ally they are cut into geometric patterns—into triangles, cubes, squares and parallelograms.

The vases that used to contain them have gone into the discard. Cats, pigs, dogs, alligators, crocodiles and other strange animals along with still stranger idols are used instead. They are not regular cats, dogs, pigs and idols in their natural form and shapes but cats, dogs, pigs and idols that have been either futurized or cubized. They come in all sorts of impossible shapes and never-was colors.

Most of them carry appropriate inscriptions. The green and yellow cat says: "Bring your smile with you for good luck awaits you when you see me." The pig's message is: "I will stick to you if you will stick to me." The Chinese idol prophesies: "I will fight your troubles in all that is right." The green and black cat carries the promise: "I will charm all your ills away," and the black cat makes the appeal: "Possess me and be happy."

In the costumes as in the china and floral decorations there is an endless range through the land of futurist ideas. For the benefit of any who may have a desire to give a futurist party it may be suggested that the costume of an "early Victorian vampire" is quite effective. It lends itself to a variety of interpretations. A "full intensity brain storm" may also be translated into a costume with startling results. "Irish tomatoes" is another title which permits one to roam where one will in the land of crazy dress designs. "Feathered frog" and "ethereal half-wit" carry their own suggestions along with themselves. They can result in as many costumes as there are ingenious people capable of seizing upon an idea.

Now comes the menu. The startling table china, floral decorations and costumes are but gradual steps up to the most startling thing of the party. It was France, the home of good cooking, which invented the futurist menus and developed them to their highest point of wildness.

Some doubting Thomases say that these modern futurist menus have been formulated by France's enemies to prejudice the human race against her and prove that she is the greatest barbarian of them all.

On the other hand more lenient people have professed to see in these menus attempts of desperate journalists in Paris to find some combination or permutation of words to elude the censor successfully and to telegraph to America some real news concerning the actual state of events in that war-ridden land.

Still others feel that they are messages communicating in code, unseen though in plain sight, the details of some diabolical plot from whose consequences the world will presently tremble to its core.

These menus are the literary side of futurist cooking, although intelligent readers find it hard to believe. Despite the horrors that have been done in the name of war, no one who has looked upon a futurist painting will believe that any man would purposely introduce anything of that sort into another human being's interior economy. It would be beyond the pale of barbarism.

Everybody knew that futurist cooking had to come. Futurist art, futurist music and futurist literature had been given to the eager world. Futurist clothing has had a very successful tryout. And now comes the futurist cooking to complete the scale.

Despite all the mystery and strangeness which enshroud this new art there is at least one thing that can truthfully and definitely be said about it. And that is that the average man will have to cultivate a taste for it before he will be likely to enjoy it or even attempt to enjoy it.

One dish is composed of tomatoes and brandy, which might prove rather tolerable to many men provided the ingredients were fairly well divided so as to leave a preponderance of the fluid. A popular soup has been compounded, or invented, or concocted, the distinguishing feature of which is that it is flavored liberally with cod liver oil.

Another choice futurist combination for the table is herrings mashed in raspberry jam and served with whipped cream. Beef cooked in cummin and served with bananas stuffed with cheese is something entirely futurist and worth trying at least once.

The "new art" cooks are extremely fond of cooking the vegetables "au naturel" without scraping them. Potatoes, carrots, turnips and even peas and various sorts of beans are thrown into the pot in just the garb in which they came from the garden. After they are cooked they are served still with their original coverings on in petroleum jelly.

A choice dish is the one composed of canned fish eaten with a sauce consisting of oil and vinegar, Yorkshire relish, salt and pepper. What remains of this sauce after the fish are eaten may be poured over an English plum pudding.

Other appetizing dishes, after one gets used to them, are beefsteak with strawberry jam, fried salmon with marmalade, roast mutton with currant jelly. These in themselves are not particularly startling. They begin to be futuristic when to the preserves and jam is added a fair amount of ether for a sauce. Fresh strawberries are also served with ether and any one who does not like them this way can have them served with vinegar poured over them.

However improbable it may seem at present the world will unquestionably adopt these innovations in the serving of food within a reasonable length of time. The world, it must be remembered, is not one-tenth so conservative in anything as it is in its diet. This is proved by the fact that in the past hundred years there has not been a change in eating which could be called at all revolutionary.

The world adopts new art, new music, new styles in clothes, new religions and new social ideas. But what it ate a hundred or more years ago it still eats.

Those who do not consider themselves very old can remember when tomatoes were called "love apples." They were used in homes—in the parlors on mantel pieces—as ornaments but never in the kitchen or dining-room as food. They were pronounced rank poison.

Then came along a particularly hardy and daring fellow who discovered that not only were tomatoes not rank poison but that they were a particularly fine sort of food and possessed the ability of lending themselves to a great variety of culinary uses. It took him many years to impress upon the world the fact that tomatoes are a delicious vegetable. Even today there are some of the old line conservatives who, once having used tomatoes as ornaments, cannot bring themselves to use them as food.

There is the classic example of olives and the way they first taste. It is safe to say that no olive eater in the world ever enjoyed his first olive—or the second for that matter. A taste for olives has to be cultivated. Grapefruit is very much in the same class. The man who says he enjoyed his first grapefruit lays open his record for veracity to suspicion.

People who have nothing else to do are always doing something that appears outlandish and silly. But they sometimes get away with it. If it were not for the imaginative fools the world would be a sad place indeed.

At the present time the futurist chefs are receiving the taunts and jeers and quips which not so long ago were visited upon their brethren, the futurist painters, musicians and writers. But who is there to say that bananas stuffed with cheese, tomatoes and brandy, and soup with cod liver oil will not in a few years come to the table as regularly as French fried potatoes, oyster stew and ice cream now do?

They may taste unpleasant, disagreeable, impossible at first. But so did olives and grapefruit, not to mention a dozen other popular dishes.

FUTURISM has struck the dining-room table and the house parties that revolve around it. Like a Kansas cyclone the new art has wrecked the old style cut glass and delicate china tableware with delicate flower designs. It has picked up the old fashioned table bouquet of gentle maidenhair fern and pale pink and lavender flowers and swirled it through the window into the back yard where stands the garbage can.

The futurist party is different from soup to nuts, from flowers to ferns, from costumes to behavior. It doesn't necessarily have to be anything in particular. There is just one thing that makes a futurist party and that is that it should be entirely different from every other party which has gone before it. That is the simple secret of the thing.

It takes the chef, the florist and the costume designer to bring a futurist party together, for the real futurist party is a combination of all of these things.

The delicate, pale table china of yester-year is replaced with a tableware that can be just as delicate in texture and weight but which is boldly futuristic in design and color.

Broad rings of color go swirling around the rims of the plates and saucers, and around the cups. Sometimes a bold check design is used. No matter what the design is it is always and forever bold. Black is a favorite color in the futurist ware. In fact black is used not only in the ware but in embroidering designs on table cloths and on napkins. Salt cellars, cream pitchers, finger bowls and other special ware of the sort are now to be had in odd, cubistic shapes. In fact anything different goes.

The futurist flower decorations are a joy all by themselves. They are a joy likewise to the florists, who are glad of the opportunity to get away from the humdrum decorations of the conventional party. And it may be added the futurist flowers are a veritable joy to the guests.

The strongest contrasts possible in colors are required. Reds are freely used with greens, blacks with whites, blues with yellows, violets with oranges. Likewise nature is freely handled and, as the futurist florists claim, freely improved upon. Flowers are cut into whatever shape is necessary to carry out the scheme the futurist florist has in mind. How to Tell EDIBLE Mushrooms From the POISONOUS

THE one obstacle in the way of making general use of the mushroom as a food—and it is a nutritious food that may be obtained at low cost—in the fear of mistaking the poisonous varieties through their similarity in appearance.

What are the distinguishing features by which one may decide between the edible and injurious varieties?

In the first place, if you are planning to grow mushrooms, the simplest and easiest way of deciding which varieties to select is to send your samples to the Department of Agriculture at Washington, where they will be passed upon by experts and all the information you may require sent to you without cost.

But this means of deciding between varieties obviously involves too great a delay for those who intend picking mushrooms for their next meal. For these there are numerous tests that may be made immediately.

An important item to remember is that the common edible mushroom has pink gills when young and purplish-brown or black gills when mature. All species with yellow or white gills should be avoided by the novice. Some of these varieties are edible, but they should be passed upon by an expert before they are used as food.

The common mushroom of commerce usually is found in the open and grassy glades, never in the forests. Therefore, one should be exceedingly chary about picking mushrooms in shady spots or in the woods unless they have an expert knowledge of the varieties they are seeking. When conditions are favorable the edible mushroom may be picked in midsummer in old pastures and on lawns. They are more often found, however, in the autumn.

The variety about which there is no question as to food value grows about three inches tall, has a fleshy cap about three inches broad. This cap generally is white, but sometimes reddish or brownish above and pink beneath.

Remember that its stem does NOT rise from a cuplike base. Also, it is best gathered in the "button" stages—that is, before the cap has expanded.

Most of the poisonous species have a fleshy cap that is whitish, moist and clammy to the touch. Their stems are usually ringless or nearly so. When they have gills they are a pale pink white. An offensive odor even more than their clammy feeling mark them as being harmful.

The surest test is to nibble at them without swallowing any. The poisonous varieties have a peculiar and disagreeable taste that is immediately evident. It is easily recognized after tasting it once.

There are a few species that are sometimes edible and sometimes not, but these should be left alone for safety. This is true of the variety known as "amanitas." They have tall stems surmounted by a cap whose surface ranges from a glassy white to a gray, orange and brown. The gills are white.

At any rate, it must be remembered that for a novice to experiment freely with mushrooms is about as safe an occupation as the handling of gunpowder.

Mushrooms furnish a highly nutritious food at little cost, but they must be selected only with the greatest care. It has been said that they are as rich in food value as meat. This, however, is not proved by an analysis, which shows they contain no considerable amount of fat.

The three pictures to the left show the edible variety of mushroom in three stages. The small drawing is a section of the infant mushroom, the next a mature example and the third a section of the fully developed mushroom. Externally it is pale brown, dry, often silky, never viscid. The cuticle peels readily away, as shown, and the gills underneath grow from white to pink or rose-colored and then brown-black. They are usually more or less free from the stem, which is slightly pithy up to the middle, but never hollow, and has a flaccose ring near the middle. The poisonous mushroom shown in the two views at the right has pale, clay-colored gills, an offensive odor and a clammy or viscid top.

New Electric Lamp to Save Miners' Lives

MINERS at last have been equipped with a practical electric lamp—a lamp that probably will do more to prevent mine disasters than any life-saving device brought forth by modern progress.

Mine fires in the past have been the cause of untold and inestimable loss of natural resources, yet despite the efforts of inventors and engineers nothing more satisfactory in the nature of a portable lamp for miners was brought forth than a developed and improved "Davy" lamp, in which the flame above the underground worker's forehead is protected by wire gauze, which conducts away the heat before it can penetrate to the more or less inflammable gases which may be present in the atmosphere of the mine. It is a simple apparatus and dependable within limits, but in this day of mechanical perfection it is crude, an archaic relic.

The new Edison mine lamp battery is contained in a small nickel-steel can of convenient size and weight, to be strapped at the back of the belt. It is tightly covered, and from it a flexible tube carrying the insulated wire is brought up over the back of the head to the incandescent lamp fastened to the front of the miner's cap. It is a

How the Battery and Lamp Look.

"fool-proof" apparatus, which requires no attention whatever from the miner, and which he cannot damage without actually breaking it open, for the outfit, properly charged, and with the current turned on, is handed to him at the mouth of the mine, with the cover locked. It will continue to produce light until the battery is surrendered when he emerges from the workings, or until the battery is exhausted. Those in charge of the batteries have nothing to do but unlock the covers, hook them up to the power source and recharge for the next day's work. The materials in the battery are permanent, the roughest jarring produces no ill effects, and the battery does not have to be fully exhausted before it is recharged. Even such mistakes as the reversal of the charge does not permanently injure the battery, and it may be left for indefinite periods charged, uncharged or semi-charged without appreciable loss. Specific gravity readings of the electrolyte are unnecessary, and the only care required, other than that of recharging, is the replenishing of the electrolyte about once every ten months and the occasional addition of distilled water to replace that lost by evaporation. Other parts of the battery are unchanged by its operation. The plates never have to be renewed.

Why You Use a Tooth Brush

A GOOD tooth brush if used conscientiously should not be in use more than two weeks at a time, and it is better to keep two in use so that each may have a period of drying out and airing. It never pays to buy too cheap a brush if the price is at the expense of the bristles. In the first place a poor set of bristles will not do their work well and in the second place loosely fastened bristles are very dangerous if they slip down the throat where they may catch and decay or penetrate the walls of the digestive tract. Always wash out the brush thoroughly after each application; and, by the way, a new brush should be soaked in a weak solution of bicarbonate of soda for two hours both to disinfect it from shop handling and to set the bristles so that they will not fall out so readily.

The teeth should be brushed at night, after each meal, and upon rising. It is particularly important to clean them the last thing before retiring so that food particles will not remain over night when the mouth saliva is not active enough to prevent it.

During a long illness the teeth should be carefully cleaned when they cannot receive attention from a dentist. If this were done fewer teeth troubles would be laid to the ailment, which is not much more to blame than neglect of the mouth. See that the mouth is constantly washed out with a little bicarbonate of soda, which can be prepared by dissolving a teaspoonful of the bicarbonate (ordinary baking soda) in a pint of water and bottling it for use. Most authorities consider this better than too frequent use of the hydrogen peroxide solutions, which are not always good for the teeth.

New Use for Fireless Cooker

IF A peddler calls at your door in the near future and offers to sell you soups, meats or vegetables, piping hot and ready to serve, do not be surprised.

For the business of bringing your dinner to you is a new and rapidly growing industry. If it continues as it is expected to do you soon will not be compelled to consider your dinner at all—you may select it from the traveling cafe that will call at your house daily, or as often as you desire.

A recent improvement in the fireless cooker has made this work possible. They now are being used in conjunction with a co-operative kitchen plan in a New Jersey city. The new cooker is composed of numerous compartments in which several articles of food may be cooked at the same time.

When the meal is ready it is carried—still in the original compartment in which it was cooked—to the home of the purchaser. In some cases the contents of one cooker are divided between two or more families, thus cutting down the cost of the home meals materially.

Many plans are being worked out through which the plan may be used to fight the high cost of living. The most practical of these is the one suggested by a woman who has had her main meal delivered to her daily by means of the cooker. She suggests purchasing a number of the cookers, taking orders each day from a number of families, preparing the food ordered and delivering it at a stated time.

"By this means I can deliver just the kind and variety of food required at a cost far below the cost of preparing it in each home," said the woman, who hopes to make a business of "home cooking."

Frightful Inventions to Take Life

THE war of the future will be the war of the inventor, even more than it is today. Science, mechanics and electricity have, as we all know, revolutionized modern warfare to a terrible degree. Talk to men who remember the Crimean war and they will tell you that the present conflict is not war; it is wholesale murder, fearful, horrible and inhuman. The wars of the future, however, if the scientist is to be believed, will be even more destructive.

At present he is experimenting with heat rays. If, he contends, light rays can be thrown upon a hostile position with the searchlights, why cannot heat rays be similarly reflected; and if heat rays can be sent to a distance, why not the hottest rays possible—namely, those of the oxy-acetylene torch? Before such a fiery glare fortresses of steel and stone would melt, the biggest guns would crumble down into pools of steel, and whole regiments of men might, with one blast, be shivered into ashes.

Nether do scientists consider it outside the bounds of possibility in the future to devise means of detonating explosives at a distance by wireless waves. The latter at present scatter in every direction, but the day may come when it will be practicable to restrict them to only one direction, so that they may be aimed; and it is not too far-fetched to predict that some future general, touching a button, will send speeding to their target, which will be, perhaps, an entire army division, wireless impulses so powerful that they will electrocute every man within their range.

In regard to big guns, experts say that the limit is by no means reached with the manufacture of seventeen-inch firing monsters. They prophesy sixty-inch and even eighty-inch guns, which will be able to shoot sixty or eighty miles, the range being given by aviators signaling by wireless.

Again, plans are already under way for the construction of monster submarines, with a cruising radius from London to New York. They will be able to carry batteries of torpedoes and ample fuel and provisions for the long cruise. They will thus gain some of the independence of land possessed by dreadnaughts, for even they must visit coaling stations or be attended by colliers. The next half-century, indeed, may see battleships swept from the seas, and some nation holding the mastery of the ocean by virtue of a fleet of submarines.

Maple Syrup From Bark

How Explosives Are Selected for War

THE history of the modern explosives used in the great war dates back to 1888, when smokeless powders for service work became a possibility. Up to that time gunpowder had been the explosive used both as a charge for the gun and as a bursting charge for shells, and although, as a result of thirty years' work, the forms of gunpowder used had been so beautifully fitted to the work that had to be done as to render the powder charge a "propellant" the result of the firing of which could be absolutely predicted, the fact that more than one-half the weight of the powder was driven from the gun in the form of smoke became an insuperable objection.

In 1888 the largest guns we had weighed 110 tons, fired a charge of 900 pounds of prism powder, threw a shell weighing 1,700 pounds, and were 16.25 inches in diameter, being, therefore, larger than the 16-inch guns the Germans are supposed to possess, while our own largest guns are now the 15-inch on the new superdreadnoughts throwing a 2,000-pound shell with

50 per cent greater muzzle velocity than the old 16.25-inch gun using powder. The secret of this increase in efficiency is that the charge of the old 110-ton gun had not only to drive out the projectile but also some 600 pounds of smoke, while less than 50 per cent of the charge was effective.

The introduction of rapid-fire machine guns made the smoke trouble still more serious and rendered a smokeless powder a necessity.

In any successful explosive certain conditions have to be fulfilled. One must be able to concentrate in a small space bodies which will act upon each other independently of the air with enormous rapidity, forming the largest possible volumes of gas, which, having to find way for itself, gives the explosive effect. If this change takes an appreciable time the body can be used as a "propellant" in a gun, and gunpowder is of this character. When, however, the change takes place practically instantaneously it cannot be used in a gun and is used in high-explosive shells, bombs, torpedoes and mines, and such bodies we call "high explosives," gun-cotton and nitroglycerin being examples of this class. When, during the formation of the gas from the solid in explosion, other solid compounds are formed as well, the solids are blown out in fine particles and form a cloud, smoke. But if only gases are produced the explosion is smokeless. Gunpowder on being fired gives more than half its weight as solids, and therefore forms clouds of smoke. Gun-cotton is resolved entirely into gases and gives no smoke.

How Wounded Horses Are Nursed

WHEREVER it is possible wounded horses in the European war are given almost as careful attention as are the soldiers. The army council of Great Britain is reported to work out its plans for attending injured horses with just as great pains as it does wounded troopers.

To every division and cavalry brigade is attached a mobile veterinary section. Each consists of one officer and twenty-two trained men of the army veterinary corps, all mounted and fully equipped with all the necessary veterinary means. Their function is to relieve the field units of sick and inefficient animals. They are the connecting link between the field units and veterinary hospitals. The patients they obtain, after proper first aid treatment, are conveyed to the nearest railway and dispatched by train to the advanced veterinary hospital, the mobile veterinary section finding the party required to attend to the patient's wants during the railway journey.

Then comes the veterinary hospitals, ten in number, and situated at different points along the line of communication. Each is organized to deal with 100 cases, and has a staff of officers and trained men of the army veterinary corps. All necessary veterinary medicines, instruments and surgical means for dealing with the patients are provided. The cases are received into the advance hospital, and from there, after treatment, drafted, according to their severity, to the hospitals further down the line. The cases which end in complete recovery are discharged to the remount department for resue to the fighting troops, but many horses discharged from the hospital are found to require further rest before they are fit for resue. These are drafted to the convalescent horse depot.

small, well-sheltered paddocks, receiving extra feed, and they are under the supervision of officers of the army veterinary corps. By this means a very large number of animals which would otherwise be lost to the state are saved, and again become thoroughly efficient troop horses.

At the conclusion of the Sino-Japanese war a monument was consecrated with much ceremony in Tokio to the memory of the horses lost in the war. The monument cost $40,000.

At the conclusion of the Russo-Japanese war the Japanese held a funeral service in Miyagi for the horses killed in the war with Russia.

When the Germans bombarded Louvain the first time bleeding, riderless horses galloped into the town in the front of the Belgian advance guard which had been in action.

The Lys victory in mid-October was due to a French horse. Two thousand French cuirassiers made a long detour and came to a point where they decided to cross, although the stream was deep and the current rapid. A courageous horseman swam the river with a rope about his shoulders, and when he reached the other side tied the rope to a tree. The rest of the men made their way over by holding to the rope. They got across without alarming the enemy.

Then they charged. It was a surprise. The enemy gave way. Then the infantry quick-marched to the river front, crossed on speedily erected pontoon bridges and pressed the advantage so that the Germans withdrew from Lys.

J. Stulton, English lance corporal, tells this story:

"One man of the 11th Lancers I found lying on his back with his eyes staring at the skies. He was dead without doubt. Standing over him was his horse, without a wound. It was looking into his face every few minutes, and then neighing in a pitiful way that sounded just like a human being in an excess of grief. To hear that poor animal was enough to bring tears to the eyes of the most hardened of men."

Do You Dine With Your Plants?

DO YOU ever think of inviting your plants to dinner?

An expert in plant life who took a large number of sundew plants and supplied half of them with nitrogenous food in the form of roast beef arrived at the following facts:

Of the plants that he fed, 60 per cent more survived than of the same number that were not fed in this way; their stems weighed 41 per cent more; they excelled the starved plants in the number of their seeds by 141 per cent; and in the aggregate weight of their seeds by 279 per cent.

Other scientists who have fed these plants with aphides of similar small insects have secured like results.

Gabriele d'Annunzio, the Poet, Who Has Reclaimed the Friendship of His Countrymen.

Eleanora Duse, the Tragedienne, With Whom All Italy Sympathized When d'Annunzio Revealed in a Book the Secrets of Their Love

Gabriele d'Annunzio, Beloved and Then Despised, Became Once More the Idol of His People Through His Fiery Denunciations of Austria and Eloquent Appeals for Battle—Scorned Because of His Heartless Treatment of the Great Duse, He Is Again a Hero.

EVERY country has its hero—its idol—in time of war. In England today Lord Kitchener is affectionately called 'K of K' and is looked upon as the man whose genius will save British arms from defeat. In Germany they speak of Kaiser Wilhelm in words akin to reverence and the name of King Albert is ever on the lips of the Belgians. France has her General Joffre, Austria her Franz Josef, and Turkey her Enver Bey Pasha. The eyes of Russia are turned toward Grand Duke Nicholas.

Italy's Own Idol.

Italy, throwing her fortunes into the greatest of all wars, chose an idol different from any of the other countries. He is not the king, though Victor Emmanuel is beloved by his people, he is not Premier Salandra, the leader of the war cabinet, he has not the epaulets of a general or the insignia of an admiral. The man of the hour is Signor Gabriele d'Annunzio, poet and dramatist.

Julius Caesar, returning from his triumphant conquest of Gaul, received no more fervid greeting from Rome than did d'Annunzio on his arrival there recently after several years of self-imposed exile.

He came to Rome an avowed agent of Mars. He preached war to his countrymen—and they were in a receptive mood. He stirred them to frenzy by his fiery denunciations of Austria, and when war finally was declared it was said that no one person had hastened the decree so swiftly as this famous writer.

Changes of Time.

That time changes everything is true in the case of Italy's love for the poet. Fifteen years ago, when Eleanora Duse, the great actress, declared that she would kill d'Annunzio her Italian countrymen applauded her and condemned the poet's book, 'Il Fuoco' ('Fire'), for whose heroine Duse herself admitted she was the unconscious model.

Both were artists. Both loved and understood the things that are of art—which alone served to draw them outside the commonplace currents of affairs and place them in a world by themselves. To the man, indeed, art was the only thing. It was the substance and the end of life. Everything might be, must be, sacrificed to it. But to the woman there was one thing greater than art—and that was love. To her strenuously vibrating nature a play, a book, a song were as nothing compared with the one mighty reality which womanlike she worshiped.

But the balance was too uneven, the scales had to turn. D'Annunzio grew tired. And one day he told her so.

'For a long time Duse struggled to recover from this soul-destroying, heart-deadening experience. D'Annunzio said his critics spent the interval in writing it all down in the novel which he well knew would be read the world over, and which he intended should add an additional cubit to his stature as an artist.

It is unlikely that any readers of the story failed to comprehend the cry of the humiliated, deserted woman. He has stolen my love and sold it! I will kill him!"

D'Annunzio apologized—two columns of apology, dripping with self-advertisement. He said he didn't mean Duse. Again she gave him the lie.

Judge which was right by the following summary.

The two main characters in 'Fire' are Stello Effrena, a poet, and Foscarina, a tragic actress. Their love is not led up to but assumed at the start. Foscarina finds herself attracted to the youth by a limitless love and terror. Effrena at the same time experiences an 'intellectual pleasure.'

In response to her admiration of his work he tells her that she is the artistic stimulus.

"It seems to me at times," he says to her, "that you have the power to impart some nameless but divine quality to the things that are born in my brain and to make them appear even to my own eyes remote and adorable. You reproduce in me at times the reverent amazement of the sculptor, who, having in the evening borne into the temple the images of the gods which he has wrought with heated labor and patient hand, returns the next morning to find them exalted on their pedestals and enveloped in a cloud of fragrant divinity that transforms the common material from which his hands have fashioned them."

Enter the Other Woman.

Then there appears another woman—Donatella Arvale, young, beautiful, gifted with a marvelous voice, and a friend of la Foscarina. She interests Effrena. The three spend an evening together. And at the end of it Donatella Arvale and Stello Effrena looked at each other with confused glances. And their faces, each reflecting the other's feeling, burned as though they had been leaning over a furnace or a crater."

After this the apprehension that la Foscarina has felt when with Effrena deepens into terror. She knows no further happiness. She lives through a period of deep abasement and humiliation, longing for death, yet consumed by her love for the poet.

At last she tells him that she longs to die. Indolently he asks her why.

First because you hate me, she replies.

'Do not torment yourself,' he says.

But she no longer has the power to move him deeply.

Doubts His Love.

A distrust of his faithfulness to her enters her mind.

'A horrible fear possessed her each time that she saw him go, each time that she saw him come. Departing, he might be on the way to some unknown love. Arriving, he might perhaps intend to take a last farewell of her.'

Do you think often of Donatella Arvale, Stello?" she asked him suddenly one day.

Yes, sometimes," he replied, after a minute's hesitation, feeling a repugnance for all lies and the necessity of resolving that love must transcend all little tricks and pretensions and become for him a source of strength and not of weakness, a free agreement, not a heavy chain.

The woman walked forward without swerving, but she had lost the sense of feeling throughout her body except for that terrible beating of her heart which shook her from neck to heel."

Thus little by little la Foscarina realizes the extent to which she has sacrificed herself to the poet. A younger woman seems to him more beautiful. Her own great love kindles in him no adequate response. Even the sacred moments when she has confided to him the bitterest passages of her own life story have for him, she suspects, only a literary value.

"Do you remember that evening of the tempest?" asked Stello one day. "How sweet you were, Fosca? A little earlier, on the Rialto bridge, I had found a motive, I had translated the speech of the elements

D'Annunzio as a War Poet

THE prohibition by the Italian government in 1912 of the collected edition of Gabriele d'Annunzio's war poems contributed to Italian newspapers was due chiefly to the unflattering allusions to certain European powers contained in one of the poems entitled 'A Ballad of the Dardanelles.'

D'Annunzio's reference to Austria and Emperor Francis Joseph was most bitter. The poem dealt with episodes in the history of Austrian-Italian relations—the troubles at Mantua when Austria endeavored to hold down her Italian subjects after the unsuccessful revolution of 1848.

Wrote d'Annunzio:

But one is more outraged than all the others. It is the saintly hanging angel of the eternal gallows. O gloomy Mantua, O stones of Belfiore, O ditches of Lombardy, O curving Bay of Trieste, was ever greater marvel seen?

The modesty of the two-headed eagle, which vomits forth like the vulture the undigested flesh of the corpses!

Yet more portentous! The hangman's rope, with its slipknot, which is now transformed into a girdle of virtue to surround the foul old executioner, while every night in his sleep he is cuffed by that covered hand loaded with rings which made a gory field of Croatia.

The seipred hand loaded with rings was taken presumably by the Italian censor to mean the hand of some Italian nobleman, cut off as he hung upon the gallows by a Croatian soldier.

Doest thou know what a motive is? A little stream from which there may grow a crowd of rivers a little seed from which may come a glory of forests a little spark from which may come an endless chain of fire, a nucleus productive of infinite force.

"There is not in the world of force any (thing more potent, more effectual). And to an active mind there is no higher joy than a development of this form of energy. A Joy! Yes, dear friends, but also sometimes a horror!"

All this and more is what Duse read and cried against. This stripping aside of all reserve, this portrayal of a heroine with great sad eyes, "no longer young," with a fatal capacity for loving this pitiless recital of the painful, sordid childhood of the great actress, the melancholy romance of her absolute abandonment of herself to the man who accepted her great love and found in it—a motive."

The unutterable cruelty of it all, supplemented by the novelist's airy denial that he had definite models for the characters in his book, excited Signora Duse into a frenzy. Time after time she sent for d'Annunzio to come to her. Repeatedly he failed her. To a man the writers of Italy and France espoused her cause. M. de Provost bitterly attacked d'Annunzio in the Paris prints.

But this is another day. The people of Italy, facing a crisis, forgot all else save the destiny of their country. Ben-Jamin Disraeli, the Earl of Beaconsfield, once said that "time is the great physician." In the case of d'Annunzio "war" might be substituted for "time."

Our Country--by Our President
A History of the American People By WOODROW WILSON

Two Installments Today

So many requests have been received from those who failed to read the first installment of this remarkable history last Sunday that The Constitution is running today both the first and second installments.

After today, the installments of President Wilson's history of America will consist of a full page each Sunday. The initial installment has elicited such widespread approval that The Constitution has no doubt this history will be one of the most interesting and most meritorious features that has ever been run by a southern newspaper.

Do not miss a single installment of 'Our Country by Our President'

THREE Most Important Things To TEACH A BABY— NATURE, MUSIC AND KINDNESS

"He has been and is a great force in the development and natural education of the child and the race. The child recognizes in the dog qualities superior to his own and regards him as a member of a common family. For a playfellow to an only child the dog fills an almost indispensable place, if the child is to repeat the race history, and his absence from a family of children is an irreparable loss."

The favorite pet animals among children, according to an inquiry among 3,000 boys and girls, are the dog, cat, canary, rabbit, horse and pigeon, in the order named. In an inquiry in which the sexes were separated it was found that boys prefer the dog, horse and rabbit, while girls prefer the cat, canary and parrot.

Children's love for flowers and their close sympathy and kinship with them is regarded by those who are concerned in the study of child-training as powerful aids in cultivating the imagination, the moral nature and the sense of beauty of the child. The value of flowers to the child, according to Alice Thayer, who has written extensively on the subject in the Pedagogical Seminary, is based on the "kindness and sympathy, which flowers arouse in the child and the predominately good and noble qualities with which they are endowed in terms of fancy."

By Mary Watts.

UMBOLDT said, "Whatever we wish to see introduced into the life of a nation must first be introduced into its schools."

The modern child training expert begins even earlier to inculcate the lessons which he wishes to enter most deeply into the consciousness of the coming generation. He begins with the child in arms and says, "Whatever we wish to see introduced into the life of a nation must first be introduced into the nursery."

With this idea in mind the very earliest playthings of children are now regarded as of foremost importance in child training, and those who wish to see the coming generation more humane and more keenly alive to the true beauty and joy of life than are the people of to-day begin while the babies are still in their cradles to introduce them to the great world of natural beauty, to the joy of song and art, and to the humanity and consideration for others which may be best developed in the young child through kind relationships with animals.

Many persons who have associated much with young children have noticed that they are always primarily interested to know what animals eat.

Mr. Michael Guyer, writing in the Pedagogical Seminary, points out the fact that this universal curiosity in regard to an animal's food is the natural first step to a broad and enthusiastic knowledge of animals.

"It is true," says Mr. Guyer, "that a crawfish, in terms of structure, is an astacooid macruran decapod, but never mind that. What the child is interested in is what and how it eats."

Mr. Guyer suggests that persons who wish to interest their children in animals should begin by answering their questions as to what the animals eat. The next step is how the animals get their food, how they are equipped for their work, whether they lay up food or eat what they need each day, &c. After the food habits of the animal are known, then the child will be interested in its methods of self-protection, its weapons, which may consist in flight, in armor, in color protection, in methods of signalling to its kind, &c. Next comes the animal's home, and the child wants to know whether it lives alone or in a colony, and if in a colony what part of the work each member of the group performs. The animal's means of protecting itself from bad weather will next interest the children.

After the children have become familiar with all the phases of caring for itself which are to be considered in relation to an animal, they may be still further interested by its manner of caring for its young. From the laying of the bird's egg through all the steps of parental instruction to the development of the creature to the mating stage the child will continue to delight in studying the animal if his questions on the actual life of some animal which may be watched are answered by his parents.

Dr. Hodge in "Nature Study and Life" points out the possibility of developing children's natural interest in plant and animal life into an enthusiasm constituting a "safe philosophy of life." And G. Stanley Hall says that in the love and study of nature are rooted the "great human interests of science, art, religion and human history and society."

As to the value of pet animals in child training, all observant persons, as well as those who have made a scientific study of the subject, are agreed. W. Fowler Bucke, writing in an educational publication, says that a genuine interest in a pet dog develops a humane spirit and creates a safeguard against many criminal offences.

Of the dog as a pet Mr. Bucke says:—

TRICKS IN ALL TRADES

RIVALING the Ancient Greeks and the Legendary Wooden Horse of Troy. The French Red Cross Are Shown Removing the Body of a German Sniper Who, Concealed in a Dummy Horse, Picked Off a Number of the Enemy Before Meeting the Same Fate.

The War Game Has Its Share of Them, as the Pictures on This Page Bear Witness—The Germans Have Been the More Adept at Their Use, Even to a Replica of the Trojan Horse.

ABOUT the opening of the eighteenth century, when the practice of warfare had settled down into an established routine, the word "strategy" in its proper sense was introduced into European military history. It meant, in the words of Moltke, "the practical adaptation of the means placed at a general's disposal to the attainment of the object in view."

In the present maelstrom of strife across the Atlantic anything that serves to bring victory is termed strategy by those employing it, whether it be an ingenious marshaling of troops in a brilliant assault or the resort to a trick that throws the enemy off his guard. The technical meaning of the word has again been discarded.

Aside from tragedies attending the return of the ruse, and the introduction of new devices, they are interesting as examples of human ingenuity. Take, for instance, the trick played recently by the Germans at Settles-sur-Ane—a trick similar to that which gave the crafty Greeks entrance into the City of Troy.

Hoping to reduce the number of French infantrymen that barred their advance, the Germans built a dummy horse and in it concealed a sniper. Armed with a powerful rifle, this son of the fatherland picked off quite a few of the enemy before the latter came to realize that there was something mysterious about the animal. A machine gun was trained on the horse, which, although hit many times, neither moved nor fell.

When no more shots came from the direction of the animal, an investigation was begun. The Frenchmen were not surprised to find it made of wood. The dead body of the German sniper was discovered when a door in the side of the horse was opened by the French Red Cross.

The English employed like tactics in getting their first troops ashore for the land operations against the Dardanelles. On the day preceding the landing the attention of Turkish patrols was called to a big collier drifting in apparent helplessness toward the shoals which lined the shores near the plains of Troy. While they watched the boat struck bottom, and in the gathering twilight the crew was seen to take to their boats and row hastily toward the sea.

Feeling sure that the stranded vessel would be safe for the night, the Turkish patrols made no attempt to board her; but when they approached again in the morning they were met by a sharp fire from 2,500 British troops, strongly entrenched and supported by a battery of field artillery. These troops had landed during the night from the apparent derelict.

However conspicuous the zebra may be at a circus, one can scarcely distinguish it from the tall grasses and trees in its natural habitat.

This has not been lost sight of by military experts. Along the German East African border the ponies of the soldiers have been dyed with permanganate of potash in order to make them less noticeable in the field.

The British surprised the world along this line when it became known recently that they had provided for a boat aero base, and had painted the vessel in such a peculiar manner as to make its outlines invisible to the enemy.

The capture of a German prisoner at Serlogue, after the Teutons had occupied the Champagne district for a number of weeks, revealed the wonderful thoroughness and ingenuity of the Kaiser's fighting forces. When searched a photograph taken from the prisoner confirmed the statement made by a French official in describing the battle at Malancourt Wood.

The photograph showed a helmeted Prussian, in a uniform made of asbestos, spraying liquid pitch to add fuel to the flames already blazing around an opposing trench.

The use of poisonous gases to dislodge a foe is also an innovation of this greatest of all wars.

The gases in question are, of course, peculiarly effective in confined places such as trenches, bombproofs and dugouts. To thwart the Germans British inventive genius has come to the front, helping out to no little extent. As a protection against the gas bombs a special respirator has been adopted. A small valve on top opens as the wearer exhales and shuts automatically as he inhales.

Many other tricks and devices are being used by the contending armies, among them that of placing dummy cannon where they will be seen by the enemy. The object of this is to draw the fire of the enemy, so that his exact position may be determined.

AMATEUR GARDENERS

The plot of an ardent gardener that we print below has been living in printed a long while. It was a little premature in its sanguinity, but it is still a good thing to see it still be given its space adding to our own urgings for a concerted campaign for the Atlanta Home Garden League.

cheapest commodities in America. We are facing an era of cheap printing and there are many literary folks who were raised in flat and on canned goods who can write more books about growing a garden than the average person interested in such matter has time or patience to read.

Dawn of a New Era

We are facing a new era. It is an era of co-operative work. The subject of home gardens has been the subject of the cultivation of waste spaces about our homes for many years.

Uncle Hastus knows the soil is sour and that last year the crop was so heavy that benches were allowed to rot on the ground in bulk rather than be packed and shipped at a financial loss.

Atlanta Children Sell Vegetables on the Streets

Have you seen them? The children of Atlanta who are selling flowers and vegetables on the street? Why not take your vegetables down and join their ranks?

The more I've thought of it and the civic influence that emanates from such a movement the more convinced become an expansion of the need for co-operative work right here in Atlanta among garden lovers.

Rural School Committee

The rural school committee is a recently created work in both the general and state federations. It is a sub-committee of the education department of the Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs. It is organized to cooperate with the state and county school superintendents in the matter of rural school improvement. The committee is composed of representatives from the Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs, the Georgia State Federation of Education, and the Georgia State Board of Education. Its primary purpose is to investigate the conditions of rural schools and to recommend ways in which they may be improved. The committee has held several meetings and has held numerous conferences with the state and county school superintendents. It has also held numerous conferences with the rural school teachers. The committee has found that the rural schools are in a very poor state of affairs. They are generally small and are poorly equipped. The teachers are generally poorly trained and are poorly paid. The parents are generally uneducated and are unable to help their children in their school work. The committee has found that the rural schools are in a very poor state of affairs. RURAL SCHOOL FACTS

There are 10,000,000 boys and girls enrolled in the rural schools of this country. Twenty-four states are employing special state agents to devote their entire time to rural schools. Georgia, which is a state supervisor of rural schools has been employed for several years with the following assistance from the southern educational board now has three such supervisors. These supervisors are: Mr. J. C. Hines, who is in charge of the rural schools of the state; Mr. J. C. Hines, who is in charge of the rural schools of the state; Mr. J. C. Hines, who is in charge of the rural schools of the state.

Clubs and Rural Schools

The widespread interest that has been aroused by what club women can do for rural schools two facts are evident. First, the lack of accurate knowledge of rural schools in many of our clubs. Second, the scarcity of rural clubs in rural districts and the consequent lack of direct medium through which the rural school committee and executive chairman may carry out their work. THE IMMIGRANT'S OWN LITERATURE FOR CLUB STUDY

The department of literature of the general federation calls particular attention to its new outline for club study, "The Immigrant as Seen Through History." The following extract from its preface indicates its point of view and purpose: "It has long been plain that the race which has dominated the early years of our history is fast passing from its place in the world. Other races are coming to the fore and the founders of the republic sometimes so distant that we are unable to understand them. Standard Rural Schools.

One plan for the improvement of the country and the general use is standardization of a standard school. The authorities fix a definition of a standard school. They then prepare score cards on which the school may be rated and a banner diploma or plate is awarded to each school whose score is sufficiently high. HALF HOLIDAY BEGINS WEDNESDAY

Retail Grocers and Butchers Decide at Big Mass Meeting to Have Mid-Week Rest—Hundreds to Close.

Editor Firing Line Please accept thanks of the Atlanta Retail Grocers and Butchers Association for your kind notice of our mass meeting Tuesday June 8 in the Firing Line Your notices have all been a help to us in getting out a crowd that certainly demonstrates the fact that the Firing Line is popular with the merchants—

Again thanking you we beg to remain very truly yours

W. G. B. ASSOCIATION J. P. E. SECRETARY

A half holiday on Wednesday during the summer months.

That is what the employees of practically every street and branch store in the city is going to enjoy.

The mass meeting on last Tuesday evening at the Chamber of Commerce hall was one of the largest attended in the history of the city.

The great number of representatives of the members of the Retail Grocers and Butchers Association present on that evening and the number of wholesalers, jobbers and city salesmen in attendance.

At the meeting a few years ago the growing tendency for a half Wednesday holiday has been growing and last year a great number of retailers gave their clerks a mid-week rest.

It was not an universal observation that should have been made Tuesday night was to settle the matter for the coming summer and after some discussion a vote was taken and much enthusiasm the half holiday was declared only three votes being in dissent.

Since the meeting a large number of themselves as going to comply with the decision of the big majority.

At the meeting the members of the association have been making out closing agreements to decide on and to make in closing in a list of signers.

The Wednesday closing will begin next Wednesday June 16 and continue until September.

East Point College Park and Hapeville stores had already agreed to close and Mr. E. says that he has never seen such unanimity.

The merchants from Colonial Hills to Buckhead and from Oakhurst to Howell Hills road turning their intention to close on June 16.

There are no dealers who have not yet had an opportunity to sign one of the closing agreements and the desire to cooperate with the movers in this good work has been requested to call on the Atlanta Association and communicate with Secretary E. G. Rice.

There will be no picnic for the summer the Wednesday closing taking its place.

In their announcement to the retailers the officers of the association say:

Ask your lady friends your customers to get their ministers announce the closing from their pulpits requesting the ladies to observe with the grocers and butchers in giving their consent to a half holiday one each week.

Prayer meetings too.

J. W. RAWLINGS NOW MANAGER AT AVERY'S

Well-Known Chattanooga Took Charge of Implementation Co. on June 1.

J. W. Rawlings the new manager for the Chattanooga office of the Avery company is now in charge of the Nashville office headquarters. Mr. Rawlings is a man of large experience in the agricultural implement field. He comes to this city from Chattanooga where for seventeen years he was connected with the sales department of the Chattanooga office. He is visiting in that time practically all the agricultural countries of the world and establishing a large export trade for his company. He began his duties for the Avery company on June 1.

Mr. Rawlings has already learned to like the city and he likes it better every day. He will bring his family here immediately and will be accustomed in social as well as business circles. While living in Chattanooga Mr. Rawlings was much interested in new affairs and while in the office himself always took an active interest in the things which looked to the betterment of his city.

GOLDIN HARNESS CO. SOON TO MOVE TO LARGER QUARTERS

Demanding larger and handsomer quarters on account of the steady growth of business the Goldin Harness Co. will on June 15 move into the new building.

In connection with the move comes the announcement that the firm's automobile department will be enlarged for upholstering work for recovering tops, seat covers and all other kinds of upholstery work about an automobile. Build on its reputation on the fact that it has the highest quality of work and the best service. The Goldin Harness Co. is the largest harness maker in the city and its patronage is not only in the city but through the entire South. The firm's job is to make the harness of the horse and the harness of the house and the harness of the size of the job and the quality of the work is given careful and correct attention.

The firm has many unusual kinds of work in its line and the Goldin Harness Co. is the largest harness maker in the city and its patronage is not only in the city but through the entire South. The firm's job is to make the harness of the horse and the harness of the house and the harness of the size of the job and the quality of the work is given careful and correct attention.

We look forward to the future as containing bright prospects for business in this country. Mr. Goldin says that he has never seen such unanimity in the city and that he has never seen such unanimity in the city and that he has never seen such unanimity in the city.

"C. H. S." FACTORY NOW CROWDED WITH ORDERS

Due to the large demand for "C. H. S." cigars the factory owned by Val Antonio has become the busiest in the country. It is one of the busiest in Florida.

Mr. Antonio with a wealth of leaf and cigar manufacturing experience has made the "C. H. S." brand which has become a household name. A permanent customer it is said so this is probably the reason why the file of orders delivered to the factory is so thickly crowded to insure heavy shipments all summer.

Mr. Antonio's general representation of the brand for the entire United States is duplicating a splendid performance. He has not only the most complete line of distributors with the aims of the manufacturer. Mr. Antonio's southern trip was the most profitable in point of orders that he has ever made.

Collections Improving.

With good crops in sight corn and a bumper bean crop and gardens so good as I have ever seen said W. O. Stamps it looks like business generally is beginning to get a move on.

Our June business has been exceptional good and our collections have improved materially. This is good news for a good year for pickling and preserving and it is almost impossible to keep patrons supplied with fruit jars.

Bentley With All-Star.

J. W. Bentley of Birmingham an experienced and popular southern salesman is now carrying the All-Star brand of cigars for the Atlanta and southern markets. He only recently went with the company but has already begun to make a big business. Manager Steele of the company reports that the June business has been very good and that the Bentley brand is doing very well.

Demand for Vinegar.

The pickling season has brought on a great demand for vinegar and pickling spices many of the wholesale houses reporting good business in this line. Our salesmen have placed many orders within the past few days for vinegar and spices. The Bentley brand is doing very well.

Loose Leaf Sample Book.

The Silver force of firing lines are adopting the new method for showing goods and samples of carrying a number of large trunks are now containing their samples to a loose leaf sample book. It is a moving convenience as well as a time saver and is much more economical. A number of our boys have been in the past week getting up their books.

Classy Writing Material.

Merchants who want the best word in stationery will do well to take the matter up with the Hirschberg Co. It has only recently received a consignment of some of the swiftest writing material seen here in some time. Names of the company are the packers of the stamped Hirschberg and in this and cuts are right up to the minute.

Ed Lonsberg president of the Bindery Picture Frame Manufacturing Co.

Ed Lonsberg president of the Bindery Picture Frame Manufacturing Co. who left the city last week for an extended trip through the Carolinas was compelled to return home on Friday owing to indisposition. He was improved sufficiently Saturday to be able to hope to get out again the first of the coming week.

UNCLE SAM RECEIVING PARCEL POST PACKAGES OF ATLANTA-MADE SHOES FOR SOUTH AMERICA

SOUTHERN WHOLESALE DRY GOODS MERCHANTS MEET HERE ON JUNE 18

Reports from nearby cities are that large parties are being formed to go on this outing.

Those who have ever been with the C. S. A. have many pleasant recollections of their trips and look forward with eager anticipation to the coming trip.

We go over the Georgia railroad leaving Atlanta Friday evening, June 18. Last issue as chairman of the committee on arrangements and is ever ready to furnish any information desired.

The savings department inaugurated in the C. S. A. during the past year has been a complete success many of our members having large deposits which will be distributed to them by the trip.

Business is very good for the season and taking things all in all a spirit of hopefulness is out in front and pessimism is buried good and deep.

FIRING LINE NOTES

T. S. McCants assistant to F. S. Patterson manager of the southern Moline Plow company is making a two week trip to high Florida on business for his house.

L. Burrus one of the best known among the travelers for implement houses having been connected with a large southern house for some time is now with the southern Moline Plow company.

B. C. Jones south Alabama man for John Silves & Co. ran into the house last week with a bunch of nice orders.

Thomson's Rose Tip cigarettes were distributed at the barbecue at Kimballville farm on Wednesday when F. M. or Will Zimmer was host to the Greater Club.

Robert H. Patterson spent a few days in Macon this week in the interests of the Rose Tip cigarettes.

The Ins Saturday at Fain & Stamps were outwards by T. Cullpepper, Alton Edwards W. S. Gaston and E. H. Messer. They were in attendance at the semi-weekly sales conference Saturday.

E. L. Adams and J. L. Baldwin delegates from the Atlanta Credit Men's association left last Thursday for Salt Lake City. They will visit the western part before heading for home.

Fred Thomas, secretary of the Rice & Hutchins Atlanta company, returned Saturday from a most successful trip to Savannah and that section during last week's trip. He met several other job lots in shoes which were eager to pick up and Fred did a thriving business on his trip.

George S. Thémelis of the New York office of the Rice & Hutchins Atlanta company is getting better each day for Thémelis Rose Tip cigarettes for the city in New York and the summer resorts nearby.

J. L. Williams who handles Florida territory for the Rice & Hutchins Atlanta company sent into the house during last week a number of nice orders which he put over for the lot of shoes the company is now offering.

Sam Hanes a Ragan-Malone firing liner brought in Saturday one of the largest bunches of orders the shipping department has had for some time.

P. J. Lee who represents the Rice & Hutchins Atlanta company in middle and south Georgia was unfortunately laid up all of the past week with illness. He was in bed for several days but he hopes to be out again the coming week.

Morris Croft was among the Ragan-Malone boys who rolled in Saturday bringing with him an order book nicely marked up.

A number of travelers for the A. M. Robinson company were in Saturday and they were all extending the glad hand as J. E. Robinson, the old war

REMODELING ORPHEUM FOR BIG TOBACCO HOUSE

J. N. Hirsch, Owner of Building, Will Move His Wholesale Quarters Soon.

When the large force of workmen who are now busy remodeling the old Orpheum theater on Marietta street finish with their work they will have prepared one of the most commodious and airy homes that house any of the city's big wholesale tobacco jobbers.

For several years J. N. Hirsch has been located within a few floors of the old theater building but on account of the large increase in his business he has been compelled to seek larger quarters. Last year he purchased the theater property and is now having it completely overhauled to suit his needs. He has had the theater enlarged to an ample room and will make for his big business one of the most desirable locations in the city.

The tobacco house will occupy the first two floors a total of nearly 40,000 feet of floor space. The building will have concrete floors and elaborate plans have been made for one heavy plate glass and copper forming the chief material to be used.

BILL QUARLES HASN'T FORGOTTEN HOW TO HANDLE RETAIL STORE

Bill Quarles, who was for several years with Fain & Stamps as city salesman has lost none of his knowledge of the department store arrangement of a retail grocery store.

Since Mr. Quarles took the management of the retail grocery store he has brought about many improvements in the interior arrangement and the appearance of the store. The building was erected in 1910 and is a fine example of retail grocery store architecture.

Just now he is having a force of workmen rearrange some of the floor space. Under the new arrangement completed Mr. Quarles says he will have one of the most conveniently arranged retail grocery stores in the south.

STANDARD COLOR CARD RECEIVED BY JOBBERS

Several of Atlanta's local dry goods jobbers and mechanical departments who have been the first to receive the standard color card for this county, which is now in the hands of subscribers is beginning to appear in the market.

The initial effort of the Textile Color Card association of the United States in producing a standard color card was for the most part favorable. It goes without saying that there were some criticisms of the new card though no more serious than would be expected in a case of this kind.

It goes without saying that there were some criticisms of the new card though no more serious than would be expected in a case of this kind. This appears to be commended by the silk market as a whole and from the interest shown by other branches of the textiles a meeting a general need of many manufacturers having been in the habit of setting out from season to season their own color cards they have pretty settled ideas of certain colors.

horse, for his splendid record last week. He brought in a bunch of excellent orders from his Georgia road territory.

Ed M. Lonsberg secretary treasurer of the Binder Picture Frame Manufacturing Co. will make a trip to Albany on the coming Tuesday. He is looking after some personal business.

Friends at the McCord Stewart Co. have received letters from H. A. M. Donald one of the popular travelers for the company. He is now on an extended western trip that he will be in and is enjoying his trip immensely. He will visit the western exposition before returning home.

H. J. Atwood who travels northeast Georgia for the McCord-Stewart Co. will spend several days the coming week with his mother at Franklin Tenn.

SLATON TO SPEND TODAY IN STUDY OF FRANK APPEAL

Hearing Adjourned at Mid-day Saturday Until Monday Morning at Request of Solicitor Dorsey.

BROWN TAKES STAND AGAINST COMMUTATION

Former Governor Declares Mercy Should Not Be Permitted to Interfere With the Ends of Justice.

Governor Slaton announced Saturday at the first session of the Leo M. Frank hearing on the commutation appeal that he would continue most of Sunday to study of the Frank case in an effort to conserve time and expedite the hearing now in progress.

The main feature of the first morning's session of the final Frank appeal was an address delivered by M. M. Sessions, a business man of Marietta, who, in a short address declared that he declared that the question of mercy should not enter into the Frank case and that it should be considered entirely from a judicial standpoint.

The former governor appeared as a member of the delegation from Cobb county, which was organized last Monday night a week ago at the mass meeting held in the Cobb county courthouse when an audience of Cobb citizens met to protest against the move to commute Frank.

The delegation was headed by M. M. Sessions, a business man of Marietta, who, in a short address declared that he declared that the question of mercy should not enter into the Frank case and that it should be considered entirely from a judicial standpoint.

Another address protesting against commutation was made by Herbert Clay solicitor of the Blue Ridge circuit superior court whose home is in Marietta. Sessions and the solicitor were followed by Mr. Brown.

Solicitor Dorsey busied himself until late Saturday night preparing a brief of argument which he will submit to the governor Monday morning as a part of his fight against the clemency appeal. He was in conference throughout the afternoon with ex-Governor Brown and with Detectives John Starnes and Pat Campbell, prosecutors of Leo Frank and investigators of the Mary Phagan murder.

A visit will be made Monday by Governor Slaton. He announced Saturday morning that he desired to inspect the pencil plant building and familiarize himself with surroundings so that he could visualize the various phases of evidence in the case.

The argument for Frank's defense is being made by Attorney William Howard of Augusta, the former congressman who led the fight before the prison commission. He spent most of Saturday morning outlining the plan of defense he had adopted which was devoted largely to the evidence in the case. He stated that he would take the testimony and the evidence of the prosecution and reveal the negro Conley guilty instead of Frank.

In this regard he submitted to the governor nineteen instances exclusive of the Conley testimony which he said pointed to the guilt of the prosecution. These instances were:

1. Frank was the last person to see Mary Phagan alive.
2. Frank rescued Newt Lee from a 4 to 6 o'clock in the afternoon.
3. His reluctance to receive Gantt at the factory.
4. He telephoned Newt Lee at 7:30 o'clock.
5. The testimony of Albert McKnight.
6. Frank's nervousness on the morning that he was found in a commotion of the body at the undertaker's.
7. Frank's disinclination to look at the body at the undertaker's.
8. His early employment of counsel.
9. His failure to inform the detectives that the notes were in the handwriting of the defendant.
10. His failure to confront Conley in the presence of the jury.
11. His testimony as to his alleged immoral conduct.
12. Failure of attorneys for the defense to cross examine character witnesses.
13. Frank's failure to stand cross examination on the stand.
14. The alleged blood spots on the second floor.
15. Alleged hair on turning lathe second floor.
16. Alleged efforts to approach Mary Phagan.
17. Alleged looking into dressing rooms of women employees.
18. All these Attorney Howard declared were not sufficient to convict Frank and all could be satisfactorily explained.

Governor Slaton showed a profound interest in many details of the Frank evidence. It was apparent from the beginning that he intended going extremely into the case and leaving no stone unturned. He frequently broke into the remarks of Mr. Howard to press inquiries and at times called upon Mr. Dorsey who was sitting nearby for explanations of certain elements of evidence.

Mr. Howard's Speech. The petitioners assert the absolute innocence of Leo M. Frank began Mr. Howard to ask and will contend that we only ask a commutation of the sentence. We do not ask a change of the jury's verdict. We do not ask a change of the jury's verdict. We do not ask a change of the jury's verdict. We do not ask a change of the jury's verdict.

The Road to Tomorrow!

EISEMAN BUILDING LEASED BY M'CLURE

Ten-Cent Company to Pay $250,000 for 10-Year Rental—Will Remove About September 1.

The McClure Ten Cent company has leased and will occupy in the early fall the Eiseman Brothers store at No. 11 Whitehall street, to which it will transfer both its retail and wholesale business.

Announcement of the lease was made Saturday by President C. W. McClure of the company and while no details were given it is stated the aggregate rental for the ten year period upon which the lease is based will be a quarter of a million dollars or about $250,000 a year.

The Eiseman building is one of the largest best known and most advantageously located retail buildings in Atlanta. It has a frontage of 70 feet on Whitehall street, with a depth of about 150 feet, has six stories above its basement and a floor space of more than 45,000 square feet.

It is the McClure Ten Cent company's purpose to use the ground floor second floor and basement for retail purposes and the four upper stories for its wholesale department which has recently grown and very large proportions.

President McClure has had his eye on this building for some time, and he took advantage of the first opportunity that came to him for securing it. The lease contract was concluded through Hamilton Douglas, Sr., of the firm of Douglas & Douglas.

In moving from its present quarters to the new store, which will give it both a better location and more space, the company will have two valuable centrally located stores for subsales, those at Whitehall and Hunter and at Broad and Hunter streets, the former now occupied by the retail department and the latter by the wholesale.

Mr. McClure came to Atlanta nine years ago and has achieved a marked success in the ten-cent store business. He started in business at 77 Whitehall street, and at that time the center of the business was almost entirely in his hands as he had to attend to practically all of its details. Within a few years, however, it grew to such proportions that larger quarters were needed, and it was removed to the building at Whitehall and Hunter streets.

MACHINE SMASHED AND DRIVER INJURED DURING RAINSTORM

Judson Willingham and Robert Caldwell narrowly escaped death yesterday afternoon when Willingham's roadster skidded into the rear end of a White hall street electric car that had stopped in front of them.

The accident occurred in front of the Guthman laundry and during the severest part of the blinding rainstorm. Caldwell, who was driving was badly bruised being thrown over the steering wheel and landing on the hood.

Caldwell and Willingham went to their homes on a street car and the partly wrecked car was removed to a nearby garage on an auto truck.

CLOUDBURST HALTS MANY STREET CARS

Heavy Damage Done in Several Sections of Atlanta by Rain of Late Saturday Afternoon.

As a result of the sudden cloudburst which struck Atlanta shortly after 6 o'clock last night cars of the Georgia Railway and Power company on eleven different lines of Atlanta and suburbs were either derailed or held up for some time by the large volume of water and deposits of sand washed by the water onto the tracks.

In some instances where the flow of water was greatest the cellars and basements of houses were flooded and damage done household goods and other things stored in those places.

Lines Are Blocked. The lines which were blocked the worst were the Whitehall and West End near Gordon and Langhorn streets which were blocked for several hours the College Park line, near its junction with the Hapeville route, which was held up thirty minutes, on account of derailment the Buckhead line, between Seventeenth and Eighteenth streets which was blocked for the Pittsburg line held up at the end of the line twenty minutes, the Georgia avenue line, near Grant park held up twenty minutes on account of sand on the track cars on Euclid avenue, at the corner of Lake avenue, on the Inman Park car line on the Decatur main line near the corner of Josephine and DeKalb streets on Highland avenue at the corner of Blue Ridge avenue held up over an hour Capitol avenue line, at the corner of Ormond street.

CARRANZA BIDDING FOR THE SUPPORT OF UNITED STATES

In a Proclamation "First Chief" Says That His Government Is Entitled to Recognition by Other Powers.

Washington, June 12.—President Wilson had before him tonight the first reply to his recent statement regarding Mexico. It consisted of a lengthy proclamation to the people issued yesterday by General Carranza asserting the right of the constitutional government to recognition by the United States and other foreign powers.

"At this time we believe ourselves to be in a position to overcome this last difficulty because the constitutional government is now actually in definite possession of sovereignty and the legitimate exercise of sovereignty is the essential condition which should be taken into account when deciding upon recognition of a government."

General Villa's answer also reached Washington today but was not delivered at the state department. Until it is presented the Villa agency declined to make public the text.

Department officials declined to comment on the abstract of the Villa statement carried in press dispatches or upon a copy of a letter from Villa to Carranza, also received at the agency, which urges that differences be forgotten and suggests a personal meeting between the two leaders to arrange for co-operation and restoration of peace.

What Carranza Says. General Carranza's proclamation was promptly laid before President Wilson, and state department officials would not discuss it. The document recites the history of the revolution, beginning with the Madero uprising and what is termed the economic and social inequality of the colonial epoch. The length of the revolution, it asserts is due to attempts at compromises with the elements of the old regime at Ciudad Juarez.

President Madero's failure the document attributes to the opposition from Orozco, Reyes and Felix Diaz, of the old regime, and Zapata, instigated by their adherents. General Huerta, it contends, consummated the movement of the revolution in cooperation of a group of foreigners favored by the old regime who surrounded Henry Lane Wilson, former American ambassador to Mexico, and under the pretext of saving Mexico City from war.

The statement explains that as governor of the state of Coahuila General Carranza assumed representation of the republic in accordance with the constitution which by its own terms will not lose its force and vigor even though through some rebellion its observance is interrupted.

RUSSIANS THRUST AT TEUTON ALLIES ALONG RIVER LINE

Another Big Battle Being Fought by Czar's Forces and Austro-Germans on the Dniester in Galicia.

TEUTONS STILL STRIVING TO CAPTURE LEMBERG

Heavy Fighting Also Continues in Baltic Provinces and on East Prussian Frontier—Fighting Is Continuous on Western Front.

London, June 12.—Another big battle is being fought along the line of the Dniester river in Galicia, in which Russian forces are pitted against those of Austria and Germany. Those German troops which had crossed the Dniester at Zurawna having been driven back and the Russians in eastern Galicia and Bukowina also having been forced to withdraw to the river the two armies now face one another across the wide and crooked stream each making thrusts in an effort to gain the initiative for an offensive.

The Austrians in their official report claim to have succeeded in crossing the Dniester river in Galicia, a movement which in view of their recent experience near Zurawna might prove dangerous.

TEUTONS AIM AT LEMBERG

The Austro-Germans however still have Lemberg as their objective and they are not likely to allow any reverses they have suffered near Zurawna and east of Przemysl to put them off from fighting as severe as any witnessed in recent weeks may be expected during the next few days.

Heavy fighting also continues in the Baltic provinces and on the East Prussian frontier, in which both sides claim advantages. With the view doubtless of preventing the Russians from sending reinforcements to either of their wings the Germans yesterday attacked along the Rawa river between Boimann and Schachnow the scene of important battles last winter. In yesterday's attack the Germans claim to have broken into the Russian positions and to have taken 3,000 prisoners.

FIGHTING CONTINUES ON WESTERN FRONT

At points between Rheims and north of Arras the French continue their attacks which they report to have been successful but which the Germans however invariably state have been repulsed.

Although no big forward movement has been made fighting is almost continuous along the line from the sea to Champagne and in the Vosges. The important role in these operations for to them falls the task of holding large German forces on their front by threatening the Germans from sending relief to the troops which the French are assailing.

MORE SUCCESSES FOR THE RUSSIANS

Petrograd, June 12.—(Via London).—Additional Russian successes are chronicled in an official statement. Probably the most important of these victories was on the Dniester near Str. Several villages also have been captured on the left bank of the Dniester in the same region.

The communique follows: On the night of the tenth and the eleventh the Russian troops were successful in capturing the village of...

Washington Pew Plate Bearing His Autograph Is Stolen From Church

Alexandria, Va., June 13.—A silver pew plate bearing the autograph of George Washington was stolen today from Christ church of which he was a member during his residence at Mount Vernon. It is suspected a tourist was guilty. The plate was a fac simile copy of the original used by Washington which was stolen shortly after the civil war.

A leaf also was taken today out of the old Bible on the Masonic altar of the lodge of which Washington was a member.

American Note Makes Distinctly Favorable Impression at Berlin

GERMANY SHOWN HIGHWAY TO PEACE

And Washington Believes Route Will Be Followed. Optimistic Feeling in Regard to German Answer.

Washington, June 12.—Official announcement of the delivery of the American note to Germany reiterating insistence that submarine warfare conform to rules of humanity and international law was received today from Ambassador Gerard at Berlin.

The message came at the close of a day marked by a more optimistic feeling in official quarters that the German answer would forestall any possibility of war between the two nations and also avoid a breach of diplomatic relations.

Apparently there was a general relaxation of tension in the international situation. President Wilson spent part of the day of the note at it be known that later in the month he planned to take a short vacation at Cornish. No answer to the American rejoinder is expected for ten days at least.

Note Changed, Says Bryan

Former Secretary Bryan who resigned rather than sign the second note to Germany, issued another statement today declaring that the note was materially revised following the presentation of his resignation. The revision Mr. Bryan averred softened the note but was not sufficient to justify him in withdrawing his resignation.

It is true, said Mr. Bryan, that I saw the final draft of the note just before my resignation took effect but it contained an important change which I did not see until after my resignation. As Germany had suggested arbitration I felt that we could not do less than reply to this offer by extending the principle of arbitration to the principle of the peace treaties to the case.

It was the change in the note, Mr. Bryan was asked, which I do not discuss that he replied.

The Clause Added to Note

It was suggested that the clause added to the note was the second American officials had not thoroughly performed their duty in examining the note. These papers admit that the note contains little that is new but they rejoice at its friendly tone. The Vossische Zeitung says: There is no difference of opinion about the desirability of saving lives. The note opens the way for negotiations between Germany and America regarding what Germany can do and what America must do to protect life in the future.

Way Opened for Peace

Throughout official quarters there was an optimistic feeling that the United States in its firm yet friendly insistence that Germany conform to principles of humanity and international law had opened the way for Berlin to continue peaceful relations. Mr. Bryan's reply, it was expected, would be the keynote of the German progress.

King of Greece Improving

Washington, June 12.—King Constantine of Greece is improving according to dispatches to the legation today which say his temperature has varied only a little from the normal in the last twenty-four hours. The king still is unable to sit up.

Conciliatory Tone of the Message From the United States Seems to Have Evoked Responsive Attitude on Part of Germans.

EVEN THE STIFF-NECKED ADMIT NOTE OPENS WAY TO ADJUST CONTROVERSY

German Policy Will Not Be Definitely Decided Until the Kaiser and Advisers Hear Report of Special Envoy From Von Bernstorff—Believed That the Kaiser Will Speak Final Word as to Answer.

Berlin, June 12.—(Via London June 14 12:35 p.m.)—The text of the American note was published today in the Berlin afternoon newspapers. Definite statements as to the attitude of the German government with respect to the note are not yet available but in circles which while themselves not officials responsible are often good barometers of the sentiment in responsible quarters the note seems to have made a distinctly favorable impression and is believed to offer the possibility of negotiations on which satisfactory settlement might be reached.

Conciliatory Tone Pleases

The conciliatory tone of the note apparently has evoked a responsive attitude among the individuals who in the earlier stages of the negotiations displayed stiff-necked adherence to their own views which made discussion almost impossible are now willing to talk of compromises in which the compromise would not be all on one side. The official viewpoint probably can be correctly appraised only after conferences of the imperial chancellor Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg, the foreign secretary Herr von Jagow and representatives of the army and admiralty the naval and general staff. The emperor, it is believed, will speak the final word.

It is understood that these conferences will begin immediately. The answer will certainly not be drafted and will not be definitely decided upon before Dr. Anton Meier-Gerland, special envoy from Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador at Washington has arrived and made his report.

Open Way for Negotiations

Both The Lokai Anzeiger and The Vossische Zeitung have the second American note as opening the way for their negotiations between Germany and the United States, which both profess to believe will straighten out the situation. These papers admit that the note contains little that is new but they rejoice at its friendly tone. The Vossische Zeitung says: There is no difference of opinion about the desirability of saving lives. The note opens the way for negotiations between Germany and America regarding what Germany can do and what America must do to protect life in the future.

Theodore Roosevelt accompanied by Mrs. Roosevelt will pass through Atlanta today for his home in Oyster Bay after spending a week's outing with John M. Parker progressive national committeeman, and other friends of Louisiana. He will not visit in Atlanta on this occasion nor speak during his short stay at the Terminal station.

German arguments will be repeated and their justification proved.

Desires for Negotiations.

"It would be premature to go into details, especially of technical nature, now. It is enough to be satisfied that the Wilson note is so constructed as to admit the possibility of additional negotiations. He himself shows a desire for such negotiations. He suggests that the German government produce further proofs of its sincerity in the claims regarding the Lusitania, and declares himself ready to act as an intermediary between the United States and Great Britain regarding mutual concessions so far as submarine warfare is concerned.

"True, this offer would have been of considerable more value if the president had explained that he was willing to make the same preparations, whereas he intimated that Germany and Great Britain should initiate the suggestions.

"However that may be, the United States will see from further negotiations that Germany has an honorable desire to treat a friendly suggestion in a friendly spirit.

"At all events, the situation created by the publication of the note is such that the hypothesis heralded throughout the world that America also was at the ranks of our enemies is now shown to be once more the old case of the wish father to the thought."

Harmonizing Views Possible.

Captain Persius, the naval expert of the "Vossische Zeitung," writes:

"A harmonizing of views is possible, and the Washington government shows a sincere disposition to reach an understanding with the United States. American note it by no means takes the view that the German admiralty must order a suspension of submarine warfare before negotiations can proceed. He regrets that the United States has failed only to appreciate German efforts to bring about such restrictions upon the activity of the submarine, provided the British abandoned their efforts to blockade Germany."

He adds that it is certain that no satisfactory solution is possible unless Great Britain makes this concession, and Great Britain is the first to break the international law.

He concludes: "We have firm confidence that the United States will smooth the way to a complete understanding which will give victory to justice and humanity."

No Sharpness in Note.

The Vossische Zeitung, in discussing the note, says:

"The note happily contains nothing of that sharpness which, according to dispatches from Berlin, was contained, nor is there even a threat to break off diplomatic relations. On the contrary, the note is moderate, certain warmth and an acknowledgment of the legality to be found on the German side.

The line of thought and the tone of the note do not make it easily understandable that it brought about the break between Germany and the United States. After the declarations made by Mr. Bryan one expected a note which would have been a direct appeal to the American people, and which would have been a direct appeal to the American people, and which would have been a direct appeal to the American people."

Referring to Robert Lansing, the Vossische Zeitung says:

"This gentleman cannot be regarded as an unconditional Anglophile, he once wrote a letter in the name of being England's messenger boy."

AUSTRIAN ATTACKS ON THE UNITED STATES.

Zurich, June 12.—(Via London).—Official opinion in Austria which latterly has been none too friendly to the United States, is manifest in a vehement attack which appears in the Vienna newspaper, The New Freie Presse, against America for supplying munitions to the entente powers.

The importance attaches to the article, which is published in full sanction of the government, if it is not directly official, inspired since the entire contents of the Austrian newspaper are subjected to a triple form of censorship before its forms are put on the press.

Declaring that Americans have sold a billion dollars worth of munitions of war to the enemies of Austria and Germany, while the ministers of the American government are praying for peace, the article says:

"Those who bring munitions cannot bring peace, and where so many voices are demanding the breaking off of relations with Germany can hardly be faithful from which the world can gain a new salvation."

If America refuses to submit the Lusitania dispute to arbitration, she embitters relations with Germany and raises questions of might. She is pursuing a policy which threatens her neutrality and which is being waged by America, public sentiment is already against Germany. German soldiers are being killed or wounded by American ammunition. Much more than this cannot happen, and the difference would be scarcely noticeable."

TRIBUTE PAID TO WILSON.

London, June 12.—In a two-column tribute to President Wilson, Alfred G. Gardiner, editor of The Daily News, says:

"No man in the democratic world today is so entirely governed by principle and moral sanctions. President Wilson is not merely the first citizen of the United States, but the first citizen of the world. He makes mistakes, no doubt, for he is human, but they never are the mistakes of a man; they never are the mistakes of a political gambler or one touched by sordid motives of ambition."

Emperor William has made many miscalculations about nations and men, but his greatest miscalculation was in regard to Mr. Wilson and the United States. Incidentally, there also has been much misconception on the same subject in the countries which have joined the war. His attitude has conformed to the historic tradition of the United States of non-interference in European affairs, but he realizes the world has changed and the United States can no longer remain hermetically sealed.

The capture between President Wilson and Mr. Bryan will be one of the great landmarks of the war. It is a mercy for the world that the nomination struggle the amiable dreamer was defeated by the statesman referring to the rights of the rights of American citizens. President Wilson is defending the sacred ark of freedom. He will go to war, but it can be avoided with honor, but the integrity of the United States in his supreme concern and it is safe in his hands."

OUTCOME PUT UP TO GERMANY.

London, June 12.—The London afternoon newspapers express inability to understand Secretary Bryan's resignation. The Westminster Gazette characterizes it as "mystifying," and says it seems to have been a concession to the American note to Germany in the nature of an ultimatum founded on force. The American press, on the other hand, usually upbraided for their commercialism, have applauded the world for their altruistic stand for the cause of humanity.

"President Wilson places himself in the line of direct descent from the great American presidents," says The Fall Mail Gazette says.

"President Wilson is determined that if Germany fails to accept a truce with the United States she shall do so with the colors of piracy firmly nailed to her flagstaff." Standard firmly of the American note to Germany.

with the colors of piracy firmly nailed to her flagstaff.

Standard firmly of the American note to Germany.

"The first note submitted a point of view which is entirely in accordance with this point of view will be accepted. By putting forward this definite ultimatum, Germany is irrevocably committed itself to the part of the German government—and the language of the German press is such that it is impossible to see the possibility of anything but a refusal—can no longer be accepted with respect to Germany. It is pledged to action of some sort, though by no means warlike actions. It will be based on the German note. The Standard argues that the Germans, now that their food supplies have proved ample, can afford to suspend the blockade of Britain, but we do not believe German opinion, public or private, is in a mood for it."

FRENCH EDITORS PRAISE WILSON.

Paris, June 12.—Unqualified admiration for the firm, dignified and courteous tone of President Wilson's note to Germany is expressed by the Paris newspapers. While it is considered in no sense an ultimatum, the press considers the language so clear as to leave no room for further discussion or a complex controversy. President Wilson, it is held, goes straight to the point by insisting that Germany should decide whether she will respect in future the rights of non-combatants and the laws of humanity.

The words "solemn representations" which occur in the note, says The Parisian, are interpreted as meaning withstanding the perfect politeness of its tone, the paper asserts such words are used in diplomatic documents except in periods of real tension. They are held to show that President Wilson has decided on his policy and nothing will induce him to alter it.

Referring to President Wilson's note to Germany, La Liberte today says:

"It was with a respect to the opinion of mankind that our people, with dignity, clearness and law, decided to send a message to one of the warring powers, and has denounced the destruction of a human life, the sacrifice of the lives of more than a thousand peaceful citizens of our own country, and the stirring of the hearts of his countrymen and aroused in his support the patriotic spirit of the whole nation, which he has spoken."

There was the strength of moderation in the note, which is a characteristic of a great law abiding and justice-loving people. Upon that impression, the note is a masterpiece. The president has taken his stand. In this we have given and will continue to give our confidence.

Still Some Respect for Law.

"Amid all the savagery and lawlessness which have been engendered by this unprecedented strife, Judge Gray's respect for international law has not entirely perished. His precepts are all appeals to the sense of justice and its obligations are recognized even in their violation. However this may be, the note is a masterpiece of a great law abiding and justice-loving people. Upon that impression, the note is a masterpiece. The president has taken his stand. In this we have given and will continue to give our confidence."

WILSON DOESN'T TRADE RIGHTS OF HUMANITY.

Paris, June 12.—The Temps, in an editorial today on the American note to Germany, says:

"President Wilson maintains firmly and with conviction the same ideas already twice expressed. He refuses to admit that his elevated conception of right may become the subject of compromise, and the cases are given in clear and precise terms that admit no more evasive replies. Mr. Wilson replies in the name of his country, and in the name of the sacred rights of humanity."

The Journal des Debats, in discussing the note, says:

"The United States, representing in this case the civilized world, places before Germany the highest moral considerations of the humanity, to which Germany subordinates everything. They are resolved so far as concerns American subjects to have those rights respected."

The essence of the note, it is felt, must be taken, and afterward, if it is desired, will come discussions of a new regulation of naval warfare. If Germany insists on putting herself outside the pale of humanity, she will suffer the consequences."

GERMANY IS QUOTED TO CONVICT GERMANY

President Wilson Used Kaiser's Prize Rules in Preparing Note About Lusitania.

Washington, June 12.—The reference made by President Wilson in his note to Germany regarding the prize rules of the Lusitania to the humane and enlightened attitude hitherto assumed by the imperial German government in matters of international right, and particularly with regard to the capture of the sea, was laced it was learned today, upon the instructions of August 1, 1914, which the German government sent to its naval commanders. The president's purpose was to show a complete change of the German attitude over the treatment of neutral shipping during the war.

The German prize rules now are in the possession of the state department and perhaps will figure prominently in future diplomatic correspondence on the subject of the Lusitania should there be no breach of relations.

While no mention is made in the rules of submarine warfare, the extent and method of the exercise of the right of search and the stoppage of ships is prescribed with precision and provision is made for the safety of passengers and crew.

After outlining the purposes of visiting and searching vessels, the regulations add:

"All measures are to be carried out in a form which does not offend against the enemy, will comport with the dignity of the German empire, and will regard for the rights of neutrals to the usages of international law and the German interests."

The method of signalling ships to be boarded is prescribed and it is directed that two successive blank charges are to be fired and if necessary a third charge is to be fired. If the signals are not obeyed if the ship does not then stop or makes evasive maneuvers, the captain is to stop, the instructions continue.

After specifying what ships may be captured and destroyed, the regulations continue:

"Before destruction all persons on board with their personal effects are to be placed in safety and all the ship's papers and other articles of evidence are to be taken and the captain is to sign a receipt for the same. The prize court, are to be taken over by the captain."

BRITAIN CREATES BOARD FOR CONTROL OF LIQUOR

London, June 12.—The Gazette has issued the text of the order in council which creates a "Liquor Control Board" to consist of a chairman and such other persons as the minister of health may think fit to appoint to control the sale and supply of intoxicating liquors within prescribed areas.

The board is given wide powers to regulate the hours of sale, or even to prohibit it entirely, and otherwise to do as may seem fit. The liquor board also is empowered to prevent treating where it sees fit, and to prohibit the sale of liquor in any premises which it is liable to imprisonment for six months or a fine of $500.

The board is to take over saloons in areas where munitions of war are manufactured, or without licenses dispensed in factories engaged in government work. Intoxicating liquors in moderate amounts thus would be assured to the workers.

DESTROYER WAINWRIGHT SLIPS FROM THE WAYS

Philadelphia, June 12.—The destroyer Wainwright, built for the government by the New York Shipbuilding company at Camden, was launched today. The 17-year-old Evelyn Wainwright, daughter of James Wainwright, R. I., was sponsor.

The Wainwright is a sister ship to the destroyer Wainwright, which was launched the same day two weeks ago. It is named after Richard Wainwright, who was killed in the battle of the Marston, while in command of the United States ship Hartford.

The new vessel is one of the largest of its type in the American navy. It is 115 feet long and the contract calls for a speed of 16 knots an hour. The armament will include six 4-inch rapid-fire guns and four 21-inch torpedo tubes.

TIME FOR AMERICA TO ASSERT HERSELF

In Defense of International Law and Humanity—Judge Gray So Declares in Discussing German Warfare.

Atlantic City, N. J., June 12.—Judge George E. Gray, former United States senator and a member of the international permanent court of arbitration under the Hague conference of 1907, the New Jersey Bar association in convention here today, asserted that that time had come when America should assert the vital character and binding force of the obligations which international law has placed upon belligerent nations.

The destruction of unarmed merchant ships without regard to the lives or safety of non-combatant passengers and crew, was characterized by Judge Gray as "the most heinous and the most inhuman of crimes," and he declared that "presumably unthinkable in the minds of those who framed this convention."

Wilson's Notes to Germany.

Of President Wilson's notes to Germany Judge Gray had this to say:

"It was with a respect to the opinion of mankind that our people, with dignity, clearness and law, decided to send a message to one of the warring powers, and has denounced the destruction of a human life, the sacrifice of the lives of more than a thousand peaceful citizens of our own country, and the stirring of the hearts of his countrymen and aroused in his support the patriotic spirit of the whole nation, which he has spoken."

There was the strength of moderation in the note, which is a characteristic of a great law abiding and justice-loving people. Upon that impression, the note is a masterpiece. The president has taken his stand. In this we have given and will continue to give our confidence.

Still Some Respect for Law.

"Amid all the savagery and lawlessness which have been engendered by this unprecedented strife, Judge Gray's respect for international law has not entirely perished. His precepts are all appeals to the sense of justice and its obligations are recognized even in their violation. However this may be, the note is a masterpiece of a great law abiding and justice-loving people. Upon that impression, the note is a masterpiece. The president has taken his stand. In this we have given and will continue to give our confidence."

Never before in our eventful history has the time been so opportune or the conditions so favorable for our country to assert the rights that belong to a neutral nation, and to make the principles of international law whose existence and development are the glory of our civilization. It is for us never before, to stand up for and assert the vital character and binding force of the obligations which international law has imposed upon belligerent nations, in doing which we are performing a service to the world and humanity and even to the belligerent nations themselves, who when they recognize that their own special rights and interests have been preserved.

Treatment of Merchant Ships.

The work accomplished by the second Hague conference was reviewed in detail in this connection Judge Gray said:

Without expressly so stating this convention recognizes the right of capture of enemy merchant ships, but it is in accordance with the spirit of the convention that the captain and members of the crew of such merchant ships are not to be made prisoners of war, on condition that they give their parole not to undertake hostile acts against the captor's country, and that they remain connected with the operations of their own country.

The care with which the safety and treatment of the crew and cargo of such non-combatant ships are provided for in this convention, gives to its articles a religious character. The destruction of such ship without regard to the lives or safety of the non-combatant passengers and crew, is a significance more impressive than the most express words of denunciation could set out, and it is a violation of the most sacred instincts of humanity, was presumably unthinkable in the minds of those who framed this convention and was undoubtedly sufficiently covered by implication at least in the well settled rules of international law."

In conclusion Judge Gray said:

"We are filled with the glory of a great world calamity and our hearts and minds are filled with sublime thoughts and anxieties as to the attitude of our country as a neutral power. Whatever position we assume there is a duty to the nations of the world. American tradition forbids us to take any other position than that which would be based upon justice and that we shall maintain the right as God gives us to see the right."

TWO MASKED ROBBERS GO THROUGH A TRAIN

Los Angeles, Cal., June 12.—Two masked robbers with revolvers drawn, boarded a Southern Pacific train en route from San Francisco to Los Angeles at Chatsworth at midnight last night, robbing passengers of $24,000 and escaped. They compelled men and women in the last four coaches to give up their money. The robbers then pulled the signal stopping the train and fled. Officials said today they believed the robbery occurred near the town of San Gabriel.

Several shots were fired at the men as they swung from the train and they returned the fire, but no one was hit. Officials throughout this section began searching for the men at daybreak.

VENIZELOS TO TRIUMPH IN THE GREEK ELECTIONS

Crowds Parade the Streets of Athens Acclaiming the Former Premier.

London, June 13.—(3:20 a. m.)—Reuters Athens correspondent sends the following dispatch:

"The demonstrations in connection with elections June 14 were renewed Saturday night. A crowd paraded the streets acclaiming Venizelos, the triumph of the ex-premier's party is regarded as certain."

Princess Shakhovskaya is the only woman aviator in the great war. She is said to be in active service at the front in East France. At first her application was rejected because of her sex, but she demonstrated that she could manage a flying machine as well as a man and was finally accepted.

HE MUST DIE IN CHAIR FOR NUMEROUS MURDERS

Morrilton, Ark., June 12.—Sam Bell, a prominent cattleman, was found guilty of murder in the first degree after a jury deliberation of two and one-half days here today, for the murder of his sister-in-law, Mrs. Earl Beardon. Two weeks ago Bell was sentenced to life imprisonment for killing the woman's husband. He also is charged with killing her father and brother. Bell was sentenced to die in the electric chair.

WAR PROVING RUINOUS TO GERMAN NEWSPAPERS

London, June 12.—A syndicate of German newspaper publishers has addressed to Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg according to a Berlin dispatch, a request for the immediate suppression of the duty on foreign paper. The publishers declare that unless this is done it is doubtful if they will be able to continue the publication of their papers if the war continues for an extended period as present prices are virtually prohibitive and the losses of revenue as the result of the conflict average 50 per cent.

NO REWARD OF $10,000 FOR WOOD PIGEON NEST

Washington, June 12.—The department of agriculture wants it understood that it is not offering a $10,000 reward to the person finding a passenger pigeon or wood pigeon nest containing eggs. The mythical reward has attracted hundreds of persons scouring the woods of the country on a hunt for the eggs and as many have written letters to the department for information. The bird has been extinct for several years, according to the information obtainable, the department says.

DANGEROUS CALOMEL IS SELDOM SOLD NOW

Calomel Salivates. It Makes You Sick and You Lose a Day's Work—Dodson's Liver Tone Acts Better Than Calomel and Is Harmless for Men, Women, Children—Read Guarantee!

Every druggist in the South—your druggist and everybody's druggist—has noticed a great falling-off in the sale of calomel. They all give the same reason. Dodson's Liver Tone is taking its place. "Calomel is dangerous and people know it while Dodson's Liver Tone is safe and gives better results," said a prominent local druggist. Dodson's Liver Tone is personally guaranteed by every druggist. A large family-sized bottle costs only 50 cents and if you find it doesn't take the place of dangerous, salivating calomel you have only to ask for your money back.

Dodson's Liver Tone is a pleasant-tasting, purely vegetable remedy, harmless to both children and adults. Take a spoonful at night and wake up feeling fine, no sick headache, biliousness, ague, sour stomach or clogged bowels. Dodson's Liver Tone doesn't gripe or cause inconvenience all next day like calomel. Take a dose of calomel tonight and tomorrow you will feel sick, weak and nauseated. Don't lose a day's work! Dodson's Liver Tone is real liver medicine. You'll know it next morning because you will wake up with your head clear, your liver active, bowels clean, breath sweet and stomach regulated. You will feel cheerful and full of vigor and ready for a hard day's work.

You can eat without risk of salivating yourself or your children. Get a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone and try it on my guarantee. You'll never again put a dose of nasty, dangerous calomel into your stomach.

THE largest Rubber Factory in the World is that of the B. F. Goodrich Co. In its work 75 Acres of floor space are utilized, and more than 15,000 people frequently employed.

The WHY of the greatest Mileage per Amount invested by You

RUBBER in Tires, must do the work of Steel.

Though nothing yet has been discovered which would do Tire-work so well as Rubber, it has serious limitations for that purpose.

Its Mileage depends upon its treatment quite as much as on its Cost. A Tire made wholly of highest grade, strictly-pure, Para Rubber, costing many times as much as the best Goodrich Tire, would, for instance, not give a fraction of the latter's Mileage in actual Service.

What Rubber will do, for such purpose, therefore, depends entirely upon what is done to it, to make it best serve that purpose.

It is a fair statement then, that a Tire will give Service and Mileage, per dollar invested by the User, in exact proportion to the Maker's EXPERIENCE and the Mileage-Intention, behind it.

Observe likewise, that many of the best known Brands of Tires, now in competition with Goodrich Tires, had their birth in the Goodrich Factories.

Ours was the parent factory—our successful ideas and methods were the inspiration—yes, the capital that made it possible for other Tire concerns to start and exist.

THE largest Rubber Factory in the World is that of the B. F. Goodrich Co. In its work 75 Acres of floor space are utilized, and more than 15,000 people frequently employed.

Though 15 Rubber and Tire Companies followed it to Akron it is significant that the B. F. Goodrich Co. pays one-sixth of all the Taxes in that live and prosperous "Rubber City" (which has more than 100,000 population).

The Factory of the B. F. Goodrich Co. buys more Crude Rubber every year than any other Factory in the World, manufacturing more than 90,000,000 pounds of Rubber Goods yearly out of it.

This fact, with its Precision Policy, its War on Waste and its division of Overhead Charges over the 284 lines of Rubber Goods it manufactures, with its 45 years of EXPERIENCE results in lowest Cost for Manufacture of its Product.

Only 5% Plus,—for this Best Non-Skid Tire

Note following comparative prices. "A," "B," "C" and "D" represent four Widely-Sold Non-Skid Tires:

Made as always,—the same reliable Construction, the same dependable Service—without anything whatever taken out of Quality, no matter what reductions in List-Price are ever made.

But a Following, like a Procession, is not a Race. In manufacturing Rubber at least, there is no effective substitute for that long and practical EXPERIENCE which is the father of safe and conservative Initiatives.

Observe now that the B. F. Goodrich Co. for 30 years before a Pneumatic Tire was ever made was, even then, one of the World's largest Rubber Concerns.

Observe, too, that it was the very first Concern to manufacture a Clincher Tire.

Why pay for Experimental Tires when you can have the Sure-thing that maximum EXPERIENCE and greatest Stake, pledges,—at the fairest price in the Market for such Quality and Mileage?

ITALIAN ADVANCE MAKING HEADWAY

Invaders Are Drawing Near to Trent—Austrians, Retreating, Reported to Have Blown Up Strong Fort.

London, June 12.—The Italians continue to push forward on the east bank of the Isoneo river. In addition to occupying the important town of Montefalco, the Italians claim to have captured the Austrian town of Gradisca, near Gorizia.

Retreating before Italian troops near Rovereto, the Austrians are reported to have evacuated and to have blown up the fort of Pozzaccio. This position was considered one of the strongest of the Austrian defenses.

AUSTRIAN TOWNS ABOUT TO FALL.

Verona, Italy, June 12.—(Via Chiasso and Paris, June 12, 1:40 a. m.)—The Italian advance on Rovereto, in Tyrol, 13 miles southwest of Trent, and Mori, 18 miles southwest of Trent, has pushed so close to both towns that either they have already been taken or are about to be occupied according to reports from the front.

FORT EVACUATED BY AUSTRIANS.

Milan, June 12.—(Via Paris.)—The Austrians have evacuated and blown up Fort Pozzaccio, on the Puzazzi plateau near Rovereto, according to a cable dispatch. The fort was a mile from Vallarsa, which has been occupied by the Italians, and was one of the most formidable Austrian defenses in that section of the Tyrol.

GALLANT MOVE BY BERSAGLIERI.

Udine, Italy, June 12.—(Via Paris.)—The 17th regiment of Bersaglieri, who virtually fought four days continuously against the Austrian defending Tolmino, had the heaviest losses of any Italian detachment since the beginning of the war.

Colonel de Rossi, twice wounded, refused to be removed from the fighting until he saw all his men safely.

Colonel Negretto, second in command, was killed.

Colonel de Rossi was promoted to the rank of general before the war broke out, but asked the war office to postpone his promotion, and have gained a place in his regiment under fire. When King Victor Emmanuel visited him at the hospital to confer with him, he was promoted to the rank of general.

Although outnumbered, he told the king his men succeeded in repulsing the Austrians, and none was taken prisoner.

AUSTRIAN AIRMEN BOMBARD TOWNS.

Rome, June 12.—(Via Paris.)—Austria today on Mola di Bari then three bombs on Polignano where a woman was killed, and finally on Monopoli, it is officially announced.

ITALIANS REPULSED, AUSTRIANS CLAIM.

Vienna, June 12.—(Via London.)—The Austrian war office has issued the following in regard to the Italian campaign.

"There have been isolated infantry and artillery engagements on the Isoneo river. The Italian attacks on the footings on the eastern bank at Montefalco and Karfreit (Caporetto) which, however, are in front of our battle line. At dawn yesterday hostile forces climbed the heights on the eastern bank near Plava, but were repulsed.

"On the Carinthian frontier, our troops have repulsed attacks on the passes near Monte Pradada and have occupied this mountain. An Italian attempt to recapture Montepiano failed.

"The enemy is slowly sending forces in several frontier districts—Cortina d'Ampezzo, Fiera di Primiero and Borso."

AUSTRIAN SOLDIERS FAILED IN DUTY.

Rome, June 12.—(Via Paris, June 13, 12:15 a. m.)—An Austrian officer captured by the Italian, declares a considerable part of the Austrian front was broken because of the laxity of Austrian soldiers, who are taken to task for falling in their duty," says an Italian official statement tonight. "The circular of which only fifty copies were made was issued by the high command in the Austrian army to officers alone. The paper says:

"It was in this manner that a large part of our front was broken. Moreover, it is known that other detachments of these troops failed in their task. Detailed information of what occurred will be developed by a stringent inquiry which has already begun in their duty," says an Italian official statement tonight. GRADISCA TAKEN ON TUESDAY.

Udine, Italy, June 12.—(Via Chiasso and Paris.)—Italian forces occupied the Austrian frontier town of Gradisca on Tuesday night. Lieutenant General Count Cadorna, chief of staff of the Italian army, deferred official announcement until the fact is made known now for the benefit of all and may be added that instructions for duty will be published by counter-march.

The order, which is signed by General Rezz, general of cavalry, closes with a tribute to the troops on the front who, he says, will make good this defeat.

CHINA-JAPAN CRISIS COSTLY FOR RUSSIA

Washington, June 12.—The sudden collapse of a victorious westward march of the Russian armies was directly attributable to the recent crisis between China and Japan, according to information which has reached diplomatic circles here.

Colonel de Rossi, twice wounded, refused to be removed from the fighting until he saw all his men safely.

Colonel Negretto, second in command, was killed.

Colonel de Rossi was promoted to the rank of general before the war broke out, but asked the war office to postpone his promotion, and have gained a place in his regiment under fire. When King Victor Emmanuel visited him at the hospital to confer with him, he was promoted to the rank of general.

54 SHIPS IN WEEK FOR SUBMARINES

Great Sinking Record by Kaiser's Undersea Boats in Last Seven Days—Seven of Ships Neutral.

London, June 12.—Today's report of German submarine activity shows one steamer and three trawlers were sunk. Since last Saturday German submarines have sunk fifty-four vessels, of which seven were neutral.

The others comprised two French, two Belgian, three Russian and forty British. Of the British vessels thirty-two were fishing craft. In addition, two fishing smacks were sunk by a Zeppelin.

Liverpool, June 12.—The British steamer Leucra was torpedoed and sunk off Ramoth today. The crew was rescued.

The Leucra was engaged in the trans-Atlantic trade. She was last reported at Ebeas Aires May 21, and was 324 feet long, and of 3,027 tons gross.

London, June 12.—The British trawler James Leyman has been sunk by a German submarine in the North sea. The submarine took the crew on board and then shelled the fishing boat. The crew was put ashore in the small boats of the James Leyman and ten hours elapsed before they were picked up.

London, June 12.—The trawler Wango has been sunk by a German submarine in the North sea. The crew has been landed at Hull today.

Lowestoft, England, June 12.—The Lowestoft trawler, Britannia, has been sunk by a German submarine. The crew was given time to leave their boats before the Germans blew it up with a bomb.

INVASION OF ALBANIA DEFENDED BY SERBIA

Nish, Serbia, June 12.—(Via London.)—The Serbian press bureau issued a statement today defending the incursion of Serbian troops into Albania, and concluding as follows:

"The reasons for the present expedition will be definitely settled by Europe, but she also is conscious of the fact that measures such as she now is taking are as much in the interest of the great powers as her own."

The statement says that Albania has been a hotbed of Austrian-Turkish intrigues, resulting in Albanian raids in Serbia, and that Serbia realized long since that its fighting front against Austria would include the entire Albanian frontier. The statement recites that Serbia, during the Balkan wars, reached the open sea through Albania only to be forced to relinquish this territory through Austrian influence.

Rome, June 12.—(Via Chiasso and Paris.)—It is understood that Italy is in accord with the allies upon the friendly representations from Belgrade concerning the Serbian advance into Albania, extending the desire that the question be left for solution by the peace conference after the war. It is stated that neither Italy nor the allies oppose the Serbian military advance toward the Adriatic across Albania, but prefer that Serbia should not direct part of her forces from the main objective of the campaign, namely, to fight Austria.

NAVAL RESERVE GROWS UNDER THE NEW LAW

Washington, June 12.—Naval officials have observed with satisfaction the growth of the naval reserve under the law enacted at the last session of congress. While it is too early to give numbers, Secretary Daniels today said there had been an increase in re-enlistments due to increased pay and standing of a re-enlisted man in the reserve.

Mr. Daniels pointed out that the proportion of re-enlistments to first enlistments for the first months since the act became effective were 81 to 100 for March, 81 to 100 for April and 85 to 100 for the first ten days in May.

GAINS FOR ALLIES AT DARDANELLES

Anglo-French Troops Are Near Town of Gallipoli. Allied Forces Threaten to Encircle the Turks.

London, June 12.—Unofficial reports from the Dardanelles indicate that the allies have made greater advances on the Gallipoli peninsula than has been claimed in the Paris and London official statements, which give few details of the fighting. The allies are close to the town of Gallipoli, which is near the neck of the peninsula, on the straits at the entrance to the Sea of Marmora. The allies are reported to have advanced about 15 miles from the tip of the peninsula.

The Athens correspondent of the Daily Express sends the following dispatch regarding operations at the Dardanelles:

"The allies are now fighting in the region of the town of Gallipoli, having arrived within four hours' march after terrific fighting. The extreme left of the allied forces threatens to encircle the enemy north of the town. A great battle has been in progress since Thursday around Maidos. The Serbian press bureau issued a statement today defending the incursion of Serbian troops into Albania, and concluding as follows:

"The reasons for the present expedition will be definitely settled by Europe, but she also is conscious of the fact that measures such as she now is taking are as much in the interest of the great powers as her own."

The statement says that Albania has been a hotbed of Austrian-Turkish intrigues, resulting in Albanian raids in Serbia, and that Serbia realized long since that its fighting front against Austria would include the entire Albanian frontier. KAISER'S PRESS AGENT QUILTS UNITED STATES

New York, June 12.—Dr. Bernhard Dernburg, former colonial secretary of the German empire, who has been termed Emperor William's press agent, representative in this country, sailed for home today on the Norwegian steamer Bergensfjord. He carried with him a letter from the king with his bon voyage, posed for photographers, talked with newspaper men for a few moments, and went to his suite aboard the steamer, which had been taken to Austria would include the entire Albanian frontier. The statement recites that Serbia, during the Balkan wars, reached the open sea through Albania only to be forced to relinquish this territory through Austrian influence.

Rome, June 12.—(Via Chiasso and Paris.)—It is understood that Italy is in accord with the allies upon the friendly representations from Belgrade concerning the Serbian advance into Albania, extending the desire that the question be left for solution by the peace conference after the war. SWISS BANKER GUILTY OF STEALING $180,000

Berne, Switzerland, June 12.—(Via Paris.)—Hans Bauder, a banker of Zurich, was today found guilty of fraud in 144 cases, amounting to more than $1,000,000 francs ($180,000). He was sentenced to seven years in the penitentiary.

Bauder is the son of a Swiss clergyman. He was arrested in Chicago on a charge of fraud in connection with the sale of worthless mining and other stocks.

BALL PLAYER NORCUM PASSES AT NORFOLK

Norfolk, Va., June 12.—Frank Norcum, for several years a Virginia league umpire, and well known in baseball throughout the south, died in Norfolk today of his long-continued illness. He was a member of the Nashville Southern league team, and was secretary of the Virginia league of the South Atlantic league. He was born in Washington 38 years ago and survived by a widow and one child.

SCHNAPPS FORBIDDEN TO GERMAN TROOPS

Berlin, June 12.—(Via London.)—Admiral von Mueller, chief of the private marine police, has sent the president of the German association the following open letter against the misuse of schnapps by German troops:

"The first care of the constitutional government will be to re-establish the rule of law and order so that all inhabitants of Mexico, nationals as well as foreigners, may enjoy their liberty and the enjoyment of their legal property rights, granting them indemnity for damages caused by the revolution which has broken out in this country."

The constitutional laws of Mexico, called the reform laws, which establish the separation of church and state and which guarantee to the individual the right of worship according to the dictates of his own conscience without disturbing public order, will be strictly observed. Consequently no one will suffer in his person, liberty or property on account of his religious beliefs. The church building will continue to be the property of the nation, according to existing laws and the constitutional government will grant anew for worship these structures that may be needed.

DEVISE TO DISCLOSE UNEXPLODED SHELLS

Nancy, France, June 12.—A curious invention designed to disclose the presence of magnetism unexploded shells buried in the earth not more than eighteen inches was tested today by the prefect of the department of Meurthe-et-Moselle. The invention is the work of Professor Camille Cotton, professor of science in the University of Nancy. The object of the device is to protect farmers from striking live shells with their plows.

AUSTRIAN AEROPLANES ATTACK SERBIAN TOWN

Nish, Serbia, June 12.—(Via London.)—Three Austrian aeroplanes yesterday dropped bombs on Kragujevac, killing 12 persons and wounding 20. Serbian aeroplanes pursued the hostile machines, bringing one down. Another aeroplane with two German officers was captured at Agripalanka.

CARRANZA BIDDING FOR SUPPORT OF U. S.

tionalist element had lost the support of the people when they withdrew from Mexico City, the statement asserts, in fact it now has control of over seven-eighths of the national territory. The Carranzist government controls all the ports of the Gulf and Pacific oceans with the exception of Guaymas, and all ports of entry on the northern and southern frontiers, with the exception of Piedras Negras, Ciudad Juarez and Nogales; that more than thirteen of the fifteen million population of Mexico are subject to constitutionalist authority.

Opposition to the Carranzist forces, it is asserted, is due to their desertion and the offensive of the enemy is limited to acts of brigandage. In a short time occupation of Mexico City is assured, it is stated, when Carranzist government will be secured in all states and territories based on welfare and justice.

The constitutionalist government has done all in its power, it is stated, for the benefit of the people, and for the bidding the export of necessities and has punished abuses and protected the lives of those within its control.

Work of relieving the civil population, the statement says, will now be facilitated by the Carranzist government.

As to Foreign Relations.

As to foreign relations, Carranza asserted that one of his chief aims as first chief was to apprise the United States of his attitude, facing rebellion and anarchy, and that he had been retarded by lack of understanding in the United States and the foreign press, especially the poor journalistic influence. It is claimed, prejudiced foreign nations against him, and that the ordinary means of diplomatic relations exist between nations.

"I am asking the ordinary means of diplomatic relations exist between nations," Carranza's proclamation continues, "for the benefit of the Mexican people and of the foreign press, especially the poor journalistic influence. It is claimed, prejudiced foreign nations against him, and that the ordinary means of diplomatic relations exist between nations."

special privilege or monopoly will be respected.

"The peace and security of a nation depends upon the intelligence of its citizens. Therefore the government will take pains in developing public education."

The declaration adds that the proposed government would carry out the provisions of the treaty of December 1914, stipulating that upon triumph of the revolution, the first chief, invested with executive authority, would convolve elections for a national congress which would call an election for president.

A constitutionalist agency reported tonight that the Carranza army advancing on Mexico City was within sixty miles of the capital.

VILLA FORCES NOT ROUTED.

Washington, June 12.—First official news from American sources of the battle at Leon in which both Villa and Carranza have "blinded" victory, reported here today, refute reports of Villa's rout, and say his army is at Leon with large quantities of captured arms and munitions. Carranza's forces are too weak to advance.

The dispatch confirms Villa's claim of victory at Silao, and adds that in the later battle at Leon he retained all the supplies he had taken in the former battle. He refused to surrender.

Villa's dispatches indicate that both armies are gathering strength for another struggle.

FEARS ARE FELT FOR THE OIL WELLS.

Washington, June 12.—Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, British ambassador, conferred with Secretary Lansing today regarding the British oil wells at Tuxtepec. The ambassador made an official request for action to safeguard the British interests.

The department has been watching developments at Tuxtepec with some interest and has taken steps to investigate the Carranzist report.

British advisers stated that General Arce, who has proclaimed his intention of firing all wells and mines in the area, has sought to discredit Carranza's government abroad. There, Carranza's government abroad, the Carranzist report says, has received word that the Carranzist threat from its own representatives.

WILSON TO WILSON AND TO CARRANZA

Conference Is Requested of Leaders to Bring About a New Union of All Mexicans to Restore Peace.

El Paso, Texas, June 12.—General Villa, in a note to President Wilson, expresses willingness "to invite a new union of all Mexicans . . . to work together to insure the triumph of the revolutionary principles, especially the agrarian problem and the extension of instruction among the poorer classes."

Another note signed by Villa has been dispatched to Carranza, asking the latter to agree to a conference of leaders in Mexico "to unite and reorganize." The note says propositions are being placed before Emiliano Zapata and Roque Gonzalez Garza.

Villa will not discuss the reported ousting of Garza from power at Mexico City.

The communications to President Wilson and General Carranza were formulated at a meeting of Villa and his staff at Aguascalientes.

Villa, in his invitation for a conference, points out two reasons for his action. First, that unless the constitutionalist government and the Carranzist government (Diaz party) will again get control under the guise of another name and, second, unless conditions in Mexico improve, the United States will invite the Carranzist government to take the invitation requests an early reply, that preliminaries for the conference, if agreed to, may be arranged.

No place for holding the meeting is suggested.

Villa's reply to President Wilson is friendly. It explains that Villa makes the statement in his own name, believing he can affirm it "in the name of all factions whose political tendencies are represented by the conventional government and supported by the Carranzist government."

Villa declares he is impelled to reply because of Mr. Wilson's high spirit of justice, and "the consideration and respect in which he is held both inside and outside his own country, and by the middle class and poor people of Mexico, a consideration and respect which I also hold for him."

Villa then reviews the assassination of Madero and says the efforts of the constitutionalists to overthrow the Huerta regime. He refers to the "moral aid given by the people of the United States, in these circumstances, for which he expresses the gratitude of the Mexican people."

"I am pleased to know," says the Villa note further, "that President Wilson recognizes that the American people are not interested in the settlement of our internal affairs."

Villa characterizes as "disgraceful" the division among constitutionalist leaders after the triumph against Huerta, which he attributes in part to "personal ambitions of some persons," but declares that certain principles were involved for which "we are still fighting."

Villa note charges that "false ideas, for mercenary purposes, diffused by those who sought to retain power indefinitely without laws, reduced us to the most outrageous anarchy in the capital, that it was 'the lack of a sense of responsibility by Señor Carranza that brought us to strained relations with countries friendly to us.'"

Events Are Reviewed.

The note reviews the request of the chiefs of the division of the north and different army corps, backed by a great portion of the civil population, for the first chief of the constitutionalists act as president ad interim, open courts and call a general election to organize a constitutionalist civil government. It declares that instead a military convention was convoked, and reviews the Aguascalientes convention and subsequent events.

"We believed this form of government would ruin our country," says the note, "and insisted that constitutional reform must be made by a congress elected by the people."

Villa declares he denied the authority of Carranza because the latter prevented fulfillment of the revolutionary program—"the abolition of our status as a constitutionalist civil government. He asserts that foreigners are protected in territory under his control, quoting from the report of Duval West to attest it.

Villa maintains that in the midst of an active military campaign his civil government has developed instruction for the poor, reorganized courts of justice, reformed mining laws, enacted laws for the mining of money, drafted measures for agrarian laws and laws for the exploitation of natural resources and restored railroad service.

DR. DERNBURG SAILS FOR GERMANY ON A NORWEGIAN SHIP UNDER SAFE CONDUCT.

New York, June 12.—Dr. Bernhard Dernburg, former colonial secretary of the German empire, who has been termed Emperor William's press agent, representative in this country, sailed for home today on the Norwegian steamer Bergensfjord. He carried with him a letter from the king with his bon voyage, posed for photographers, talked with newspaper men for a few moments, and went to his suite aboard the steamer, which had been taken to Austria would include the entire Albanian frontier. The statement recites that Serbia, during the Balkan wars, reached the open sea through Albania only to be forced to relinquish this territory through Austrian influence.

Rome, June 12.—(Via Chiasso and Paris.)—It is understood that Italy is in accord with the allies upon the friendly representations from Belgrade concerning the Serbian advance into Albania, extending the desire that the question be left for solution by the peace conference after the war. It is stated that neither Italy nor the allies oppose the Serbian military advance toward the Adriatic across Albania, but prefer that Serbia should not direct part of her forces from the main objective of the campaign, namely, to fight Austria.

This unusual course is the beginning of a campaign for better sanitary conditions and was determined upon by council after discussing the long delay of property owners in complying with the law regarding connections with the sanitary sewage system.

DANIELS AND AIDES PLANNING FOR NAVY

Washington June 12—Secretary Daniels and his aides already are at work on the estimates for the naval program to be submitted to congress next December. While their conferences so far are of a general character, Rear Admiral Benson, chief of operations and the navy general board are seeking to apply the needs of the American navy.

DROUGHT THREATENS AUSTRIAN HARVEST

Zurich Switzerland June 12—(Via London) June 12 05 a. m. Intense heat prevailing in the north of Europe to the drought suffered since the end of April is occasioning much anxiety in military and agricultural circles of the dual monarchy regarding harvest prospects. Fear is expressed that unless considerable rain falls crops will suffer considerably.

Woman Is Again Seeking
Admission to Georgia Bar;
Mrs. Hale Files An Appeal

Portia is again gently tapping at the door of her admission to the Georgia bar. The woman lawyer argued for her one point—the woman writer told us that the judge looked up and the jury gasped and that an old man at the door, taking off his hat and wiping his bald head with a red handkerchief, muttered "Put em up boys. You won't need no handkerchiefs. She's fixin' to car the shifts of the last one of us, and show our hairy breast bones and prove that we done this here thing."

UNITED STATES LOSING ORDNANCE EXPERTS

Washington June 12—Ordinance officials of the United States army it was learned today face a serious problem because of the number of highly trained civil employees at government ordnance plants who have gone to private arms and ammunition factories since the European war began. These men have been offered extraordinary advances in pay by holders of such contracts with the belligerent governments and several commissioned officers, experts in ordnance manufacture have also gone into private employment. The result has been to threaten serious embarrassment in keeping the American army properly supplied.

THE BAR ASSOCIATION

At a meeting of the Georgia Bar association recently held in south Georgia one of the most eminent young lawyers in the state introduced a resolution asking the indorsement of the association for a bill to be presented asking that women qualifying be allowed to practice law in Georgia. The resolution was defeated. Members of the Georgia association are on record therefore as opposing the approach of Portia upon their professional domains.

The Complete and Unabridged Works of EDGAR ALLAN POE

POE'S genius in its own field is unrivaled and unapproached. He created a school of fiction that has had many imitators, but none that even the most fulsome courtesy can compare with him in depth of feeling, in effective style, and in his weird and mystic trend of thought.

The universal popularity of his books is not confined to this country. In European countries he is highly esteemed and in France he is read more widely perhaps than any of the leaders of American literature.

Poe the Inventor of the Detective Story Sir A. Conan Doyle, whose Sherlock Holmes stories are known the world over, says: "Poe is the inventor of the detective story and is pre-eminently the master of the short story."

It would be hard to find a living author who had displayed such varied power. As a critic he has shown so superior an ability that we cannot but hope that he will collect his essays of this kind and give them a more durable form.

"The Road Cruiser"

Ready—the 1916 Hudson

Yacht-Line Body—Ever-Lustre Finish—$200 Less

This new-type Hudson has won a remarkable following. It has brought to all men new ideals of a class car, changing the entire vogue. It has trebled our output, forced immense factory additions, compelled 31 makers to follow our footsteps. Within 20 months, this lightweight Hudson has been adopted by 15,000 motorists.

Now comes another $200 reduction. Now comes the Yacht-Line Body, with new grace, new luxury, new roominess and comfort. Now comes the fulfillment of your dreams—a finish of lasting lustre. Today this favorite class car starts a brilliant new career.

Remember Its History

Two seasons ago this new-type Hudson came out at $1750. Its announcement startled Motor-dom. Its price was pronounced impossible in a high-grade Six. Its lightness—under 3000 pounds—was scoffed at as incompatible with strength.

But the car was a Hudson, and Hudson standards are high. Howard E. Coffin was its designer, and he stands foremost in his field. He and his whole corps had spent two years in testing and perfecting it. And men were waiting for a class car which would cut down operative cost.

So our first month's output was sold before any one saw the car. When the car appeared men flocked by thousands to it. And for one whole year thereafter Hudson buyers waited weeks for cars.

Then a $200 Reduction

The next season the price—which seemed so impossible—was reduced to $1550, because of multiplied output. Thirty-one improvements were made in the car, including still lighter weight. Another year's work by our engineering corps showed in its refinement.

This model was soon 4000 cars oversold. We shipped 1000 cars by express. It became at once the largest-selling car in the world with a price above $1200.

That changed the whole trend in motor car designing. It became evident to all that the day of overtax was ended. Men would not stand for excess in weight, price, size or operative cost. All cars were built lighter, most prices were reduced. And in 31 factories this new-type Hudson became the pattern car.

Now Comes Graceful Yacht Lines

Now our designers have spent another year on this car. There was no way to improve the chassis. Fifteen thousand cars, covering millions of miles, had failed to develop one fault. Every part and detail had been refined to the limit.

So in this third model they gave their time to the body. They worked out this stately body, with its graceful, sweeping yacht lines.

Every broken line is eliminated. The top-line of the body and the doors is leather-bound.

And they created this luxurious tonneau. The sides are higher than before, the rear seat is much wider, so it doesn't crowd three adults. The car seats seven, with all the room that anybody wants. And the extra tonneau seats disappear when not wanted, doubling the tonneau room.

You have never seen a body so impressive and graceful as this Yacht-Line Hudson body.

Now Comes the Ever-Lustre Finish

And now comes for the first time what you have dreamed of—a lustrous finish which stays new. It is the greatest innovation of the year.

In our new factory addition we have built mammoth ovens, with capacity for hundreds of bodies. Now our body finish is baked on in many separate coats. Each coat of finish is now applied under pressure which fixes it as never before. After each coat the body goes to an oven where it is baked for hours, then rubbed. This is done with every coat—an exclusive Hudson process.

The result is a body that stays new. The finish is smooth and brilliant. It resists sun and rain, washing, rubbing, mud. Experienced motorists who have seen bodies grow old and dull will consider this Ever-Lustre finish the most welcome improvement in years.

We combine it with enameled leather upholstery—better than has ever appeared in a car at this price. And with deep, hair-filled cushions, which means enduring luxury as well. This year's new body features mean much added cost. But it means a revolution in finish, in comfort and appearance.

Now Comes the $1350 Price

And now comes another big reduction. We have built additions which will double our capacity. We have worked out countless new ideas in efficiency.

We are building here now, under ideal conditions, more high-grade cars than were ever built in one shop. As a result, we are giving you now the greatest value ever known in a class car.

Last year we reduced this car $200. This year we reduce it $200 more. We are selling this model 23% below its startling initial price—$400 below it. Yet a hundred makers, when they saw the car, pronounced our first price impossible.

Why this New-Day Type

This Hudson was the pioneer of an entirely new type of car. The type was conceived four years ago by Howard E. Coffin, our famous chief designer. It took him two years, aided by our whole force, to work out his conception.

The idea was refinement—the elimination of crudity—to result in a light, staunch car. The first step was a new-type motor, small bore, high speed. By reducing piston shocks that made it possible to lighten a hundred engine parts.

The next step was aluminum in place of cast iron. The next was special steels. In the next, a thousand parts were re-designed to combine lightness with strength.

The final result was a 7-passenger Six weighing under 3000 pounds. Old-time Sixes averaged 4500 pounds. That difference—the weight of 11 adults—cut tire and fuel cost in two.

This 1916 model, with this new-style body, is on show here now. Be among the first to see the new lines and new comfort.

The Vogue of Simplicity

Howard E. Coffin saw years ago that the trend was toward simplicity. Now everybody knows it. Excess and waste are unpopular. Good taste now calls for satisfaction without show.

Thus Hudson has become the class car. Its owners, in large part, are men who have paid two and three times its price. Hudson typifies the ideals of the times. This fact is conspicuous, wherever you look about.

All questions regarding this new-type car have been answered on the road. There are 15,000 Hudsons of this type in use. In two years men have driven them many million miles. And every owner vouches that the car is staunch, enduring, faultless, as well as economical.

Hudson now embodies all that any man can want. It is the fine car of the modern type. Only those men who still take pride in some form of excess will find any car more appealing.

Like No Other Car

Bear in mind that Hudson is like no other car. There are many models of this type, but there are scores of ways—important ways—in which Hudson is unlike them. Let us point them out. This is a Howard E. Coffin creation, a finished product, unique and unapproached.

REO

ANNOUNCEMENT!

As it seems to be the fashion to make June, or mid-season, announcements, here is Reo's. We will continue to maintain Reo Standards in every regard and in every detail of the product and we will redouble our efforts to make more good Reos in hopes some day to catch up with the demand.

IT WAS THIS POLICY of adhering to the high standards set by Reo in the beginning that placed Reo in the splendid position it occupies today—so that policy will not now, or at any time, be departed from.

REO IS ONE OF THE TWO OR THREE makes of automobiles that enjoy practical immunity from competition—one that can shape its course without regard to anything any other maker may choose, or be forced, to do.

EXPEDIENCY NEVER HAS been a controlling factor in the Reo policy because the product has always been so good that, never since the first Reo left the factory has it been possible to make enough cars to supply all who wanted Reos.

REO POLICY FROM THE FIRST was based on the one idea of permanent satisfaction to the user. And only by building cars of quality regardless of all other considerations could that Reo objective have been attained.

TODAY, PRICES of many materials that go into motor cars are higher than ever before. Leather, steel and all products into which copper enters are higher than when the present prices of the two Reo Models were established.

LOOK UP THE QUOTATIONS and you will learn that that is so.

NOW IT HAS BEEN OUR PLAN to increase the price of Reo cars whenever we felt that, by so doing we could make them better. Reo preference never was based on price but on the quality of the Reo product.

DISCRIMINATING BUYERS have always been glad to pay Reo prices for Reo standards of excellence and the backing of the Reo guarantee—financially second strongest in the world and in integrity—good intent—second to none.

SO AT THIS JUNCTURE the logical thing to do would be to increase the price of both Reo models to make up for the additional cost of manufacture—for materials average higher and cost of labor—as we make Reo cars—is not less than when the present prices were established.

THAT WOULD BE THE LOGICAL MOVE at this time did we believe that the high prices of good materials would obtain for long. But we don't. We believe it is the result of an extraordinary condition and so is only transitory.

OF COURSE THERE WOULD BE another way; namely, to cut the size of the car—wheel base, width and length and depth of seats—and to skimp the quality in countless ways that it could be skimmed. Ways, too, that the average buyer could not see and would not discover for a few months.

BUT THAT IS UNTHINKABLE—such an expedient never has and never could occur to the men who make Reos—the men who set the Reo standard.

NOR WOULD REO BUYERS—that select clients: that has always shown such a preference for Reo cars—accept such a product at any price.

THEY ARE ACCUSTOMED to wearing real leather shoes—and they will not consent to wearing paper or cloth shoes now just because the price of leather has advanced.

NOR WOULD THESE ACCEPT a car so skimmed in size you could get five full grown adults in only by using a shoe horn! Nor one with a "safety factor" just sufficient to "get by."

THEY HAVE BOUGHT REOS BECAUSE they knew the Reo standard of "50 per cent oversize in all vital parts" could always be depended upon even though the maker had to pay more for steel and other metals.

REO POLICY HAS PAID—it has justified itself in every way that gratifies the hearts of men who like to make honest goods. And it has paid handsomely those who were so wise as to select Reos, for they have found that in all the world there is no other automobile of so low upkeep cost—such wonderful consistency of performance and so few repairs.

TODAY THERE ARE 60,000 Reo the Fifths in use. Think of that number of delighted owners singing the praises of Reo every day. For you never yet met a Reo owner who wasn't a Reo booster. Never one that wasn't more than satisfied—never one that was quite willing to admit that any other make of car could be as good as his Reo.

OF COURSE IF YOU ACCEPT mere "specifications" as value there are several claimants.

BUT IF YOU MEASURE values as they are and compare every detail of design and of construction—the work, as well as the material: if you appraise experience as an asset and the Reo guarantee a bigger one:

AND IF YOU ADD the good intent that you know goes into Reo cars—then Reo The Fifth has no rival, no competitor—no peer. And today there are few who even try to dispute the ground. That field has, by common consent, been yielded to Reo—and Reo quality was the reason.

AND THE NEW REO SIX, "the Six of Sixty Superiorities" is today the most popular Six in America if demand is any criterion.

SO WE'LL CONTINUE to maintain Reo standards in every detail. We'll continue to make Reo just as big and just as good and at the present prices even though prices of some commodities that are vital to the permanent stability of the car have advanced.

THAT IS OUR "ANNOUNCEMENT" and that is our attitude toward the tens of thousands of friends who have bought Reos on the basis of Reo quality and Reo standards of making cars—and of doing business.

WE HAVE TO APOLOGIZE for only one thing in the Reo policy—our inability to make enough to supply you all. And that is because our policy has been never to run after the fleeting phantom of quantities—never to seek the kind of prestige that mere numbers gives—but to make only as many Reos as we could make and make every Reo good.

FOR WE FEEL that every Reo car carries with it the Reo reputation—and so in each car must be incorporated all there is of Reo engineering skill, Reo experience and Reo integrity.

SO IF YOU ARE LUCKY ENOUGH—which means if you hurry and get your order in at once—to get a Reo this season, you'll get that kind of an automobile and at a price that cannot be equalled for the quality—because there is only one concern that makes cars of Reo quality and at Reo prices.

MARY FULLER AND HELEN LESLIE THIS WEEK AT ALPHA

The bill at the Alpha for this week is as follows: For Monday, Mary Fuller in "A Daughter of the Nile," also the fourth episode of "The Black Box," entitled "Tongues of Flame" Tuesday, Billie Ritchie in a two-reel comedy plot, "Bill's Blighted Career," also the first of a series of four pictures in "The Shadows," Wednesday, "The Pursuit of Pleasure," second in the "Who Pays" series, and on Thursday, Helen Leslie in "From the Shadows." One of the best pictures to be shown during the week is "From the Shadows" on Tuesday, the story in part, is as follows: Ferris Sims, once a notorious crook, but lately leading an apparently honest life, has a young daughter, Helen, whom he wishes to keep in ignorance of his past life and also of his erstwhile associates, who frequently visit him. The girl is in love with, and is loved by, a rich young man of the town...

HANDSOME GOWNS WORN IN "THE SPENDTHRIFT"

George Kleine's film version of Porter Emerson Browne's "The Spendthrift" scheduled for release through the Kleine offices June 21, contains a series of scenes that will no doubt make their appearance on the feminine contingent in every audience. These are the scenes laid in the New York establishment of Lady Sargent (Lady Duff Gordon) the internationally known modiste. They were made with the direct co-operation of Lady Sargent, who has a number of beautiful gowns made for the picture. She has also been employed at the West 57th establishment Miss Hobe White and a series of gowns which she has designed. Miss Hobe White has also designed a new style of hat, and Miss Dolores in a dainty evening robe of coral chiffon. The most beautiful dresses shown in the picture are worn by Miss Irene Fenwick, who plays the lead of the picture, and the extra-gauche wife of Richard Ward, whose crazy for style leads to mischief. "The Spendthrift" is in six parts.

Bits of News.

Speaking of attaining the heights of fame, it may be mentioned that Clara King Young has been named "Queen" named after her. Popularity of the soda fountain brand, ought to help out this a bit during the hot summer days. Broadway, New York, is having an invasion of the "Chaplin Mustache" on the countenances of its young men, Chaplin's manner of breathing will be imitated next.

Unusual Record as Student Made by This Georgia Boy

Graduating last Tuesday with first honor in a class of ninety from the Johns Hopkins Medical school, Baltimore, Thomas M. Rivers, of Jonesboro, Ga., a son of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Rivers and a nephew of E. Rivers, of Atlanta, made the phenomenal record of taking three first honors in the three institutions of higher education which he has attended.

Dr. Rivers, as he becomes following the receipt of his Johns Hopkins degree, stood at the head of a class of ninety students, every one of whom went there from class A colleges and universities in all parts of the United States.

THOMAS M. RIVERS. Son of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Rivers, of Jonesboro, and nephew of E. Rivers, of Atlanta, who led his class at Johns Hopkins.

To Pursume Studies.
This record gives him the choice of an appointment offered by the institution to its graduates. He has elected to pursue higher medical studies at Johns Hopkins for a period of two years. The first year will be devoted to higher medicine, and the second to specializing in diseases and complaints of children, which he proposes to make his life work.

Not only did Mr. Rivers take a high stand in his class, but he is unusually popular with his fellow students and associates, as is indicated by his recent election as president of the graduating class, a distinguished honor coming from the student body. Dr. Rivers is just 25 years old. He began his education in the schools of Jonesboro, and upon his graduation from the Jonesboro academy he stood at the head of his class. From there he went to Emory college, Oxford, and graduated with first honor in 1909. In the fall of 1909 he went to Johns Hopkins university with a determination to continue his class-leading record. After serving for two years as assistant pathologist in the St. Thomas hospital at Panama City, Fla., returning to Johns Hopkins in 1913, he has just completed his four-year period.

Offered Positions.
When the class standing was posted for the first time, Christmas, 1914, for the four-year period, he stood at the top of his class, and has remained there. He has been offered most attractive positions in the various hospitals, but declined them in order to finish his medical education along the lines upon which he has determined. Friends and relatives are exceedingly proud of the splendid record this young Georgian has made. His first honor at Johns Hopkins has resulted in his election to membership in the Phi Kappa Beta, a national honor society composed of honor graduates of higher institutions, and also in the Alpha Omega Alpha society, which is the national honor society of the medical profession, regarded as the highest honors which can be paid a graduate.

Smith-Lever Funds Needed For College of Agriculture

Legislature Should Take Prompt Action in Matter, Says President Soule.

In his report to the board of trustees of the State College of Agriculture and to the general board of the university, Dr. Andrew Soule, president of the institution, stresses the necessity of prompt action on the part of the legislature to secure the Smith-Lever bill appropriations for extension work in Georgia to reach thousands more of the farmers of the state who are now begging for the advantages of the Smith-Lever Act.

rooms and especially laboratories, a stock-judging pavilion, another farm mechanics building, more units to the veterinary laboratory and other buildings and equipment to meet rapidly increasing demands with an increase in maintenance appropriation of $100,000 to establish a course in veterinary surgery and additional instructors and equipment.

The growth of the college in public favor is noted, and a continuance of the cordial support of the institution is earnestly solicited.

Two Men Bound Over Charged With Theft Of Big Money Orders

Admitting that they had stolen from the postoffice at Carr, Fla., stamped money orders having a maximum value of $20,000, J. H. Baggett, assistant postmaster at Carr, and E. H. Falder, a young business man of Carr, were bound over by United States Commissioner W. Colquitt Carter yesterday, each under a $1,000 bond. They will be taken to Pensacola, Fla., to await the action of the federal grand jury.

Miss Sallie Maud Sapp, the woman who admitted that she came to Atlanta from Florida with the defendants, was at the hearing to tell what she knew of the case. After the two men turned over to the authorities the cash they had, she was given a sum sufficient to carry her to her home.

FORRESTER'S CABBAGE AROUSES MUCH ENVY

A. K. Forrester, of 348 Formwalt street, is not a farmer, nor does he claim that distinction—he is an agriculturist. He has aroused the envy of his neighbors by growing some of the finest vegetables ever known in these parts and to prove himself he presented to the Constitution Saturday a cabbage weighing eight pounds, which, by the way, is some cabbage. The boys of the Home Garden league are unanimous in saying that Mr. Forrester could easily qualify for membership. He has followed the same plan. He has had plenty of vegetables for family consumption as well as for the produce market. If he could acquire sufficient ground, he will go into the gardening business on a larger scale next year.

SHOW GIRL'S CHARGES ARE DENIED BY CENSOR

Special Officer Ed Arthur, theatrical censor of second-class vaudeville shows for Police Chief James L. Beavers, has issued a statement to The Constitution, denying the charges made in police court that he had flirted with, and embraced, certain ballet girls at the Old Mill theater on Whitehall, and that he had slept for an hour in the theater.

It was during the recent trial of A. K. that the charges were made by Mrs. May Jones, that Officer Arthur says he was unjustly accused of these acts.

YOUNG MAN IS FOUND IN SERIOUS CONDITION

After being found seriously injured on a railroad track in the Inman yards last night by a brakeman and taken to Grady hospital, where he later died, J. E. Brown, of Edenton, Ga., was finally identified by the body which he carried on his back. The body was taken to Patterson's chapel.

The county police are investigating how he came to his injuries, and, although at first inclined to believe that he was a victim of hold-up men, they now believe that he fell from a train.

WARE OIL WELL SUNK TO DEPTH OF 1,212 FEET

Waycross, Ga., June 12.—(Special.)—Boring at the well that is being sunk six miles south of Waycross in search of oil will be well under way again next week, after a brief delay caused by the breaking of the rotary. A new one was received today and unless other accidents occur the boring will continue steadily. The well is now 1,212 feet deep. The deepest well ever sunk in this section previously measured approximately 800 feet.

While the operations of the company south of here are to a large extent speculative, very satisfactory indications have been discovered up to date. When the well reaches a depth of 1,000 feet it will be possible, it is believed, to know definitely of the chances for finding oil in this section.

The Japanese Red Cross has nearly 2,000,000 members and an endowment of $13,000,000. It is a marvel of efficiency.

NAVY HAS NO LURE FOR ATLANTA YOUTHS

Although the local office of the navy recruiting service has been in position to take recruits for the United States naval reserve since April 1, there have been no enlistments to date, despite several applications.

An enlistment in the naval reserve is for four years, and at the end of that time if a member of the reserve desires to re-enlist he must have spent two months' time aboard a United States ship of war in one of those years.

Fourteenth Annual Southern Golf Tournament Here

Pelicans Bunch Four Hits With Moran's Wild Throw Scoring Three Runs in Second, While Weaver Holds the Crackers Safely—Brief Rally in Ninth.

TODAY'S GAME WILL BE CALLED PLAY BY PLAY Today's game will be called play by play at Dick Jemison's matinee parlors on the viaduct. The game starts at 3 o'clock.

New Orleans, June 12.—(Special)—John and Moran went to the home trenches, guns, foot and horse and so doing, Weaver pitched a much better game than did Patsy Kelly this afternoon, though Kelly did not allow any hits at all until the last when he was waked whole squad of men.

Crackers Rally. Buck walked Jenkins, first up, who was out on a grounder to third. Then Higley and Moran went to bat and Moran hit a two-bagger to right center. Covey got the ball and threw it to Knapp, who tried for the runner at home, but the ball hit the runner and Jenkins scored. Moran went to bat and scored immediately afterward when Williams lined to center. Here Weaver tightened up and retired the side without further damage.

Billy Smith sent Right-lander Hiett to the mound in an effort to even matters up with the Pelis. The last time he did so Hiett beat the locals 4 to 1 but he could not do it yesterday.

Peis Big Second. In the second, Blum, first up, was out on a grounder to third. Then Higley and Moran went to bat and Moran hit a three-bagger to right center. Covey got the ball and threw it to Knapp, who tried for the runner at home, but the ball hit the runner and Jenkins scored. Moran went to bat and scored immediately afterward when Williams lined to center. Here Weaver tightened up and retired the side without further damage.

Over Three Hundred Golfers Will Compete Here in Fourteenth Annual Southern Golf Championships

OTHER CLUB MEMBERS. The governing Board of the Atlanta Athletic club has announced that the courtesy of the East Lake club house and grounds have been extended to all members of the Capital City Country club, the Druid Hills Golf club and the Wesley Park Golf club during the week of the tournament.

By Dick Jemison. Over 300 of the leading golfers of the southern states will compete this week in the Fourteenth Annual Tournament of the Southern Golf Association.

Local Entries Two Hundred. But there are some players at the other clubs mentioned who are not members of the Atlanta Athletic club. Adding these to the Atlanta Athletic club entries would make the total number of entrants from the local clubs in the district.

Qualifying Tuesday. The qualifying round will be held all day Tuesday, players starting from the first tee by 8 o'clock in the morning and pairs being sent away at intervals of every two minutes throughout the day.

Some Prominent Entries. New Orleans sends three entrants in their list that are considered as having a chance for the championship in Reuben Bush, Will Stewart and W. E. Stauffer.

PROGRAM

TUESDAY, JUNE 15. Forenoon and Afternoon. Qualifying round, 18 holes, medal play. The 64 players returning the lowest scores will qualify in the championship division.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 16. Forenoon. Championship division (64 players), first round, 18 holes, match play.

THURSDAY, JUNE 17. Forenoon. Championship division (64 players), second round, 18 holes, match play.

FRIDAY, JUNE 18. Forenoon and Afternoon. Championship division (64 players), third round, 18 holes, match play.

SATURDAY, JUNE 19. Forenoon and Afternoon. Final round, 18 holes, match play.

TROPHIES. The winner and runner-up of each flight will receive a trophy.

DRUID HILLS TOURNEY. The program for the first invitation tournament of the Druid Hills golf tournament, which will be held June 19 to 21, inclusive, is as follows:

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 16. Forenoon and Afternoon. Practice.

THURSDAY, JUNE 17. Forenoon. First round, all flights, 18 holes, match play.

FRIDAY, JUNE 18. Forenoon. Semi-finals, all flights, 18 holes, match play.

SATURDAY, JUNE 19. Forenoon. Final round, all flights, 18 holes, match play.

Ain't There Nuttin This Here Royston Romper Can't Do?

Leading American League in Everything That It Is Possible for Him to Lead In.

By Dick Jemison. In the words of Ring Lardner, 'Ain't there nuttin' this here Royston romper can't do?'

Outside of leading the American league in batting, in run-getting, in base-stealing, in the number of hits made and in slugging, Tyrus Raymond Cobb is of no more value to the Detroit team than a spark plug is to an automobile.

Since The Constitution published the weekly batting averages of the American league last Sunday, the Peas has advanced more than 7 points to his batting average, the figures this week showing him possessed of a .40 average, as against .33 a week ago.

It is not surprising that he has led the platter for a marker for his nine, as he has done for four years, runs than his nearest opponent has tallied—namely, Eddie Collins, late of the million dollar infield, but now caving in at second for the Chicago White Sox.

Since the season began, he has hit a home run in every game, when said steal meant a ball game for the pugliese. Where he has been playing, he has been playing like a champion.

Last week there was only one department play that he was not leading in, and we predicted then that he'd not be content until he was also first in Detroit.

We refer to the slugging department. Cobb went into the lead, passing Fournier and Jackson, who were ahead of him a week ago. His slugging average is .555, against .534 for Fournier and .533 for Jackson.

New York sporting writer recently remarked, 'The greatest Tiger of them all is playing better field for the Detroit baseball team.'

Here are the batting averages completed by the American News Bureau through the games played Wednesday, June 9, and include the players who are hitting .300 or better.

Table of batting averages for various players.

My dear Sir:

I can truthfully say that has taken only very short time to convince me that the Hudson Light Six meets any and all conditions, and every claim made for it by the agent and yourself has so far been fully substantiated.

It is undoubtedly a good automobile value and eminently satisfactory.

Dear Sir: Both Mrs. Rich and I have driven your Hudson Little Six for fourteen months. I was so delighted with the car that we are re-ordering the same thing in a 1916 model. This speaks exceptionally well for the car, for I have no mechanical turn of mind and have not raised the hood of my car once during the afore-mentioned period, and have had no chauffeur to look after the engine. In other words, the car has given practically perfect satisfaction. I heartily indorse it.

With kindest regards, I remain very truly yours,

Mr. J. W. Goldsmith, Jr., City.

Dear Sir: I have had my Hudson Six-40 fifteen months and have driven it 12,576 miles. I am a hard driver on a car, but the Hudson has stood the test in a manner which makes for my saying it is the greatest light car I ever drove. I have averaged from 13 to 15 miles per gallon of gasoline, and have had practically no mechanical trouble. I consider the Hudson a marvel and am a most enthusiastic booster of it because of the service it has given me.

While racing cars I became closely acquainted with Howard E. Coffin, the designer, and have always felt that his word was the final authority on automobiles. Since I have been driving one of his cars I realize it more than ever.

Very truly yours,

I purchased my Hudson-37 in October, 1912, having it delivered to me at the factory in Detroit. I drove it through the country to Atlanta and, although a new car, the performance of it on the road was all that I could expect or ask. You can judge better of how well I am pleased when I state that I expect later to get one of the Hudson-6's when they come out, January first.

COVENANT URGED FOR THE AMERICAS

To Supplement Monroe Doctrine and Preserve Integrity of Hemisphere — No More Conquest From Within or Without.

Boston, June 12.—A covenant among all American nations to supplement the Monroe doctrine and preserve the integrity of the western hemisphere was proposed by Senor Santiago Perez Triana, delegate from Colombia to the recent Pan-American Financial conference, at a banquet given here tonight in honor of the delegates by the Boston Chamber of Commerce.

In order to secure the whole-hearted support of the Monroe doctrine throughout the length and breadth of the continent, said Senor Perez, "that doctrine must be carried to the extreme length of its logical development. The Monroe doctrine has closed effectively the continent to European conquest, but it has not prevented the exercise of conquest in both sections of the continent."

Such a declaration, as far as the United States is concerned, has already been made by the president. It is not to be supposed that any other American republic should be less explicit. Internal inviolability is the essential foundation of inviolability from outside.

This continent, he said, "stands pledged to the proposition that justice is not a question of quantity, but of essence. No crime can become virtue because it is exercised collectively, and that there is no human power which is entitled to iniquity in the name of patriotism."

Looking backward to the history of the land and the written precepts of its collective efforts and to the achievements realized, we of the southern half believe in our hearts that such are two necks and today we are not to call you perfect, and no man and no nation has ever been perfect. But we believe in you, today, and we propose as you must believe in ours, and so we may go hand-in-hand toward the rising sun.

Senor Perez referred to the trip just finished where the delegates trod on "shadowed ground" where the declaration of independence was signed, "where Lincoln's spirit hovers" and where the soul of the land and that of the slave. They had been told, he said, that the territory traversed was only the fringe of the "imperial purple." The Essential Treasure. "We know," he continued, "that such achievements as yours could only have been won by a personal protecting wing of liberty and for your essential treasure, more precious far than your wealth and your progress, lies in the principles of liberty and the equality of your institutions and your loyalty to them. Were your loyalty to cease your greatness would vanish like a noon-day dream, and thus we bid you farewell. There is a peculiar dawn on the horizon, for the task of man is endless, and every noble American is a rising sun. Ours means the union from North to the Liberty of men."

Among other speakers was Senor Gonzalo Vergara Bulnes, of Chile, who declared that the recent financial conferences showed clearly that there were many vast problems confronting the two Americas which might well hold out any prospect of actual and immediate profit, but which must be solved by men of heart and intelligence.

ATLANTA'S STRIDES FROM DAY TO DAY

The Eiseman Brothers property, on the Whitehall street viaduct, a six-story and basement building, fronting 79 feet on the west side of Whitehall, has been leased to C. W. McClure, the ten-cent man who will remodel it into the fronting of the building and move into it within a short time.

The wholesale department of the McClure Ten-Cent store, located at No. 41-49 South Broad street, will occupy the third, fourth and fifth floors of the Eiseman building.

The retail store, now located at Whitehall and Hunter streets, will occupy the remaining floors.

There were few permits issued in building Skidway, but the first twelve days of the month ended with an increase of $7,992 as compared with building permits for the same period last year. The June 1915 permits total $126,144, against June 1914, $168,122.

May Deficit, 2 Per Cent. The American Census Bureau issued the following interesting information in regard to May building in seventy-one leading cities, and gives a striking comparison of building for five months, 1915, as compared with similar period of last year.

May presents another comparatively favorable showing in the great building industry, the duty of pinning the cross of the legion of honor on the breast of his son, Jean Humbert, a hero of only 19 years of age, doubtless the youngest wearer of the coveted red ribbon.

Gen. Joffre Leaves to Gen. Humbert Duty of Honoring Youthful Soldier.

Nancy, France.—On one of the plateaus of French Lorraine where the French made a heroic resistance to the invading forces in September, General Joffre recently reviewed the division of cavalry commanded by General Humbert. He conferred a number of decorations, but left to General Humbert himself, the duty of pinning the cross of the legion of honor on the breast of his son, Jean Humbert, a hero of only 19 years of age, doubtless the youngest wearer of the coveted red ribbon.

Summer School in Atlanta Attracting Large Attendance

The officials of Cox College have been kept busy the past week registering students from Atlanta and from all parts of the South in the various departments of the Summer School. The Normal courses for teachers and the Curry School of Expression are proving especially popular, while many high school students are registering for work leading to advance credits or the working off of conditions. The Conservatory of Music, which is in full operation, is also attracting many unusually interesting to the citizens of Atlanta and College Park as well as to the students and summer guests.
All Departments of the Summer School are now in full swing. Students who wish to take the various courses must register within the next two weeks. The dormitories are open to summer boarders, as usual, and the "Chalet" features are proving unusually interesting to the citizens of Atlanta and College Park as well as to the students and summer guests.

Third Ward Civic Club.
A grandy knoll in Grant Park was the scene of the June session of the Women's Third Ward Civic club. Much interesting business was transacted a committee was appointed to cooperate with the committee from the Pioneer Women's society in the work of a better housing for the old war on Pine Texas and a more accessible approach to Fort Walker. These ladies, Messdames Justine Parkins, Harling and Mrs. Kate Smith, will meet with the Pioneer women and it is hoped this long neglected and much needed work will speedily be accomplished.

Suitable resolutions were passed upon the death of Mrs. Elizabeth McDonald Oldknow.

The school committee reported enthusiastic work among the children. One school asked for bird-boxes in stead of flowers and their request will be granted next month. The Pioneer Women's society had asked that each member bring some one wish regarding the needs of the war and after business these wishes were taken up. Many splendid ideas were brought forth but after much serious discussion it was decided that for the summer months the work of improving Grant Park be taken up. The park committee will ask the park board to meet many imperative conditions now extant.

A strenuous campaign will be waged upon unscreened refreshment booths needless waste of picnic dinners and the careless scattering of paper trash and such debris upon the grass. The Third Ward women stand ready to help the park commission in every way possible after the club meeting. Further announcements will be made through the newspapers.
