Section of Big Crowd Waiting to View Frank's Body

How Plans Were Formed And Put Into Execution Without Slightest Hitch THOUSANDS VIEW BODY

Men, Women and Children March Past Casket in Undertaking Parlors---Crowd Grows Threatening When Refused Permission to See Body---Remains Taken to Brooklyn at Midnight Following Services in Chapel.

After having been viewed by many thousands of men, women and children as it lay in the undertaking parlors of Greenberg & Bond, the body of Leo M. Frank is now en route to Brooklyn, where the funeral exercises will be held. On the same train are Mrs. Frank, Alexander Marcus, her brother-in-law; Rabbi David Marx and several other friends of the family.

Although it was first attempted to prevent the public from seeing the body of the dead man, the threatening nature of the crowd which gathered at the undertaking parlors led to the decision that it would be best to admit the public, under police supervision.

Full details of the laying of the plans for the removal of Frank from Milledgeville and their successful culmination were disclosed Tuesday.

STORY OF HOW MOB LYNCHED FRANK.

"The public will never know the identities of the 25 brave and loyal men who took into their own hands the execution of a law that had been stripped from them by Governor Slaton. I would not advise inquisitive authorities or persons to try to reveal them. They are as zealously banded together now, and as relentless, as the moment they invaded the state prison."

HARRIS TO PROBE FRANK LYNCHING

Governor Promises That Thorough Investigation Will Be Made—Hurries Home to Help Commission.

Fitzgerald, Ga., August 17—(Special) Regarding the lynching of Leo Frank, Governor Harris stated here tonight that he is returning to Atlanta on tonight's train for the express purpose of helping the prison commission in its investigation into the matter. He stated emphatically that the people are entitled to all the facts in the case and that he proposes to see that they have them and that a thorough investigation into the matter will be made.

Weather Prophecy THUNDER SHOWERS.

Washington Forecast. Georgia—local thunderstorms Wednesday; Thursday partly cloudy, probably showers south portion.

Table with columns for Station, Temperature, Rain, and Wind. Includes stations like Atlanta, Birmingham, Buffalo, etc.

This was the statement of a citizen of Marietta to a reporter for The Constitution Tuesday afternoon. He was thoroughly aware of the movements of the lynching clansmen, of the process of organization, of their plans, and of their painstaking system of advance preparations. He would neither admit nor deny that he was a member of the mob.

"The men who hanged Leo Frank, the murderer of Mary Phagan, did not go about it with a spirit of lawlessness nor vindictiveness. They felt it a duty—a duty to their state and commonwealth, a duty to the memory of Mary Phagan, whom all Cobb county loved, and whose memory is cherished in every household in the hills you see over there to the west."

FIRST PLANNED FOR MONTHS AGO.

"They would have lynched him more than a month ago if some one hadn't got careless and permitted a 'leak.' Governor Harris was apprised of the plans and ordered the militia to be in readiness. That was the day when the county police were scouting in the edge of Fulton and Cobb counties on the lookout for automobiles from Marietta.

"Governor Harris and the military authorities no doubt received widespread censure for this apparently unnecessary action, but if the truth were known it gave Leo Frank at least one month of grace he would not have received from the hands of the men who were about to go to Milledgeville for him.

"Ever since the day Governor Slaton commuted the sentence of Frank this morning's hanging has been in process of formulation. Minute and definite plans were drawn, and there was not a missing thread from the fabric of the perfected scheme when the twenty-five men set out early last night on their journey to Milledgeville.

PROMINENT MAN CHOSEN AS LEADER.

"Meetings were held in a spot so conspicuous that you would be astonished to hear its name called. A leader was chosen, a man who bears as reputable a name as you would ever hear in a lawful community. He was a man respected and honored. Hundreds of men would obey him—the twenty-five would have gone through hell and high water with him.

"The chosen twenty-five (although this wasn't the entire number available) were men whose worth was known, collectively and individually. I doubt that you would find anywhere a body of men more loyal, faithful, obedient and determined. They were resolved to bear whatever burdens arose as though it fell upon individual shoulders, and to go through with their plans at any cost. "They were business-like, as well as determined. Like business ventures, they would not go into it without first knowing every 'lay

RUSSIAN FORTS WITH MANY GUNS FALL TO GERMANS

Forty-five Hundred Prisoners Also Taken When the Kaiser's Troops Stormed Defenses of Kovno.

FURTHER RETIREMENT LIKELY FOR RUSSIANS

Now Believed the Czar's Forces Will Not be Able to Hold Brest-Litovsk Line Against the Invaders.

London, August 17—The Russians it is believed, probably will have to fall back further than the Brest-Litovsk line, as Berlin reports today that General Littmann has stormed and taken forts on the southwest front of Kovno, capturing 4,500 prisoners and 240 guns. This probably means the early fall of the fortress itself, between which and the capture of the Vilna-Warsaw-Petrograd railway there cannot be much delay.

Another fort on the northeast from Novogorodsk is also fallen and the cordon is being closed around the fortress. Other armies from the west and south are advancing toward the Brest-Litovsk line.

GERMANS AIM AT PETROGRAD.

London, August 17—(399 a. m.)—The situation at Kovno where the Germans claim to have gained a considerable success, is crucial. The Times declares in a review of the Russian situation "If the enemy reduces Kovno," the paper says, "and is thereby able to cross the Niemen he will be in the rear of the Russian line north of the Svanta and with the junction of the two wings of Field Marshal von Hindenburg's army the position of the Russian flank will be very difficult."

STEPS TO PROTECT PRICE OF COTTON

The Allies Will Declare Staple Contraband and Then Stand Behind the Market.

Washington, August 17—The allied decision to declare cotton contraband was admitted today in the highest official quarters, though a formal statement is withheld until official notification is received from London and Paris.

Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, the British ambassador, conferred today with Mr. Jusserand, the French ambassador. He is understood to have discussed the cotton situation as well as other subjects connected with the war.

To Protect Prices. It is learned that in a day or two some sort of an official statement will be forthcoming. This, it is understood, will set forth that, animated by a desire to avoid inflicting injury on southern cotton planters, measures are to be concerted between the allied governments that will prevent the price of cotton from going below the point of profitable production. Just how this is to be done has not been clearly indicated, but it is known there is in contemplation a project to stand behind the market when necessary to prevent undue depression.

THE HIGH COST OF LIVING

Each family pays $60 more for living expenses than it did ten years ago.

The greater part of this increase goes into the higher cost of food products.

War and hard times have not materially checked the upward tendency.

This financial barometer gives a very important reason why people should buy intelligently.

Proper selection of time, place and merchandise frequently means lessened prices.

Towards this latter solution the advertising columns of The Constitution point the way.

They give the information that leads to intelligent buying.

Mob Hanging Better Than Judicial Murder Says John M. Slaton

Former Governor Declares There Are Conditions About the Frank Case Which Constitute Tribute to Georgia.

San Francisco, August 17—In an address today to the San Francisco center of the California Civic League, former Governor John M. Slaton of Georgia, who commuted the death sentence of Leo M. Frank to life imprisonment, declared he would prefer to have Frank lynched by a mob than to have him hanged by judicial mistake, because "one reached the soul of civilization, the other merely reached the body."

Mr. Slaton's address, devoted almost entirely to discussion of the Frank case and the lynching of Frank, was delivered in the presence of a majority of members of the California supreme court and other prominent persons, members of the league.

In his address Mr. Slaton said "I would prefer Frank to be lynched by a mob rather than that he be hanged by judicial mistake. One attacks the soul of civilization, the other merely reaches the body. This has been such a lesson to Georgia that I hope it will never occur again in our civilization."

"There are conditions about the Frank case which constitute a tribute to the state of Georgia. No wonder it is difficult to open the ears of Georgians to reason. They forget the identity of the offender in the magnitude of the offense."

"There were many good people—as good as I—who disagreed with me because, they said, I set aside the verdict of a jury and interfered with the functions of a duly exercised court of law. But when these people find out the truth of the Frank case, their general condemnation of me will turn to general approval and they will know that I saved the state from a stain which never could have been eradicated."

Mr. Slaton was informed this morning that Frank had been lynched.

"The act was a consummate outrage," said Mr. Slaton, "and every man engaged in the lynching should be hanged, for he is an assassin. Such an act is contrary to the civilization of Georgia, and one which every good citizen will condemn."

"I could use no language too condemnatory. I believe the governor of Georgia will use all the power of the state to punish the malefactors who disgraced the civilization of Georgia. Their act was one of cowardice, which belongs alone to the assassin."

Shocked and Horrified. "I am shocked and horrified beyond expression. Any man who approves of this act of this mob of murderers is unworthy to be a Georgian. Any man or newspaper who condones this offense ought to be driven out of the state. But the conduct of this miserable mob of assassins is the conduct of the same sort of people who shoot people from behind a fence or murder a woman from a cowardly heart."

Mr. and Mrs. Slaton, in about a week, will go to San Diego to visit the Panama-California exposition, and afterwards will return to their home in Georgia.

WOMAN'S ASSAILANT LYNCHED IN DECATUR

After Being Identified by Victim, Negro Is Shot to Death by Mob at Amsterdam.

Bainbridge, Ga., August 17—(Special)—Searching parties early tonight captured a negro who yesterday criminally assaulted a white woman at Amsterdam, and, after carrying him before his victim, who identified him, quietly killed him with about one hundred shots. The negro's name is John Higgins. He was about 33 years old and had been in the community only a few days.

Higgins made no attempt to escape, but returned to his work this morning in the tobacco packing house. When some of the searching party approached him and inquired if he knew a certain negro from Quincy, Higgins became nervous and soon left work. He was caught before he had gone 200 feet and carried before the victim for identification. She promptly identified him, after she had saved the lives of others earlier in the day through failure to accuse them.

Feeling Again Normal. The rest of the program was quickly enacted and feeling in the section has returned to its normal state. Decatur has been a county for nearly one hundred years, but so far as is known the first criminal assault in its history occurred yesterday afternoon when an unknown negro attacked the wife of a prominent tobacco man in the lower section of the county. The woman started out from her home near Amsterdam to the tobacco packing house where her husband was working. While passing through a thickly wooded section the negro sprang into the buggy and wrested from her hands the pistol with which she attempted to defend herself. When she recovered consciousness the negro was gone and on the back of her head was a painful wound, whether inflicted by the butt of the pistol or by her head striking the buggy tire, she did not know. She managed to reach the place where her husband was awaiting her, and told the story.

Posses Was Orderly. Sheriff's deputies went to the scene immediately and started a thorough search, but an all-night effort failed to locate the negro. The sheriff of Gadsden county, Florida, just across the line, also had a posse on the lookout, and besides, there were hundreds of the citizens of that community in life woods searching for the fugitive.

From information obtained at the sheriff's office it seems that the crowd was unusually orderly, and that there was no evidence of drunkenness nor any tendency to molest innocent negroes. The people of the lower section of the county constitute some headed people in this part of the state. The negro's victim has been intermittently unconscious during the day and is reported to have fainted several times. Although her health was not too good at the time, she is reported to be resting very well at a late hour this afternoon.

GUILTY OF EMBEZZLING GOVERNMENT FUNDS

Montgomery, Ala., August 17—Former Deputy United States Revenue Collector E. N. Winters pleaded guilty to embezzling federal funds while connected with the internal revenue department here today and was sentenced to thirteen months in prison. He surrendered a month ago at El Paso, Ariz., to which city he went from Montgomery after a federal indictment had been returned against him.

of the ground, and every detail so far as could be foreseen. The business of getting the men was the first undertaking. This was done only after a good deal of sifting and weeding.

"I have learned from my father, and from those of my various kin who served in the reconstruction days, the modes and methods of the kuklux. But even that noble institution, for perfection of organization, determination and daring, could not equal this modern exploit, done in the interest of a justice of which we had been denied by the man we put into office.

GRIM VINDICATION MISSION OF MOB.

"In the first place, the organization of the body who lynched Frank was more open than mysterious. It was more on the order of a plain, 'open-and-shut' business proposition. The purpose of the kuklux was more to overawe and frighten than anything else. The determination of the men who brought retribution to the memory of Mary Phagan was of grim vindication even if at extreme peril.

"When the business of organization was finished the next object was to fully acquaint themselves with conditions and contingencies in Milledgeville, the first seat of action. Advance men were sent to the scene. They went in automobiles that they might familiarize themselves with the roadways and draw maps of them.

"In Milledgeville they made thorough observations of the prison grounds, took into contemplation the barbed-wire entanglements, made themselves acquainted with the telegraph and telephone connections, and made intimate inspection of all inroads and outlets to the town.

"The plans were perfect when the hour came to strike.

TWO MEN SENT IN ADVANCE.

"Two men were sent in advance of the main body. They were to reconnoiter and to sever telegraphic and telephonic communications with the outside world, so that Milledgeville authorities could not notify other townships to intercept them as they carried Frank to the place selected as the scene of his death.

"Early Monday night the automobiles assigned to the journey were sent along their respective routes to pick up the chosen men. Even the wives of hardly any of them were aware of their departure. The automobiles slid up quietly to the front of the houses, a signal given, and the man joined them.

"And when they returned to their beds in the break of Tuesday's dawn it is doubtful that if any members of their 25 households knew that they had been absent after midnight. It won't be possible to disclose the identities of the '25'—even through their wives or children.

CIRCUTOUS ROUTES USED.

"The men who proceeded to Milledgeville never grouped until they reached the outskirts of the town. They took a circuitous route so as to avoid the much traveled roads and larger towns. Approaching Milledgeville a car was sent ahead to inform the 'advance' men who were to cut off communication.

"The wires severed, the two men joined the main body and proceeded with them to the prison. Every procedure was calculated to a fine point. It was all carefully planned and equally as carefully and painstakingly executed.

"No one was to speak excepting the leader. He was to have absolute direction. They obeyed him to a man. His word was a law that knew no denying. They would have shot Leo Frank on the spot—or released him—at his command. It was this thorough understanding that was largely responsible for the progress of the undertaking without mishap.

"Equipped with maps of the roads which offered speedy travel and the least possibility of encounter, the automobiles traveled at high speed to Roswell, and thence to Marietta. Every man was fully armed and, had it come to a question of a fight, there wasn't one among them who wouldn't have given his own life's blood as quickly and readily as he joined to shed Frank's.

OVERTAKEN BY DAYBREAK.

"It was originally planned to carry Frank to the cemetery in which Mary Phagan's body is buried, but daybreak overtook his captors. They were speeding over the road that leads to Marietta in the neighborhood of Mary's birthplace when the sun mounted the horizon. There was no little dissension over the proposal to hold the lynching in the Frey vicinity, the more daring members of the clan wishing to carry out their first plans and continue boldly to the grave of his victim.

"But a word from the leader silenced all opposition, and Mary Phagan's death was vindicated in the same grove where she used to play when a barefoot girl, long before she ever dreamed of going to work in the pencil factory."

"But I would also like to talk with some one who can give me more explicit details," said the reporter when the Marietta man's description was finished.

"In that case," he answered, gravely, as though considering possibilities, "I would refer you to —," and he named a man of prominence, who is not unknown even outside of Cobb county.

"The reporter went to Mr. —." "Nobody will ever know that outside of the men who were actually present" was the reply to the reporter.

"Not even what Frank said before he died?" insisted the reporter.

"He never confessed," was the reply.

THOUSANDS VIEW BODY.

From the moment that it became known yesterday morning that the body of Leo M. Frank had been taken to the undertaking establishment of Greenberg & Bond until after nightfall thousands of marauding curiosity seekers besieged the building at Houston and Ivy streets to get a glimpse of the body.

It is estimated that over 15,000 people viewed the body of Frank. People who counted the stream of humanity that surged through the doors stated that from 50 to 80 per minute walked past the body continuously from early in the afternoon until 8 o'clock last night.

When the first hundreds began to swell to the thousands at the undertaker's establishment yesterday afternoon they found the place open to their inspection, but the body of Frank nowhere to be found. It was announced that the body had been removed to a private residence in the city.

BODY CONCEALED IN GARAGE.

Early in the afternoon it was discovered that the body was concealed in the garage in the rear of the undertaking establishment. When this news spread the crowd threatened to break down the door, and finally became necessary to remove the body into the undertaking building and all the crowd to clear.

About fifty policemen, under command of Captain Dobbe, maintained order at the undertaker's office. These were later re-enforced by a score of sanitary officers who were deputized for the purpose as police officers.

In the curious crowd were hundreds of women and children. In the afternoon the crush became so terrific that Acting Mayor I N Ragsdale mounted the balcony of the right porch of the building and warned the crowd for several hours to preserve order and be careful not to crush women and children.

NO SERIOUS DISORDER.

With the exception of smashing a window in the garage in an attempt to see the body, there was no disorder. No serious disorders were reported.

After 8 o'clock last night the public were barred from witnessing the body of Frank by a few prominent members of the B'nai B'rith, of which Frank was president before and during his trial. They kept the view of the body being embalmed last night.

APPEALS FOR ORDER.

Mayor Pro Tem J N Ragsdale, following a demonstration at the gate, addressed the throngs from the porch of the building, urging them to be orderly to protect the good name of Atlanta.

"I want to plead with you gentlemen," said the mayor pro tem, "to be orderly and quiet, and thus protect the good name of our great city.

The mayor pro tem again and again pleaded with the crowd which eagerly pressed the line of uniformed police who were lined up on the sidewalk and street in front of the building.

When the people realized that they would be allowed to see Frank's body they appeared to be ready to stand in line and take their turn.

All women who wished to enter the crowd were allowed to pass on the right side of the cordon of police, and the men passed on the left.

CHILDREN IN TEARS.

Two small girls, in dresses scarcely below their knees, and hardly over 12 years of age, unescorted, filed past the casket. As their eyes fell upon the white sheet which covered Frank's body, they raised their handkerchiefs to their eyes, from which tears rolled, as they turned away their faces and passed by the casket without viewing the face of Frank.

Another woman as she caught sight of the casket from a distance of several paces, turned pale, and wheeled in front of the man who was in the way in which she had entered. She stood for a moment with a white handkerchief from her pocketbook and held it to her face.

MANY WOMEN UNMOVED. Scores of women filed past the casket without so much as a look of horror on their faces as their eyes fell upon the dead man's visage.

Notable among those to view Frank's body was City Detective John Black, who arrested Frank on Tuesday morning following the murder of Mary Phagan.

Long after 7 o'clock last night when Police Chief Mayo closed the doors of the undertaker to outsiders, a large crowd lingered about the building.

Throughout the entire afternoon the camera man was busy on the scene was also on hand and moving pictures, which probably will be shown over the entire nation, were taken of the crowds before the undertaker, the removal of Frank's body from the garage, and crowds at Marietta. Last night a moving picture camera man left by automobile for Milledgeville, Ga., to take pictures early this morning of the state prison, farm, where Frank was a lifer.

For 25 cents each mercenary photographers, who had motored to the murder scene near Marietta, sold hundreds of pictures of Frank's body suspended in the air by the grass rope.

MAYO ADVISES PATROLMEN. Chief of Police W M Mayo issued instructions to patrolmen on the evening watch at police headquarters Tuesday afternoon that they be especially vigilant during the present excitement over the lynching of Frank.

Chief Mayo stated that he understood that several men on the force had received souvenirs of the Tuesday morning occurrence and requested that they take them home and not carry them on their persons.

"If there is anything which you men should not do," stated the chief, "it is to take part in the talk which is going on around here, and to take sides."

"I want all of you to be especially vigilant and see that the laws are strictly enforced."

PARTY LEAVES FOR BROOKLYN.

The body of Frank left Atlanta for Brooklyn on board Southern passenger train No 35 at 12 01 o'clock Wednesday morning, accompanied by Mrs. Frank, Alex Marcus her brother-in-law, Rabbi David Marx, Harry Alexander and Herbert Frus.

On request of Mrs Frank no funeral services were held at the chapel of Greenberg & Bond. An undertaking was held upon their arrival at New York.

The remains of Frank were taken from the undertaking at 11 o'clock and carried in an automobile hearse to the Terminal station where they were taken on board the train.

Chief of Police W M Mayo and Policeman Handy accompanied the hearse. At the station, Chief Mayo, accompanied by a squad of police under the leadership of Captain A L Poole.

Contrary to expectations, there were only a few people waiting. Among those at the station were Police Commissioner Bill Fain, Chief Mayo, Assistant Chief Jett and several close personal friends of the dead man and his family.

Mrs Frank was dressed in deep mourning.

A coincidence in the departure of the train bearing Frank Wednesday morning was that on a track, but parallel with the baggage car, with the coffin was placed, stood the Pullman car Valdesta, in the drawing room of which Frank left Atlanta yesterday to be placed in the state prison farm the latter part of July.

DISCOVERY OF BODY.

Dangling in a grove within a stone's throw of the hillside birthplace of Mary Phagan, the body of Leo M Frank, lynched by a mob, perfect in its position and organization, was cut down at Marietta yesterday morning while threats of cremation were being made by members of the big crowd present.

Hurried to the village square two miles distant, an undertaker's wagon, attached to horses that were driven so furiously that the foms flicked from the lips, the body was then transferred to an automobile resting lengthwise across the tonneau and pushed to Atlanta, followed by a trail of automobilists.

Attempts were made by telephone to intercept the machine, but to avail, an undertaker's ambulance meeting the corpse-bearing machine at the outskirts of the city and conveying the body in safety to Greenberg & Bond's undertaking establishment in

The parade dispersed at the courthouse, where addresses were made and responses given. Senator O. H. Ellkins for the city, was responded to by General J. W. Preston; Ransom Matthews, for the G. A. MUSCOGEE WILL URGE JUVENILE COURT LAW

Columbus, Ga., August 17.—(Special.)—Much concern is being expressed over the decision of the Georgia supreme court which would seem to annul the juvenile courts in Muscogee county and in various other counties of the state. The juvenile courts of Fulton and Chatham counties, on the other hand, are not affected by this decision.

Much good has been accomplished by the Muscogee county juvenile court and it is sincerely hoped that it will not be abolished. Judge G. E. Austin, of the juvenile court, will visit the judge of Richmond county juvenile court, go to Atlanta and confer with Governor Harris in reference to the continuance of these courts. It is hoped to induce the governor to include in his call a measure providing for a children's court in Muscogee and other counties.

WILL MAKE SURVEYS FOR RESERVOIR SITE

Columbus, Ga., August 17.—(Special.)—Acceptance of government engineers who have been at work on the lower river will arrive in Columbus during the week ending August 21. They will go from here to Fairburn, Ga., where they will make surveys for a projected reservoir. This work will be in accordance with recommendations of Government Engineer F. M. Church, who has been in this section for the past several months doing some research engineering. There is no appropriation for such a reservoir as yet, but it is anticipated that it will be made and the engineers are preparing for it. The idea is to preserve the surplus water of spring and flood seasons and use it in periods of drought to the river.

BAINBRIDGE WELCOMES NEW BOARD SECRETARY

Bainbridge, Ga., August 17.—(Special.)—Last night was a big night in the local home of trade, as the get-together meeting was held at the city hall to welcome the new secretary and his staff. J. J. Farrell, who for the past two years has served the organization so well as its secretary, was succeeded by Quimby Melton, until very recently editor of the "Bainbridge Times". While the affair was entirely informal in its get-up, yet there was abundant enthusiasm and a number of excellent talks followed the big spread. President Wheeler, the new, and the retiring secretary, B. J. Ferr and Melvin Nusbaum, were among those who spoke. Resolutions of regret were passed at the departure of Mr. Farrell.

HAD TO COME HOME TO SEE PRETTY WOMEN

Rotarian Delegates Tell of Their Trip to National Convention.

That more pretty women pass Five Points every half-hour than exist on the whole Pacific coast, and that Georgia watermelons and peaches are more delicious than those of the finest California fruits, were some of the statements made at the Atlanta Rotary club yesterday at its regular luncheon in the Ansley hotel by Albert S. Adams, Fred B. Allen, Fred Frouser and R. G. Hastings, who represented the Atlanta club as delegates to the international convention in San Francisco.

It developed from the reports that former President Adams, of the Atlanta club who was elected international vice president at the convention, was the only international officer chosen without a contest of opposition at the big convention. The Atlanta club also received many other gratifying evidences of the high esteem in which it is held by the international association. The Atlanta delegation favored Cincinnati for the 1917 meeting, and Cincinnati was chosen over opposition, largely through Atlanta's aid.

To Ask 1917 Convention. At the meeting yesterday a movement was set on foot by Mr. Houser to consider bringing the 1917 convention to Atlanta, and to this end a special train of Atlanta Rotarians may be sent to Cincinnati next year. William B. Birch, a prominent Macon business man and Rotarian, was introduced to the Atlanta club by Howard Geldert. Mr. Birch paid an eloquent tribute to the Atlanta spirit, saying that the aims of Atlanta and Macon were one, and that his cities were working hand in hand for the general welfare of Georgia. Mr. Birch was enthusiastically applauded. At the luncheon yesterday every member of the club wrote and mailed a postcard greeting to President Lee M. Jordan, who is at Mohawk Lake, New York. A name contest participated in by Rotarians Carl Mott, W. J. Percy, Harry Colegate and Frank K. Boland, was won by Dr. Boland, who was presented with a handsome prize. Rotarian George Greene was congratulated on the arrival at his home of a baby girl. The souvenirs of the occasion were furnished by The Southern Ruralist, and the meeting was presided over by Vice President L. D. Hicks.

THINGS HEARD AT VITALITAS STAND

Atlanta People Seeing and Sampling—What Conductor Sorrells Says.

No product of nature has ever attracted more attention in Virginia and hundreds of Atlanta people are daily seeing and sampling this remarkable earth liquid. Interesting statements are to be heard daily from people who have used Vitalitas and make report of the results thereof. Conductor R. B. Sorrells, of the Southern Railway, for instance, had this to say: "Have been suffering from stomach disorders and eczema for years; my face had had itching out every summer which I could not get rid of. Have tried Vitalitas and can say it has done me more good than anything I have ever used. My digestion is better and my eczema is almost gone." Beyond question Vitalitas is the greatest known natural and corrective. It is free of alcohol or habit-forming drugs, and contains only earthy elements and forces that are essential to life and health. It is pleasant and the most delicate invalid can take it. Vitalitas will be found wonderfully effective for all ills of stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels and blood. Get samples, investigate Vitalitas at Jacoby Pharmacy, 23 Whitehall.—adv.

TROOP TRANSPORT SENT TO BOTTOM BY A SUBMARINE

The British Steamer Royal Edward Sunk in the Aegean Sea by German Under-Sea Boat.

OVER THOUSAND PERSONS WENT DOWN WITH SHIP

First Instance in Which a Submarine Has Succeeded in Sinking British Transport Since the War Began.

London, August 17.—The sinking in the Aegean sea by a German submarine of the British transport Royal Edward with heavy loss of life has shattered the British navy's proud tradition that it had transported hundreds of thousands of men across the sea without the destruction of one troop-laden ship.

MOB'S OWN STORY TOLD IN DETAIL

Atlanta. It was there embalmed, after being witnessed by thousands of people, and at midnight was carried to the city and put on a train to Brooklyn, where funeral and burial will be held.

NO ARRESTS YET MADE.

No arrests have been made. Governor Harris has instructed officials of Cobb county to exert every effort to apprehend the lynchers, but no state nor county rewards have been offered. It is understood that no application for reward had been made.

The death of Frank was the outcome of weeks of deliberate study and planning. He was executed with businesslike skill and precision. The victim, fully conscious and aware of his fate, was transported more than 100 miles.

Frank was taken from the state prison at Milledgeville shortly after 10 o'clock Monday. He was escorted by police and a military guard. He was thrown into an automobile and hurried over country roads in a manner so orderly that, even in Marietta, no one knew of the enactment.

THOUSANDS GATHER AT SCENE.

The town and countryside hurried down in rigs and automobiles and on foot. Many of them, some with rifles, and some with shotguns, gathered along the road. They were standing with their heads turned in some direction, which swung in the light breeze, still warm and bleeding.

"FIDDLIN' JOHN"

"Fiddlin' John" Carson swayed the crowd when they were gathered in the heart of the woodland. "Fiddlin' John" Carson, who has turned up with his guitar and fiddle, has become a popular attraction. He has one that is called "Fiddlin' John" and has for its words a rural hymn, and has for its words a riddle of the murder of Mary Phagan.

NO BITTERNESS.

The absence of bitterness was another stamp of Marietta's conduct during the afternoon. The early morning demonstration was not without its drama. The hundreds who had flocked to the scene of the tragedy, for a time, forbade either cremation or further mutilation of the swinging body.

ANOTHER ORDER ON SANFORD BURKE

Pittsburg, Pa., August 17.—An additional order prohibiting the Federals from disposing in any way of Pletcher Sanford Burke, who jumped from the Indianapolis American Association club, was granted by Judge Ambrose E. Ed today.
