged with assault with intent to murder in connection with the cutting of Ambrose Powell in Crisp county several weeks ago, waived preliminary trial at a hearing given them yesterday and were bound over to superior court by Judge J. R. Smith, of the justice court, under bond of $500. It is alleged that Powell made remarks reflecting on the character of Warren's wife, who is a sister of Blanchard, and that the two young men waylaid him near his home. It is said that Blanchard did the cutting, carelessly wounding Powell.

14 MURDER CASES CONFRONT DORSEY

Solicitor Will Have No Chance to Get a Vacation for Some Time to Come.

Fourteen more murder trials confront the solicitor general who has just won Georgia's greatest criminal victory. They have accumulated from police and justice courts during the four weeks that were occupied by the famous Frank trial.

Work will begin on them immediately. Most of the number have been bound over from police court and are negroes. Almost all will be tried before Judge L. S. Roan, who presided over the Frank case.

It was the solicitor himself who declared that more homicides had apparently been committed in Fulton county during the past month than at any time during its history. Fourteen murder trials to face at a moment's notice is a task, indeed.

Solicitor Dorsey did not appear at his office through the day Tuesday. He remained at his home on Sixteenth street. The telephone rang incessantly at all hours, bringing congratulations and praise. His office was swamped with telegrams from all portions of the state.

Someone asked if he would take a vacation.

"No," he answered. "I'm going to rest at home a little and then I've got to go back to the office for a livelihood."

The solicitor is sorely worried over the loss of his bunch of keys, which dropped from his pocket Monday afternoon when he was being tumbled over the heads of the jubilant mob that surrounded the courthouse when the verdict was returned. His every key is on the lost ring, and many private boxes and vaults will have to remain unlocked until they are recovered.

He does not seem perturbed any whatever, over the prospect of 104 cases which he faces after the Frank trial, and which number was committed to his charge by police and justice courts. A majority of these cases are for felonies, while a number are for smaller crimes.

Talbotton High School.

Talbotton, Ga., August 26.—(Special.)—The Talbotton High school will begin its fall session September 1 with O. W. Johnson, of Alma, Tenn., as superintendent; Miss Rosa Hicks, as assistant, and Mrs. Minnie Bishop and Miss Kate Willis, as trustees. Miss Ruth Arnold will have charge of the music department.

FIVE PERSONS KILLED WHEN TRAIN HITS AUTO

Freeport, Pa., August 26.—J. E. Rowan, aged 35, his wife, two children and his sister-in-law, Mrs. Allen Wood Smith, all of Brackenridge, were killed today when their automobile was struck by a special train on the Pennsylvania railroad at Laneville, near here. The train carried R. L. O'Donnell, general superintendent of the Pennsylvania Railroad company, and other officials who were making an inspection trip.

Rowan, his wife and child, a year old, were killed instantly. A second child and Rowan's sister-in-law, died two hours after the accident.

Another scientist condemns the light bottle

We reprint an extract from his opinion rendered in the interest of science.

"The beer in the white glass bottle had taken on disagreeable odor and taste and was absolutely undrinkable. The beer in the dark bottles did not show this peculiar odor and taste." (G. Beck.)

Translation of Extract from Zeitschrift für das Gesamte Brauwesen, 1882—page 370.

Dr. Robert Wahl quotes Beck in corroboration of his own opinion, to the effect that beer in light bottles will become undrinkable when exposed to light.

SOCIETY

Mr. Clarence Bell Weds Miss Spear, of Cincinnati

A marriage of cordial interest to many Atlanta friends was that of Miss Laura May Spear and Mr. Clarence Bell, of Atlanta, which took place last evening at 9 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore F. Spear, at Hyde Park, Cincinnati.

The wedding was a very quiet one, witnessed only by members of the two families. Mr. and Mrs. Bell will spend their honeymoon in the mountains of North Carolina, returning to Atlanta the middle of September, when they will go to housekeeping on Spruce street, Inman Park.

Mr. Bell, who is the son of Judge and Mrs. George Bell, is one of the most successful young lawyers at the Atlanta bar, his firm, that of Bell & Ellis. His education was completed at the University of Georgia, and he has many friends throughout the state to congratulate him. His bride is a very lovely young woman who made many friends here last spring when she was the guest of Mr. Bell's sister, Miss Jennie Sue Bell.

For Miss Louise Broyles.

Mrs. George W. Brins will entertain at a luncheon Wednesday at the Driving club in compliment to Miss Louise Broyles, who leaves Saturday for New York, sailing the following week for France, where she will enter school near Paris.

The guests will include Mrs. J. D. McCarty, Mrs. Thomas P. Hinman, Mrs. Arnold Broyles, Miss Louise Broyles, Miss Katharine DuBose, Miss Helen McCarty, Miss Margaret McCarty, Miss Mary Burt Lake, Miss Dorothy Arkwright, Miss Virginia Lipscomb, Miss Margaret Northern and Miss Dorothy High.

Miss Lipscomb's House Party.

Miss Virginia Lipscomb will entertain at a house party beginning Saturday and continuing through next week at the Lipscomb cottage at Tallulah Falls.

The young ladies of the party will include friends of Miss Lipscomb who in school the past year at the Mary Baldwin school, Staunton, Va.

One of the interesting events of Friday evening, August 29, will be the dance given by the Vesper club at their rooms in West End in honor of several young lady visitors to the city.

It is intended to make this dance one of the most delightful of the season and will be attended by many members of the college set. The following couples will act as chaperons for the evening: Mr. and Mrs. T. Y. Sanders, Mr. and Mrs. Evin McConnell, Mr. and Mrs. George Ansley, Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Brooke.

Miss Honour Entertains.

Miss Anita Honour entertained at her suburban home last evening in compliment to Miss Genevieve Gresham, the guest of Mrs. John Russell Gresham.

Athletic Club Dance.

The Athletic club will give a mid-week dance at the East Lake club Wednesday evening, dancing to begin at 8 o'clock.

Heretofore the dances have been given Saturday evenings, and their popularity has suggested the occasion Wednesday evening.

For Miss Broyles.

Mrs. Margaret McCarty will entertain Wednesday afternoon at the Driving club in honor of Miss Louise Broyles, and Miss Dorothy Arkwright will be hostess at a luncheon Friday at 1 o'clock at the Driving club for Miss Broyles.

Scholarship Announced.

Mrs. A. P. Coles, president of the Atlanta Woman's club, makes the following announcement:

"It gives me pleasure to announce that a scholarship has been given to the Atlanta Woman's club by Miss Woodberry's School for Girls, 423 Peachtree street.

"The scholarship is for half tuition, $50 in the high school or collegiate course, including the literary studies and modern languages, leading to a full diploma. The scholarship will be renewed next year if applicant fulfills satisfactory conditions.

"Make written application, stating age, course desired and testimonial of character and scholarship not later than August 30. Apply to Mrs. A. P. Coles, 665 West Peachtree."

MEETINGS

The regular meeting of the Women's Suffrage league will be held in Carnegie library on Wednesday, August 27, at 3:30 p. m. Mrs. S. R. Cunningham will speak on "What the Ballot Means to Women."

Mrs. Allen, of Missouri, will speak on "What the Ballot Means to Women of the Western States."

Mrs. W. S. Yeates will talk on "The Larger Interest and Sudden Extension of Suffrage in Georgia."

There will also be other speakers. All interested are cordially invited to attend.

Tan, Red or Freckled Skin Is Easily Shed

To free your summer-solled skin of its oiliness, muddiness, freckles, blotches or tan, the best thing to do is to free yourself of the skin itself. This is easily accomplished by the use of ordinary macerated wax, which can be had at any drug store. Use at night as you use cold cream, washing it off in the morning. Immediately the offending surface skin begins to come off in fine powder-like particles. Gradually the entire cuticle is absorbed, without pain or inconvenience. The second layer of skin now in evidence presents a spotless, whiteness and sparkling beauty obtainable in no other way I've ever heard of.

If the heat tends to loosen and wrinkle your skin, there's an effective and harmless remedy you can readily make at home. Just let an ounce of powdered white Hestrate in a half-pint witch-hazel and bathe your face in the liquid. This at once tightens the skin and smooths out the lines, making you look years younger.—Emily Coulson in Popular Monthly (adv.)

LIMIT OF INCOME TAX REMAINS UNCHANGED

Attempts to Increase Rates on Larger Incomes Fail in the Senate.

Washington, August 24.—Attempts to increase the limit of the proposed income tax on the larger incomes, failed in the senate today, when Senators Borah, Bristow and Cummins led an effort to amend the income tax section of the democratic tariff bill.

Senator Borah offered an amendment increasing the graduated tax on larger incomes until it would have reached 5 per cent on those above $100,000 a year. The democrats, aided by ten republicans, defeated the amendment 17 to 17.

A more radical provision, with a maximum tax of 10 per cent on incomes of $100,000 or more, will be submitted by Senator Bristow when the debate is resumed tomorrow.

In the pending bill the rates on larger incomes are:

One per cent on incomes from $20,000 to $50,000; 2 per cent from $50,000 to $100,000, and 3 per cent above $100,000.

Borah Proposes Increase.

Senator Borah proposed the following "additional tax":

One per cent on income from $10,000 to $30,000; 2 per cent from $30,000 to $50,000; 3 per cent from $50,000 to $100,000; 4 per cent from $100,000 to $200,000, and 5 per cent above $200,000.

The democrats voted solidly against the increase and were joined by Senators Clarke (Wyoming), Gallinger, Lippitt, Lodge, Oliver, Penrose, Root, Smoot, Warren and Weeks from the republican side.

The senate reached the income tax section of the tariff unexpectedly late in the afternoon, after finishing the first reading of all the tariff schedules in the bill. The debate is expected to continue a day or two.

The demand for an increase of the tax on big incomes was accompanied by the declaration that men with large incomes would escape their just share of the tax, under the bill.

"The man with the small income always pays his tax more completely," said Senator Borah, "than does the man with the larger income. It is much easier to find all the $5,000 incomes than to find all the $50,000 incomes. A tax of 4 or 5 per cent on the man with $100,000 will not inconvenience him more than the 1 per cent tax will inconvenience the man with $5,000."

Compelled to Go Slowly.

Senator Williams, who had charge of the income tax provisions for the democratic side, insisted that the committee had been compelled to go slowly and cautiously in inaugurating the new form of direct taxation.

"We thought it well now to establish the tax upon simple grounds," he said. "Experience alone will show how it works and the changes that may be necessary in it. In future the American people will have representatives here who will revise and perfect it."

Senator Root said the plan to tax undivided "gains and profits" of all corporations or partnerships would be impossible of administration. He insisted that these undivided profits were part of a stockholder's capital, and not his income.

Senator Williams said this section

SCENE IN MELODRAMA PUTS NEGRO IN A FIT

Tampa, Fla., August 26.—During an intense scene in a melodrama at a local theater William Dudley, a negro, had an epileptic fit in the gallery and plunged headfirst into the pit.

The negro's head struck the brass rail around a tier of boxes and bounced off onto the head of a 10-year-old girl, Marie Rodriguez. Both were taken from the theater unconscious. A bucket of water dashed into the negro's face revived him. He was unharmed. The girl was hurried to a hospital, but she, too, was found to have escaped serious injury.

When the negro took his flight to the pit the villain in the play was preparing to shoot the hero. In the excitement he averted and one of the women members of the company was badly burned about the cheeks from the explosion.

DEATH CALLS COMPOSER OF THE "HOLY CITY"

Buxton, England, August 26.—Michael Maybrick, English composer, who, under the name of "Stephen Adams" wrote some of the most popular songs in the English language, among them "Nancy Lee," "The Warrior Bold," and the "Holy City," died here today, aged 62.

He was a native of Liverpool but had lived for many years in the Isle of Wight, where he devoted himself to municipal politics.

Michael Maybrick was a younger brother of James Maybrick, whose wife, Florence Maybrick, was sentenced to death in Liverpool in 1883 on a charge of poisoning him with arsenic. The trial caused an immense sensation throughout the world, opinion being sharply divided on the question of her guilt or innocence.

Her sentence was commuted to penal servitude for life. She served 16 years in prison and was released in 1903 after which she went to the United States.

Her brother-in-law, Michael Maybrick, took charge of her two children, whom she never saw after her release from prison.

Liberty E. Holden Dead.

Cleveland, Ohio, August 25.—Liberty E. Holden, publisher of the Cleveland Plain Dealer, and interested in many business enterprises, died today. He was 80 years old.

He would be gone over again in the committee, in an effort to make its meaning clearer. It was devised, he said, to prevent evasions of the tax.

Over 100 Paragraphs Remain.

When the senate adjourned tonight it had 100 or more paragraphs covering tariff revivats still to dispose of. These are scattered throughout the various schedules of the bill. Senator Simmons, the tariff leader, announced that he expected to conclude the income and administrative features of the measure before returning to the tariff rates still in dispute. In the meantime democratic members of the Finance committee will attempt to get the bill out of the committee by Saturday of Monday.

An attempt today by Senator Brandegee to increase the proposed duty on hats from 45 to 50 per cent was defeated. An amendment by Senator Brandegee to increase the duty on calfskins and fancy leather from 10 to 15 per cent was defeated by a vote of 46 to 22.

MACON POLICE SEARCH FOR HIGHWAYMAN

Macon, Ga., August 26.—(Special.)—Macon police are searching for a negro who held up and robbed Henry Cromer, a sawmill operator of south Georgia of $119 just across the East Macon bridge last night, while making the pretense of guiding Cromer to the home of his relatives.

The negro had escaped and no trace of him has been found.

D. R. Pope 'Very Ill.

Monticello, Ga., August 26.—(Special.)—W. R. Pope, who was stricken with paralysis early Sunday morning at his home in this city, is in a critical condition and little hope is entertained for his recovery. Shortly after the stroke he was able to speak and recognize members of his family, but consciousness only lasted for a few moments after which he lapsed into a comatose state from which he has not aroused. Mr. Pope is one of the most prominent and popular men of Monticello and is manager of the planters' warehouse of this city.

APPROVED

By U. S. WAR DEPARTMENT

THE RECORD

By special order of the Secretary of War an officer of the United States Army is to be detailed for service at Riverside Military Academy.

The approval for this detail follows speedily the recommendation of Major B. F. Hardaway, Seventeenth Infantry, stationed at Fort McPherson, who made the inspection by special order of the War Department early in July.

This detail carries with it the complete equipment of modern rifles, dress and service accouterments, haversacks, canteens and mess equipment as used by the United States Army.

Also artillery and cavalry equipment for dismounted service.

The uniforms of the Riverside cadets are identical with those of the West Point cadets, and are fitted to the figure of each cadet by military tailors at Riverside Military Academy. In this respect, Riverside stands alone among the Southern preparatory schools.

THE RECOMMENDATION

In July of this year a request was made upon the War Department for an army officer to be detailed for service with the Riverside cadets.

Copies of the current catalogue and a complete description of the campus, location, surroundings, physical equipment and faculty were furnished.

This so impressed the War Department that, notwithstanding the annual inspection of academies and schools applying for such recognition is made only in April, a SPECIAL INSPECTION was ordered immediately, and Major Hardaway was detailed for this service.

He was so impressed with the location of Riverside, two miles out of Gainesville—connected by trolley—in the foothills of the Blue Ridge Mountains, on the banks of the Chattahoochee River, with Lake Warner on its 2,000-acre campus, that he wrote in strong praise of its magnificent natural advantages and wonderful possibilities.

He was greatly impressed with the opportunities afforded for indoor gallery practice, long range sharpshooting adjacent to the school, the maneuvering grounds, bridge building, pontoon work, swimming, boating and other arts of modern warfare, all on or at the campus.

The physical equipment, with its well-lighted, perfectly ventilated and modernly equipped barracks, mess hall, class rooms and gymnasium, so enthused him that his comments on these features in his report caused the War Department to take immediate action and announce the approval and detail.

THE REASON

Riverside possesses all the requisites of an ideal military school. In addition to the superior advantages named, Riverside has:

- 1. An Accomplished Faculty—An instructor of successful experience for every twelve boys. No cadet's room more than three doors from teacher.
- 2. Wholesome Atmosphere—Two miles out in the hills, with ideal quietude for study; yet enjoying the cultured influences of the refined and intellectual city of Gainesville.
- 3. Superior Athletics—Only best coaches and trainers employed. Every boy given opportunity to participate. Three and four teams in each sport, coached by members of faculty.
- 4. Individual Instruction—All the courses offered by any preparatory school and taught thoroughly.
- 5. Inspection Invited—The most complete boys' school in the South. Parents and prospective patrons urged to visit academy.

Crackers' Daily Hitting. These figures include the double-header played Tuesday.

Heavy Batting Wins Both; Crackers Rain Jinx Broken; Price and Thompson in Form

The Crackers won both ends of a double-header from the Turtles Tuesday afternoon before a large ladies' day crowd, the first game 12 to 2 and the second 8 to 0.

Neither game was ever in doubt. The Crackers had on their hitting clothes, and pounded out an easy victory in both contests.

In the first game they got 21 hits, in the second 11, a total of 32 for 38 bases during the games. Maybe the horseshoe Parsons had tied to him the early part of the first game had something to do with their slugging.

Carl Thompson worked the second game, and in the six innings that he contested the Turtles were only able to get one hit off his delivery—a single by Baerwald in the opening session.

The Crackers broke their rain hoodoo. Previous to Saturday the Crackers had not won a game on a muddy field for a rainy day, either on the road or at Foncey.

Outside of a one-handed catch of a line drive by Jack Love, there were no errors from the Memphis standpoint. To enumerate those of the Crackers would take reams of paper and use up our trusty typewriter.

There was a play in the fourth inning of the first game that has never been seen at Ponce de Leon before. With Smith on third, Blisland hit a wicked hop to Abstein. Bill made a nice play on the ball and came down the line to tag Bizzy.

Abstein was watching third base all the time and Blisland, who had appeared right to him, then fell on the ground, scrambled to his feet and reached first safely.

The Turtles counted one run in the opening inning of the first game. Love walked and was sacrificed to second by Merritt, counting when Holland threw Baerwald's tap over Agler's head.

Tennis Champion Retains the Title in Brilliant Match at Newport—Opponent Made Him Extend Himself.

Newport, R. I., August 26.—The lawn tennis championship record for 1913 was practically completed on the Casino Grand court today when Maurice McLaughlin, of San Francisco, successfully defended his own title in six sets and maintained the Pacific coast supremacy by defeating R. Norris Williams, second, of Philadelphia, in the final of the all-comers tournament in a well-fought four-set match.

As McLaughlin and T. C. Bundy, of Los Angeles, were the second champions of the world, the first was Miss Mary Browne, of Los Angeles, is still the women's titleholder and the ascendancy of California in the past few years of tennis is assured for another year.

Williams gave McLaughlin the hard-fought match since he was the favorite, and because Williams knew the California form from three months of almost constant play.

No one of McLaughlin's six antagonists in the preceding rounds of the tournament handled the champions sizzling service so confidently and successfully as Williams. He was, however, and a part of a third, the young Harvard sophomore held his own against the champion's overhead smashes and lightning drives to the side and base lines.

When McLaughlin clinched his second championship title in singles by a telling drive down the side line today, he closed three months of the most strenuous tennis in his eventful career. He left home in May and will return next Thursday after the championship tour with two American championships and the satisfaction of having been the principal lever in lifting the tennis flag to the heights of the Pacific coast.

Senators 5, White Sox 3. Chicago, August 24. Washington got the jump on Chicago in the first inning today and held on to a five-run lead in the closed three months of the season. The score was 5 to 3.

Naps 3, Yankees 0. Cleveland made it three straight from New York by taking today's game 3 to 0. Cleveland's victory was away all the way and New Orleans knocked him out in the eighth, Fleaharty collecting him with the bases full.

Volts 10, Pels 7. Nashville, Tenn., August 26.—Thirty-three hits and seven runs were made in today's game between Nashville and New Orleans, with the winning 10 to 7. Perry led the hitters with five hits out of as many times at bat.

Davis & Freeman Tourney Reaches the Second Round

Good scores were turned in yesterday when the first round of match play was completed in the Davis & Freeman trophy tournament now being held over the Atlanta Athletic club's course at East Lake.

The closest match played in the first flight was the one between H. Block and R. L. Jones, which was finally won by H. Block at 1 up.

Markham at the 19th hole. H. C. Moore defeated J. D. Eley 3 up and 3 to play.

Here are the complete results of last night's races: SOUTHERN CHAMPIONSHIP. (1 mile heats) 2 miles final, 25 points for best 15 points for second and 5 for third.

There was just about as much excitement at the races Tuesday night as there would be at a regular horse race. The crowd will grow smaller and smaller unless the management or the riders do something to furnish better sport than they have put on the last two race meets.

CRACKERS MAY PLAY SAVANNAH INDIANS

Post-Season Series May Be Arranged With the Pennant Winners of the Sally.

It is understood that negotiations are under way for a post-season series of seven games between the Crackers and Perry Lipe's Savannah Indians, pennant winners in the Sally league.

Just how far the negotiations have progressed is not known but whether the series will be played or not will be definitely announced in a day or two.

The last time the Crackers played a Sally league club, they were walloped. Chattanooga beat the Crackers right after the locals had won the Southern league pennant and the Lookouts the Sally rag. But it's a different club the Sally league winners would tackle this time. When the Crackers' heavy artillery get busy—Good night!

VARDON IN FORM

English Golfer Breaks Records on Cleveland Course.

Cleveland, Ohio, August 26.—Harry Vardon and Edward Ray, English professional golfers, touring the United States, at the Mayfield club today defeated Joe K. Bole, city champion of Cleveland, by a score of 18 to 20. Bole, of Pittsburg, 5 up in a 36-hole match.

In defeating Bole and Ray, Vardon broke the Mayfield course record, held by Bole, from 72 to 67. In the afternoon he beat his own newly established record with 66, giving him 135 for 36 holes.

The old 36-hole record was 155. In the afternoon Vardon's partner, Ray, bettered the former 18-hole course record, doing it in 71. John D. Rockefeller was an enthusiastic spectator.

COLON AND PETER PAN TO RACE IN AMERICA

New York, August 26.—Two famous race horses, Colon and Peter Pan, sons of the late Eddie, which formerly were raced in the colors of the late James H. Keene, were taken off a liner from Cuba today. Probably they will run in this country hereafter. The executors of the Keene estate will dispose of the horses at a not reserved sale next week, together with the remainder of the Castleton stud.

From 1895 to 1905, inclusive, the Keene stable headed the list of winners in America with a total of $1,092,927, this money being won by the product of Castleton.

LaGrange Teams Play.

LaGrange, Ga., August 26.—(Special.)—Not satisfied with a full season of regular season baseball the LaGrange fans are planning to have baseball games every week until October 1. The initial game of a five-game series was played today. The match was played today, resulting in a score of 19 to 2. In favor of the Northwest club against the South club. The game was pitched by the Northwest club, giving up only five hits. After the five games here the winning team will challenge teams from all neighboring towns.

Royston 7, Elberton 0.

Royston, Ga., August 26.—(Special.)—In the second of the series with Elberton, Royston today won by a score of 7 to 0. The features of the game was the heavy hitting of the Royston team and the steady pitching of Elberton. The famous fourteen men and a few up two hits. Elberton used three pitchers.

Pitchers—Elberton, Alford, Mauley, Hulme and Rip. Royston, Edwards and Sumpter. Umpires, Jordan and Strickland.

Owner Gaffney, of Doves, Reads Riot Act to Lynch Regarding His Umpires

Boston, August 26.—President Lynch, of the National league, and the umpires of the organization were criticized by President James E. Gaffney, of the Boston club, in an open telegram sent to Mr. Lynch at New York today. President Gaffney cast the ballot which broke a tie and elected Lynch to the presidency last year and the apparent break between the two was unexpected. The trouble developed over the suspension for three days of Captain Sweeney, of Boston, announced by President Lynch today as a result of arguments with Umpire Rigler yesterday.

In the absence of Manager Blalings, the telegram read, "It was a fine thing to suspend Sweeney. The spirit displayed is worthy of your past and present work as the league's president. I thought you might be away on another vacation and thus have escaped. If you will accept a proposition from me—here it is—travel around the circuit and look your umpires over, which I understand is supposed to be part of your duties. Had you done so this year, umpires and ball players would have drawn suspensions."

Sweeney's objections which drew down the suspension were second yesterday's game with Pittsburg. According to local players, Carey, of Pittsburg, who was a bad umpire, interfered with Catcher Whaling, of Boston, in the latter's attempt to catch Dolan at second. Sweeney protested as acting manager and was banished.

WILLARD NOT BLAMED BY CORONER'S JURY

Los Angeles, August 26.—The death of John (Bull) Young was "unintentional" by Jess Willard, the coroner's jury rendered late today. The death was caused, the jury said, "by confusion and carelessness due to a blow on the chin delivered by Jess Willard."

The prosecution had announced that the coroner's verdict would not affect the manslaughter charges against Willard and eleven others as a result of the fatal fight with Young at the Vernon arena. The bout was referred to as a prize fight in the verdict. This will be an important point in the prosecution according to Assistant Attorney Ford, who has charge of the case.

"Fistic fighting," he said, "is illegal in California, although boxing is permitted."

It was announced tonight that there would be no further delay at the Vernon arena until the last of September at the earliest.

ANOTHER FAILURE TO SWIM CHANNEL

Dover, August 26.—Henry F. Sullivan, of Lowell, Mass., failed in his attempt to swim the English channel today. He entered the water at the South Foreland at 10 o'clock this morning and left the water at 4:03 this afternoon when within six miles of Cape Grisnez, France.

Up to that time Sullivan had suffered little from exhaustion and was capable of continuing the struggle. But as the seas were breaking over the motorboat accompanying him, the pilot insisted that the effort be abandoned. Weather conditions were favorable when Sullivan started, but an easterly wind sprung up soon afterwards, raising a choppy sea. In spite of this Sullivan continued to make good progress, using a powerful breast stroke until he abandoned his attempt.

FLINN KNOCKED OUT BY SAM LANGFORD

Boston, Mass., August 26.—Sam Langford scored a knockout over "Porky" Flinn in four rounds at the Atlas Athletic association tonight. Ten seconds before the bell sounded in the fourth round of what was scheduled to be a twelve-round bout, Flinn, the law-abiding and Flinn went down for the count.

It was Langford's first bout since his return from Australia. He received a surprise in the first round when Flinn, with a smashing left, sent him to the mat.

It is said that figures never lie, but sometimes they won't stand, either.

JAILED MRS. GODBEE STOPS JAIL BREAK

Millen, August 26.—(Special.)—Mrs. Sarah Perkins Godbee, in jail here charged with the murder of her former husband and his third wife, prevented an escape from the Jenkins county jail here yesterday morning. On Saturday night and lodged in the jail. On Monday morning between 2 and 4 o'clock the negro got out of his cell and was making desperate attempts to bore his way to liberty when the accused woman saved the alarm.

Negroes Charged With Theft.

Charged with burglarizing the home of J. W. Russell, in Ansley Park, about two weeks ago, Preston Fleming and wife, Carrie, were formerly employed by Mr. Russell as servants, appeared before Recorder Pro Tem Preston Tuesday morning, and were held to the grand jury under heavy bonds. The jewelry, valued at considerably more than $800, was found by City Detective Coker sewn into a mattress in the negroes' home.

MAYOR TO TAKE HAND IN FALL CAMPAIGN

Woodward Makes Bitter Attack on the City Executive Committee.

That he will take a hand in the fall campaign and that he will support "unbanned conclaves," was the reply Mayor James G. Woodward made when asked of his attitude yesterday morning.

After making the announcement, Mayor Woodward launched out in a bitter attack on the city executive committee. He charged that the committee acted too hastily in calling the first city primary on September 20, and declared that if the committee orders the registration books closed on September 9 a great many voters will be disqualified.

The mayor made the charge that the action of the committee showed plainly that there is a plot to keep the people from selecting men of their choice, and that it is a scheme to perpetuate certain politicians in office.

Calls it an outrage. Mayor Woodward said with emphasis. "The politicians are afraid of the people. They won't dare trust their political futures with the voter."

Mayor Woodward told The Constitution that he will positively oppose a charter framed by council which would be held to fast on the people. He said that he is preparing a statement to the voters urging them to repudiate council's charter.

"Never, in all my career, have I known the executive committee to call a primary within less than thirty days after holding a meeting," he said. "I think it is about time for the people to wake up and take an interest in city affairs. It is not too late to get out good, honest men to run for council. If the people select good men for council, the campaign, give men will get into the office. I support and prepare for the primary. If the committee closes the registration lists on September 9, as it has decided to do, a great many voters will be out of the election."

Warning Snap Judgment. "It looks to me like a political trick. In my opinion, it is taking snap judgment on the people. It is a plot, pure and simple, to defeat the people and perpetuate a certain class of politicians in office. It is the same old story. The politicians are afraid of the people."

"I think it is about time for the people to wake up and take an interest in city affairs. It is not too late to get out good, honest men to run for council. If the people select good men for council, the campaign, give men will get into the office. I support and prepare for the primary. If the committee closes the registration lists on September 9, as it has decided to do, a great many voters will be out of the election."

Many Candidates in Field. There are twenty-one candidates in the field for fifteen places to be vacated in council and the aldermanic board in January.

Thus far, the candidates have not announced their platforms, although it is certain that a majority of those who will see re-election are opposed to the charter. More than 2,500 citizens at the Auditorium last night, at a mass meeting, in favor of the charter framed by council and adopted by the legislature, while the charter adopted by the people has been cast aside. Council would not allow the people's charter to be submitted to the people along with its own document.

"If I can persuade the people the charter which council hopes to jam down the throats of the people will not be adopted," Mayor Woodward asserted, "and if the people will listen to me they'll put out candidates who can be relied upon to carry out their wishes."

Since the meeting of the executive committee Saturday there have been no further announcements other than those made in The Constitution. In several wards prospective candidates are being discussed. Dr. E. B. Pearce is being urged to make the race in the fifth ward, the Councilman's Green is being urged to make the race against Alderman McClelland's term in the second ward.

Hancock in the Race. W. A. Hancock who has announced in the eighth ward as a candidate against John Owens has started his campaign. Mr. Owens began his campaign shortly after making the announcement that he will run. The race in the eighth will be the closest in the city.

Aside from the election of councilmen and aldermen, there will be an election of manager of the water-works. W. Zede Smith is the only entrant in the race, and it is very probable that he will be elected without opposition.

The voters will also elect a new city executive committee.

BANKERS ARE WORKING TO IMPROVE THE FARMS

Kansas City, August 26.—Bankers are co-operating in a fight to reduce the cost of living through improvement of farm conditions, according to speakers who addressed a meeting of the committee on agricultural development and education of the American Bankers' association here today.

Stress was laid on the movements for rural high schools and for scientific culture advisers for the farmers.

"When Germany with its intensive farming methods produces nine times as much rye as the United States and wheat in a similar ratio in a half dozen other farm products, although her area is only about that of Minnesota, Iowa and Missouri, it is time this country turned its attention to the problem of efficiency in agriculture," said Joseph Chapman of Minneapolis.

He announced that the bankers' idea of delving into farm conditions was not to teach the farmer how to run his business, but to bring him in touch with knowledge that would vastly improve his old methods.

John Fields, chairman of Oklahoma City, said the key to the whole situation of better farm conditions was the improvement of the rural school.

HAS BATTLE WITH MAN HE FOUND WITH WIFE

Forryth, August 26.—(Special.)—Returning home unexpectedly last night, Will Ellis found John Chokas, a Greek restaurant proprietor, in the room with his wife. Procuring a pistol, he fired at Chokas and the latter returned the fire, but in the melee nobody was hurt. Chokas was arrested and lodged in the Monroe county jail.

BUSINESS LOSS CAUSES ATTEMPT AT SUICIDE

Police Are Called to Prevent Former Bailiff From Ending His Life.

Because he lost $500 in a business deal Tuesday afternoon James W. Hutchins, 236 South Madaniel street, attempted suicide Tuesday night about 10 o'clock, and was only restrained from accomplishing his purpose by combined forces of his wife, sister and City Officers Millam and Palmer, who answered a call to the house.

Hutchins was formerly a bailiff, and about three years ago shot a negro while placing him under arrest, and was indicted by the grand jury for murder. He was convicted of manslaughter and sentenced to five years in the penitentiary. He took his case to the court of appeals, and secured a new trial. He is now out on bond pending his second arraignment. Since his release, Hutchins has been peddling patent medicines, and is said to have accumulated a large sum of money. He claims to have lost $500 Tuesday through the sale of a large consignment of his medicine to a man who took the goods and skipped.

The message telephoned to police headquarters Tuesday night to the effect that a man was beating a woman at 236 South Madaniel street. When the officers arrived they found Hutchins in the arms of his wife and sister, who were trying to prevent his reaching a revolver lying nearby.

FARMERS URGED TO GET TOGETHER

Conclusions of Commission Read Before Conference of Governors — European Methods Must Be Adopted.

Colorado Springs, Aug. 26.—Farmers of the United States should come to an understanding of the organization and union of forces in producing and selling farm crops and in the financing of agricultural operations in this country to keep pace with the development of European nations was the message from the American commission of rural reds in a report given by Senator Duncan Fletcher of Florida read today before the annual conference of governors in session here.

Rural Organization Wanted

The commission is deeply impressed with the vital importance of a thoroughly organized and united rural population. It is the belief of the commission that a state cent from the commission which has included in its report the following: "The commission believes that the organization of county farm organizations is the best method of organizing the rural population of this country. It is the belief of the commission that the organization of county farm organizations is the best method of organizing the rural population of this country. It is the belief of the commission that the organization of county farm organizations is the best method of organizing the rural population of this country."

All the Farmers Together

The commission is deeply impressed with the vital importance of a thoroughly organized and united rural population. It is the belief of the commission that a state cent from the commission which has included in its report the following: "The commission believes that the organization of county farm organizations is the best method of organizing the rural population of this country. It is the belief of the commission that the organization of county farm organizations is the best method of organizing the rural population of this country."

Personal Credit Organizations

The personal credit organizations are usually co-operative societies. These short time credit societies furnish cheap, safe and elastic credit to their members. The control of the control by members in the organizations exclusively in the interest of farmers who are the only ones who are to be benefited. Without the aid of these organizations the farmer is at the mercy of the money market.

MARCHMAN'S SLAYER CONFESSES HIS GUILT

Negro Who Killed Farmer Is Brought Here After Mob Lynches One Suspect

Walter Brewster the negro who shot and killed L. C. Marchman a prominent farmer of Meriwether county last Wednesday was captured in the northern part of Heard county early Tuesday morning by J. M. Wingo a farmer of that section. Brewster was brought to Atlanta Tuesday afternoon by Sheriff J. B. Jernell of Meriwether county and lodged in the Atlanta police station.

Another Negro Lynched

It was learned last night that Virgil Swanson a negro suspected of having been implicated in the murder had been lynched Monday night by the indignant farmers about Greenville before the officers who had a warrant for him could locate him and place him under arrest. His body was found lying in a large clump of trees about three miles out of Greenville and a coroner's inquest held over a body Tuesday afternoon brought a verdict by the coroner's jury to the effect that Swanson met his death by strangulation at the hands of a mob of unknown men.

Negro Tells of Killing

The negro tells his story of the killing in the following manner: "I had had trouble with Mr. Marchman before Wednesday morning we got to arguing and I drew a gun on him but it failed to shoot. Mr. Marchman knocked me down and put me in a cage. I was taken to Greenville and turned over to Mr. Jernell for trial. He told me to go by my house to get to town and when we got right by it I jumped out and ran in the house. Mr. Marchman got out and ran after me and just when he got to the door I got hold of my shotgun means that he will soon assume the presidency. General Huerta taking command in the field against the rebels.

HUERTA MUST GO, SAYS UNITED STATES

MESSAGE ON MEXICO TO CONGRESS TODAY

Washington, August 25.—The dilatory attitude of the Huerta Government today gave administration officials hope that some concessions might be made to the American proposals for peace in Mexico but indications pointed to a final ending of the negotiations tomorrow when President Wilson is scheduled to read his message to both houses of congress defining the policy which he thinks the United States should pursue toward its neighbor.

American Proposals to Huerta

Mr. Lind had made certain supplies and pumped it into him. The first barrel hit him in the right hip and when he turned round I shot again and hit him in the back of the head. Then I ran and I reckon I would be running yet if Mr. Wingo hadn't got me. At the instance of Sheriff Jernell Governor Stanton authorized a reward of $20 for the capture of Brewster and this sum will be paid to Mr. Wingo.

Swanson Is Lynched

Greenville, Ga., August 25.—The bullet riddled body of Virgil Swanson a negro was found hanging from a limb in a lonely spot near here late yesterday. The local coroner learned today of the death at the hands of the Swanson party was the result of the coroner's investigation. It was said the body had evidently been hanging from the tree several hours before being discovered.

The lynching is supposed to have resulted from the killing of L. C. Marchman a farmer by Walter Brewster a negro about a week ago. Brewster was captured today after a long search by the sheriff and a posse and is in jail. It is understood that Swanson was charged with having aided Brewster to hide from the officers.

mentary suggestions to Senor Gamboa, the nature of which was not divulged, but administration officials declared these constituted no departure from the fundamentals of the American note. The original proposals were officially announced as follows:

1. Cessation of hostilities and a definite armistice.
2. An early and free election.
3. Huerta to bind himself not to be a candidate.
4. Agreement by all parties to abide by the results of the election.

Time Limit for Huerta

Officials disclaimed that Mr. Lind had gone to Vera Cruz to avoid any embarrassment in the Mexican capital following the publication there of President Wilson's message. It was said that Mr. Lind having virtually concluded his mission went to Vera Cruz chiefly to impress the Mexican administration that tomorrow noon positively the last moment the United States would wait before proclaiming to the world the position it has taken toward the Huerta government and the course which it is ready to pursue for years if necessary to uphold the principle of the orderly and constitutional government in Latin America.

With the nature of the four proposals of the United States admitted officially discussion centered chiefly on the absence of any demand for the immediate retirement of Huerta which generally had been supposed as part of the American note. It was suggested by officials however that this government could not actually call upon Huerta to resign a post which it never recognized him as legally holding.

So far as the United States is concerned Huerta is not the constitutionally chosen provisional president of Mexico because of the regularities attending his assumption of office. Not only was there no quorum in the Mexican congress when Madero's resignation was presented according to official reports here, but the resignation was accomplished by duress. Huerta must eliminate himself. The Washington government's insistence that Huerta eliminate himself from the presidential race if an election is held is based on his own promise contained in official reports that he would not be a candidate. It is not considered by officials here that a free election could be held in Mexico with Huerta in control of the electoral machinery and underlying the American proposals has been the intimation that the Mexican congress, by its constitutional right, should soon designate a provisional president to conduct a free election.

Huerta's Early Fall Expected

While administration officials regret they were unsuccessful in bringing things to a private point through the Lind negotiations information official and unofficial indicates to them that the Huerta government cannot last much longer with foreign governments supporting the American policy there is little hope, according to the official view here of the Huerta government to obtain any funds abroad to pay its army or meet running expenses.
