ful over the victory of their forces. Archduke Frederick of Austria, commander-in-chief of the Austrian forces, and General August von Mackensen, of the German army, both have been made field marshals of the Prussian army in recognition of their services in the Galician campaign.

On the River Dniester, south of Lemberg, the battle still rages.

CITY TAKEN BY STORM.

Vienna, June 23.—(Via London).—The following official communication has been issued here:

Russian war theater.

The northwest and west fronts of Lemberg, on the line of Zolkiew to Mikolajow, were strongly occupied by Russian defensive forces Tuesday at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. The German landwehr stormed the Itzenau works, on the road from Janow to Lemberg. From the north east at the same time our troops advanced across the heights east of the Mikolajow rivulet and stormed several outworks before Liza Gora height.

During the forenoon, while advancing further in the directions of the town, the remaining works northwest and west of the front were captured after fighting in this direction the Russian front again was broken and the enemy, who suffered heavy losses, again was forced to retreat.

Our troops, pursuing the enemy across the heights east and northeast of the town, crossed south of the Lemberg road to Mikolajow. Loud demonstrations of joy by the population of Boheim-Ermoll entered the town (Lemberg) at 4 o'clock in the afternoon with the troops of the second army.

Near Zolkiew and Rawa Ruska the Russians are retreating isolated Russian units on the Tancow river have been repulsed.

Last night the enemy began a further retreat between the San and Vistula rivers and in the hilly district of Kielce (Russian Poland) everywhere pursued by the allies.

On the Dniester, the general situation is unchanged.

RUSSIANS MOVE TO NEW FRONT.

Petrograd, June 23.—(Via London, June 24, 4 45 a. m.)—The following official statement in which details of the evacuation of Lemberg are given, has been made public by the war office.

In the Shavil region there is no change. The fighting continues.

South of the Radymow line our troops on the night of the 22d, crossing the River Erzjn, occupied the village of Konig, annihilating an entire German company.

In the direction of Lomsa there has been violent artillery fire.

On the 21st and 22d the enemy attacked Lubliniec, we repulsed enemy attacks. To the east of Rawa Ruska the enemy was driven back from some villages, and near the village of Gutzelena our cavalry sabred three enemy companies.

On the 21st and 22d the following night in the direction of Lwow (Lemberg) we arrested an enemy offensive by stubborn fighting. The enemy suffered great losses in the course of barren attacks near the village of Ergonowice and farther south on the River Szczerze, but succeeded in advancing in the region of the town of Jolkiew.

Consequently on the 22d our troops quitted Lwow and continued their retreat on a new front.

On the Dniester the battle has continued south of the village of Komierzynie, which enemy soldiers were driven back from the left bank of the river.

In the bends of the Dniester we drove the enemy back from the village of Unich toward the village of Luka. In a successful bayonet fight we captured a thousand prisoners.

In a previous statement by the Russian war office, an important victory is claimed below Nijnif, on the Dniester, after a stubborn battle which has resulted in the capture of 1,000 prisoners were captured and Cossacks are said to be in pursuit of the fleeing Austrians. The capture of 1,000 prisoners is reported near the Bukowina border.

The communication follows:

"In the Tannoff region our infantry crossed the river Sunday night near Orlow. On the 21st our troops, consisting of the Eighty-second Austrian regiment, attacked by a Russian detachment of Gieszowian-Rawa Ruska and took 300 prisoners.

On the Dniester we achieved an important success below Nijnif. The Austrians sent across the Dniester strong contingents with which we had been fighting desperately since the 15th of the month. On the 21st our troops, consisting of the 15th and 16th regiments of the 1st division of the 1st Army, repulsed the Austrians. At dawn this struggle ended in our complete success. Our infantry captured several fortified farms near Snowidow where the enemy resisted desperately. Here we took more than 2,000 prisoners and captured a maximum supply of munitions of war. The enemy, in full flight, fell back across the Dniester. Our Cossacks followed the heels of the fleeing enemy bridges and continued the pursuit of the right bank. Near Koropiec and Komierzynie our troops are retreating.

Monday night after a desperate battle we stormed the village of Salantowki, Rowants and Gronohats, taking one thousand prisoners, including a machine gun and a number of machine guns.

SLIGHT PROGRESS FOR THE FRENCH.

Paris, June 23.—Tonight's war office communication said:

"On the front of Arras nothing was reported today except several infantry actions. North of Soches we made considerable gains and repulsed the counter attack. The cannons have not ceased in the sector between Arras and Valenciennes.

Near Berry-Au-Bac, at Hill 108, we exploded a mine which very seriously damaged the German trenches.

In Champagne on the Perthes-Beausjour front, an action by means of mines occurred and a violent cannonade followed.

On the heights of the Meuse at the Calonne trench, the enemy this morning (the 22d) made a violent attack. He tried him to retake his former second line. In the course of the afternoon a few German airplanes were shot down and immediately checked.

Taking, in our turn, the offensive, we returned to the trench in the second line of the enemy.

In the outskirts of Le Prestre forest the enemy launched a particularly violent attack. In the afternoon we repulsed it in the most energetic manner. We took some prisoners among them three officers. The enemy's counter attack against the positions we have taken near Lentreire. They were repulsed and all our gains and took some prisoners.

In the Vosges, at Fontenelle in the region of Ban-de-Sapt, the enemy advanced one of our positions, advanced about 200 yards and captured the summit in gaining a footing. At the same time an attack on neighboring heights was delivered. This counter offensive was checked immediately by a French counter attack led with great brilliancy. The enemy was repulsed to the ground. The enemy was successful in maintaining his position only in the extreme west of the front. We captured 142 prisoners including three officers.

In the region of the Pecht we have occupied the heights of the Pecht and pushed our line along the slope to the east of this village.

SEVEN DAYS GIVEN BRITISH WORKMEN

To Rally to Factories to Produce Munitions—If They Fail Parliament Will Order Compulsory Labor.

London, June 23.—David Lloyd-George, minister of munitions, has given British labor seven days in which to make good the promise of its leaders that the men will rally to the factories in sufficient numbers to produce a maximum supply of munitions of war. This was the most striking statement in the new minister's speech in the house of commons today in which he outlined the measure designed to control not only the munitions output, but the men responsible for production.

The first of the seven allotted days will begin tomorrow and with its dawn will be launched a great campaign to recruit the workers.

"I had a fresh discussion with the trades union leaders," said Lloyd-George, "and told them if an adequate supply of labor could not be secured, compulsion was inevitable. The union representatives answered 'Give us a chance to supply the men needed in seven days, if we cannot get them we will admit that our case is considerably weakened.'"

"The seven days will begin tomorrow," continued Lloyd-George, "and advertisements will appear in all the newspapers, which he described as the recruiting offices and the assistance of everyone has been invited."

There will be no age limit to the men recruited, they will not wear uniforms, but will have to give their full time to the work, and they will receive a certificate attesting that they are working for king and country.

Strikes and Lockouts Barred.

The munitions bill makes strikes and lockouts illegal. It provides for compulsory arbitration, limits the profits of employers, creates a voluntary army of workmen pledged to go wherever they are wanted and contains other provisions, which will give the government full power to carry out the plans he has devised to develop production of munitions.

After emphasizing the absolute necessity of vast supplies of guns and ammunition, which he described as the great essential of victory, the minister announced that he had sent David Alfred Thomas, managing director of great colliery companies in South Wales, to represent the munitions department in the United States and Canada. Respecting this appointment the minister said:

In consequence of the great importance of the American and Canadian markets and the numerous offers to provide munitions, it is very desirable that we have some one over there. Accordingly we have sent a very able business man, Mr. D. A. Thomas, who will be given the fullest responsibility for the discharge of his important duties. There is no doubt that we have some one over there who will be able to superintend our export agencies. They have worked admirably and have saved us many millions. Mr. Thomas will cooperate with the Messrs. Morgan with a view to expediting supplies.

How Germany Secretly Prepared.

Speaking of German preparation, the minister said:

Germany has been piling up material until she was ready she was friendly with everybody. During the war while none could have been more modest or unpretentious she had a benevolent smile for France. She walked arm in arm with Great Britain through the chancelleries of Europe. We really thought an era of peace and good will had come. At that moment she was forging and hiding away enormous war stores to lack her neighbors unawares and murder them in their sleep.

"If that trickery is to succeed all the bases of international good will crumble to dust. It is essential for the peace of the world that it should fail, and it is up to us to see that it fails. It depends more on Great Britain than on any one else to see that it fails."

"One of the pillars of good government is that evil doing shall be punished, that is equally true of the sphere of munitions. If the munitions value alone will not achieve success, or the valor of our brave men at the front will not achieve success, we must strain every resource of the machinery of organization at our disposal so as to drive conviction into the hearts of every nation over the whole world that those governments who deceive their neighbors to their ruin do so at their peril."

The minister's peroration was greeted with loud and prolonged applause.

Free Hand for Lloyd-George.

The minister, in winding up the debate on the bill, said he would hold himself responsible for the supply of munitions at the rate of 100,000 tons a month. He would make himself thoroughly acquainted with what was going on there.

This was in answer to a question by Mr. Arthur MacKinnon, liberal, who said that if Mr. Lloyd-George was not going to be independent of the war office, by which the main line of direction into the heart of the munitions industry was fore-shadowed by failure.

Mr. Lloyd-George, continuing, said he was sure that Lord Kitchener would agree that the minister of munitions should have a free hand. He hoped that the bill would be passed by Friday, when the members could read it and they would see that it satisfactorily disposed of most of the criticisms.

The bill passed its first reading, it will receive its second reading Monday.

NEUTRAL MAIL OPENED BY BRITISH CENSOR

Washington, June 23.—Further evidence of interference with neutral mail passing through England was received at the state department today in the form of an envelope, postmarked in a neutral European country, addressed to a person in the United States and bearing on its face the printed legend "opened by censor."

An investigation of this subject has been in progress in the postoffice department since the Swedish minister complained several days ago that mail from the United States to Sweden had been opened in England.

There has been no indication as to whether the United States will make representations to Great Britain. Doubt has been expressed as to whether the United States will insist on a violation of its postal conventions and postal conventions are violated by censoring of private mail transmitted across a belligerent country.

London, June 23.—Although officials decline to make any statement for publication, it is believed the British government will institute an inquiry into the whole question of censoring neutral mails.

PROGRESS CLAIMED BY THE GERMANS.

Berlin, June 23.—(Via London).—The German official statement today says:

Western.

We subjected the fortress of Dunkirk and the troop concentration camps of the enemy near the villages of Berzels, Hondshoeve, Funes and Casse to our fire. From Givenchy north of the La Bassée and at Neuville, enemy attacks were frustrated at the very start by our artillery south of Soches we made progress in trench fighting.

In the Neuvilly hills we continued their attempts to break through our lines but without the slightest result. All attacks which have been considerable losses to the enemy up to the present we have taken 280 unarmoured French soldiers and three officers seven machine guns, and twenty mine throwers.

Advances in engagements east of Luneville continue. In the Vosges we took Hill No. 631 at Ban-de-Sapt, which had been fought for hours, and which dominates the surrounding country. We took in this engagement 100 prisoners, three machine guns, one mine thrower and much other material. The enemy's attempts to recapture the position were unsuccessful.

North of Neuville one of our aeroplanes compelled an enemy aviator to descend.

The French official report that Belgian troops captured a German trench southwest of St. Georges in an invention.

Eastern.

The situation is unchanged in the Southeastern.

Lemberg was taken by storm yesterday afternoon by Austrian troops. The positions between the Dniester at Mikolajow and Lemberg also were taken. Further north the line east of Lemberg Zoltan-Ceturynka, northeast of Zolkiew, was reached during the pursuit at Rawa Ruska and to the east thereof.

"The situation remains unchanged in the San and Vistula districts. The Russians are beginning to retreat."

AUSTRIANS LOSE TO THE RUSSIANS.

Geneva, June 23.—(Via Paris).—The Tribune prints the following dispatch from Innsbruck, which purports to have been received from Czernowitz, Bukowina.

The Russians have recaptured positions on the left bank of the Dniester lost on the 20th. An Austrian force trying to cross the Dniester at its confluence with the Tancow, was defeated with the loss of 1,500 men and was obliged to retreat in the direction of Kallach.

At the cost of enormous losses, General Pflanzer made a slight advance between the Strips and the Dniester. The Russians are holding their own, inflicting severe losses on their adversaries.

"For the third time an Austrian attempt to invade Bessarabia has been repulsed with heavy losses."

NAVY YARDS DESTROYED BY RAID OF ZEPPELINS

Berlin, June 23.—(By Wireless to Sayville, N. Y.).—The Overseas agency today gave out the following:

A message from Christiania says that the steamer Iotom, which has arrived at Stavanger, reports that several Zeppelins on the night between Tuesday and Wednesday (probably June 16-18), dropped many bombs on the Armstrong works at South Shields, England, which destroyed the ship yards and arsenal. Several buildings burned all night. The damage was enormous. Seventeen persons were killed and forty injured.

The foregoing evidently refers to the raid of Zeppelins over the north-east coast of England on Tuesday night of last week. The British censorship prevented publication of details and there has been no previous intimation that the naval works at Shields were damaged. An official announcement from London last Saturday that sixteen persons had been killed and forty injured and that fires started by bombs were over the morning of the 17th, was an announcement did not say what town had been attacked.

Shields, on the bank of the Tyne, has vast docks and is a great seat of the shipbuilding and subsidiary industries. The Armstrong works, the shipbuilding yard, near Shields. The Armstrong works, in addition to its shipbuilding yards, has extensive engineering works and steel works. The company employed 14,000 men before the war.

DEMAND FOR MUNITIONS CAUSES A GREAT BOOM

Chester, Pa., June 23.—Within two months this city expects to have a boom as spectacular as those which characterized frontier mining and tin cities during the gold rush to the west. This condition became evident, when, at a meeting of real estate, financiers and builders representatives of the Remington Arm company and the Baldwin Locomotive works appeared and stated that by November the former would employ 15,000 men and the latter 10,000.

Big orders for arms and ammunition from the countries at war in Europe are primarily responsible for the prosperity attending the gigantic factory plant at Addyston, near here. The Baldwin Locomotive works, which is said to have obtained enormous contracts to furnish arms for the allies. After the contracts are filled the buildings will be turned over to Baldwin.

At least two thousand additional houses are needed in Chester to house workmen and their families.

One real estate man wants to know if the boom would "explode" if the war came to an end. He was told the Remington company had sufficient orders to keep the plant busy for two years.

Thaw's former trials, two chaplains, a physician and a keeper at the Tombs prison, where Thaw at various times was confined; two newspaper men who had been associated with him during the nine years' history of Thaw litigation, a lawyer who had met Thaw in New Hampshire and a juror in civil proceedings instituted by one of Thaw's attorneys against Thaw's mother.

All agreed that Thaw showed no symptoms of delusion, that he could talk intelligently on many subjects, had never been violent in their knowledge, and appeared rational. Thaw appeared composed on the witness stand and answered his attorney's questions in well-modulated voice and without hesitation. He described the story of his escape from Matteawan, and said he left because physicians had told him he was sane and because he himself believed he was. Cross-examination was brief.

Alleges Thaw Is Pervert. That the whole sordid history of the Thaw case would be dragged to light again before the trial is concluded was indicated by Deputy Attorney General Cook in his address. He said the state would prove Thaw was an incurable paranoiac and was morally perverted.

In his cross-examination of the witnesses today, Cook put questions designed to impress on the jury that a man suffering from the form of insanity which the state alleged Thaw possessed, might appear perfectly rational in his ordinary associations, even mentally brilliant. One important witness whom the state desires to call, Susan Merrill, whose home Thaw was alleged at his trials for murder to have frequented, was missing, Cook said today. She has been located in Boston and had promised to come to New York.

Evening Nesbit Thaw, in Chicago, Cook said, had promised to appear if needed. Thaw's summons to the stand followed the opening statement of his attorney, John E. Stanchfield, who reviewed the history of the Thaw case in court. He quoted former District Attorney Jerome as saying to the jury at Thaw's second trial for the murder of Stanford White that "no one pretends that Thaw is insane as the news items in court," and read the finding of the commission which declared Thaw sane during his first trial in 1897, when the jury disagreed.

Talked Gibberish in Childhood. Deputy Attorney General Cook, on behalf of the state, declared he would prove that Thaw "is suffering from incurable insanity" and would show "by Thaw's mother that she was suffering from nervous prostration when he was born."

"We will show you that in his childhood Thaw talked gibberish and that his teachers had to talk his language," he said.

Mr. Stanchfield began questioning Thaw in a low tone, and Thaw answered calmly. He mentioned his mother, sister and brother, who were sitting in the court room, at the request of the attorney.

"When you left Matteawan did you believe you recovered your sanity?" he was asked.

"I believed I was sane," said the witness.

Physicians had told you so? "They had."

Thaw was taken over the history of his escape to Canada and his subsequent movements.

"You formed acquaintances at various of the places where you stopped?" "I was very fortunate in forming acquaintances," was the reply.

Thaw was asked to tell of the examination into his sanity at Manchester, N. H., in connection with proceedings against him to bring him to New York. He named the members of the commission and told how it came to be appointed.

Honored His Checks. Physicians representing a Pittsburgh bank had also come to see him in Manchester, he said, but they did not give them much of an examination.

"This Pittsburgh bank honored your checks, did it not?" "Yes, and the banks in New Hampshire, Canada and elsewhere," said the witness.

When Mr. Stanchfield turned the witness over to the state's attorney, Mr. Cook announced he would not cross-examine at this time and Thaw was excused.

John E. Blackburn, one of the jurors who acquitted Thaw at his second murder trial, testified that the verdict was given on the ground that he was insane at the time he committed the act. At the time of the trial Thaw's actions and demeanor impressed him as rational, he said.

John H. Holbert, a member of the jury that acquitted Thaw at his second murder trial, testified that the verdict was given on the ground that he was insane at the time he committed the act. At the time of the trial Thaw's actions and demeanor impressed him as rational, he said.

Testimony that Thaw's conduct during the trial was rational was given by M. I. Malinsky, a lawyer, who said that he stayed for some time at the same hotel with Thaw. Lawton Mackall, another juror at Thaw's conspiracy trial, gave his opinion that Thaw was rational. He said the first thing the jury did when it retired for a verdict was to take a vote on the insanity of the defendant, and that this was unanimously in the affirmative.

Rev. J. E. Evans, father of the chaplain of the Tombs prison, where Thaw at various times was confined, likewise expressed his opinion that Thaw was normal. "He was perfectly rational," said the priest. He added that Thaw had been sane at the time of his first trial, and that his insanity was a matter of the same lines as was given by the Rev. J. A. Wade, formerly Protestant chaplain of the Tombs.

GERMAN SPY MULLER SHOT IN THE TOWER

The Executed Man Once Lived in Boston, Where He Moved in Good Circles.

London, June 23.—F. Robert Muller, who on June 4 was found guilty at the Tower of being a German spy, was executed in the tower today by shooting.

Another alleged German spy, Robert Rosenthal, who is said by the police to have confessed that he was sent to England by the German admiralty to obtain information on naval matters, is to be court-martialed.

The official announcement concerning Muller and Rosenthal was extremely brief, stating merely that Muller had been put to death in the tower today and that the summary of the evidence in the case of the alleged spy Rosenthal was taken to the Tower barracks today. He will be tried by court-martial.

It is presumed that Muller faced a firing squad in the yard of the Tower of London at dawn, as did Carl Hans Lody, executed last November after he had been convicted of spying.

F. Robert Muller was arrested some time ago with Anton Kueperle and a man named Hahn. All three were accused of sending military intelligence to Germany by means of invisible ink. Muller and Hahn were convicted and Muller was sentenced to death while Hahn was sentenced to ten years' penal servitude. Kueperle committed suicide while his trial was in progress.

Muller once lived in Boston, where he was in the rubber business and moved in good social circles. He claimed to be a naturalized Britisher. His father was a German and his mother a Scotch woman.

Not Boston Muller. Boston, June 23.—F. Robert Muller, formerly in the rubber business here, asserted tonight that he was not the man shot in the tower in London by a firing squad. A letter from the former Boston man was shown, saying that he was in the British army. Muller mentioned in the letter the espionage ruse which he said he felt through the fact that he had been confused with a man named Muller recently convicted as a spy.

SHIPMENT OF MUNITIONS STOPPED TO RUSSIA

Seattle, Wash., June 23.—That large shipments of war material for Russia have been canceled by American manufacturers who are said to be unable to obtain cash payments for their products, became known today when the Great Northern Steamship company announced that the liner Minnesota probably will not include Vladivostok as a port of call on her next voyage.

The Minnesota was scheduled to sail direct from Seattle to Vladivostok June 27 with practically a full cargo for the Russian government. Seventy-five per cent of these shipments have been canceled by manufacturers.

Thin Folks Who Would Be Fat

Increase in Weight Ten Pounds or More. A Physician's Advice. "I'd certainly give most anything to be able to fat up a few pounds and stay that way," declared every thin man or woman. Such a result is not impossible, despite past failures. Thin people in the line of medicine are the ones who are most in need of the condition which prevents the fatty elements of food from being taken up by the blood as they enter the system. Instead of nutrition are normal, instead of getting into the blood, all the fat and flesh forming elements of the food are eliminated until they pass from the body as waste.

ITALIANS OPENING ROUTE TO TRIEST

Summary of First Month's Operations Shows Success for the Invaders—Much Austrian Territory Held.

Rome, June 23.—(Via Chiasso to Paris.)—One of the chief generals in the Italian war office summarizes the first month of the Italian campaign against Austria about as follows:

"One month ago the Italians invaded Austrian territory and occupied the enemy positions along a front of 500 miles. An Austrian squadron bombarded the Italian coast on the Adriatic and Austrian aeroplanes dropped eleven bombs on Venice."

"During this month the Italians overran the whole of Friuli. The capture of Tolmino and Gorizia, the two Austrian strongholds, is considered imminent, which would open the way to Trieste, while in the Alpine region in the province of Trent they have conquered peaks and passes, from which the picked Austro-Hungarian troops have been unable to dislodge them."

Austrian activity has been steadily displayed in bombarding the Italian Adriatic towns."

AUSTRIANS CHECKED, ITALIANS REPORT. Rome, June 23.—(Via Paris.)—The following statement was issued at the headquarters of the Italian general staff today:

"Enemy activity yesterday was confined to long range artillery fire at several points on the front."

"The Alpine troops attacked the enemy positions and inflicted heavy losses and taking some prisoners."

"Night attacks by infantry were renewed against our positions at Piava with the most intense rifle fire and hand grenades. All these attacks were repulsed."

"On the lower Isonzo we further strengthened our occupation. Floods caused by the enemy in the zone adjacent to the Moravice canal, although sensibly decreasing, still constitute a formidable obstacle."

"An enemy aeroplane dropped several bombs without doing any damage."

POSITIONS TAKEN BY ITALIANS. Geneva, June 23.—(Via Paris.)—A Tribune dispatch from Laibach says: "The Italians have gained possession of all the positions defending Malborghetto and the strategic positions of the Austrians, particularly the Heveder detachments, which displayed great tenacity. Fighting now is being violently bombarding the front."

Arrival of Austrian reinforcements stopped the Italian advance at Caporetto, but they have not come back across the Isonzo.

Thirty thousand Austrians who debouched from the Ternofo forest are marching against positions north of Colizza.

"The heaviest of Flitsch strong Austrian forces sought to drive back the Italians who gave way before superior numbers and retired as far as the frontier, where they concealed themselves in a forest and allowed the Austrians to install in Italian positions the Italians opened a murderous fire, killing or wounding a large number of their adversaries and forcing the rest out of their positions."

ITALY ALLIGES TO WANT PEACE. Berlin, June 23.—(B) Wireless to Saville, N. Y.)—The Overseas Agency gives out the following: "The Vienna correspondent of the Tagliche Rundschau says he has learned on excellent authority that Italy has proposed to Austria that she withdraw from the territory she has annexed in return for which Italy pledges herself to give up all her claims to territory. This proposal was made to Austria by the Italian government in a letter which was sent to the Austrian government in a letter of a revolution."

DUELS IN PROGRESS ABOVE THE CLOUDS. Geneva, June 23.—(Via Paris.)—Newspapers of the Canton of Glarons, in the Swiss Alps, have obtained from Swiss soldiers and guides respecting the fighting at Stelvio pass and the north of Austria, the following details: "The Austrians have fortified Stelvio pass and built strong positions on both sides. The Italians hold other passes nearby and duels are in progress daily above the clouds, which cut off the valleys from view in consequence both the Austrian and Italian have to depend upon field telephones for obtaining the range for their guns."

Italian howitzers lower down have the exact range of the pass and fire through the clouds. Their principal target is a hotel on the summit of the mountain. Austrian artillery is lodged Dreijachen Spitze with an altitude of 5,327 feet, which is an Austrian military station being bombarded from Scuarzo. In one hour the Italians dropped 85 shells there, while the Austrians dropped 100. Stelvio pass is covered with two feet of snow. At night it presents an unusual appearance from the searchlights of both sides and by flashes of artillery fire, piercing the clouds."

AUSTRIANS DENY GAINS FOR ITALIANS. Vienna, June 23.—(Via London.)—The Austrian war office tonight issued the following in regard to the Italian war: "During the first month of the war the Italians have gained no great success. Our troops in the southwest are maintaining their positions as in the beginning, on or near the frontier."

TURKS DECIMATED BY FIRE OF ALLIES

Brilliant Success Reported at Dardanelles—Turkish Trenches Carried Over a Long Front.

Paris, June 23.—A description of operations in the Dardanelles issued by the war office tonight said: "Yesterday the expeditionary corps in the Orient attacked the Turkish lines on two-thirds of the front. After an artillery preparation the infantry sallied from the trenches with superb spirit. Our left, in a single bound, carried two lines of the enemy's trenches, and these they held notwithstanding violent and numerous counter attacks."

"To the right, on more difficult ground, the struggle continued throughout the day on the ruins of the Turkish works which had been razed by the artillery. The enemy, bringing up without cessation fresh troops, had succeeded in retaking these entrenchments when a battalion of Zouaves, in a bayonet assault, carried the position in ten minutes."

"This brilliant charge decided the issue and finished for the day the effort of the Turks to regain the ground lost."

"In a counter offensive on our right the enemy was decimated without having achieved any gain."

"Summing up, the day ended with success along the whole line, despite the desperate nature of the struggle. We took some prisoners, among whom were several officers."

"The battleship St. Louis has effectively bombarded the batteries on the Asiatic side. At our left the British army gave us efficient support. Everything confirms that the enemy's losses were very heavy."

"The important point is that we have occupied the ground which commands the head of the ravine of Sereves Dere, which the Turks had defended with the utmost determination for several months, using all their resources to hold it."

BIG DECREASE SHOWN IN CUSTOMS REVENUES. Washington, June 23.—Customs officials declared tonight that the revenues from customs now in hand for the fiscal year which ends June 30, amount to more than $204,000,000, and that there is a prospect that the total for the year will be close to $210,000,000.

This would be $30,000,000 below the estimates made by Secretary McAdoo last fall and less by more than $8,000,000 than the receipts last year, before the European war interfered with imports.

The closest calculation as to the amount of customs for the year was made several months ago by A. J. Selers, assistant secretary of the treasury, in charge of customs, who figured on $218,000,000.

A FORWARD STEP.

The decision of the board of education to consolidate the Boys' and the Girls' Commercial High schools, and to rent for the time a new building specially constructed to accommodate the twenty-one classes of both institutions, is a step in the right direction.

The removal of the commercial department of the Girls' High school from the Crew street building leaves that open again for grammar school purposes, and, renovated and improved, it will accommodate the children of the Bell Street school, leaving the latter building for a much-needed negro school.

Removing the business department of the Boys' High school relieves the crowding there. The Boys' Night school, now in basement rooms, and the Girls' Night school will be housed in the new building, saving the city $90 a month rental.

The proposed new building and accompanying readjustments not only do away with "chicken-coop annexes" and makeshift methods to meet the temporary emergency, but it is an economic arrangement, which insures ample space for the classical departments of the Boys' and Girls' High schools, while making splendid arrangements for the Commercial schools.

The incident of co-education which has entered into the matter of consolidating the Boys' and Girls' High schools, can have no problematic feature today, since the most progressive school systems of the world have tried the experiment, with eminent success.

The same boys and girls who meet in the new High school will have attended the grammar schools together. Pursuing their commercial and business studies in the same building, they will in many cases start their life careers in the same office buildings and business institutions.

The common interest thus developed in the class room can in time prove an element in the co-operation which must exist between men and women in the building of civic ideals—an eloquent expression of which was given, the other day, when the women of the Atlanta School Improvement association adopted a resolution endorsing the proposition to consolidate county and city forces in the building of a great High school worthy of the progress and prosperity of both city and county.

THE LEGISLATURE MEETS.

The general assembly convened Wednesday for a session of fifty days. Hon. Ogden Persons was elected president of the senate and Hon. W. H. Burwell was re-elected speaker of the house.

They are both men with records of splendid service in former legislatures, and will measure up to all that is expected of them. In general representation it is a legislative body far above the average in the intelligence and thought it brings to its work.

As to the work ahead of it, the state may feel secure that its interests are in such good hands. He says: A great many "wisacencies" and northern cotton men said the southern farmers would not promise to cut the area, but they did it to their entire satisfaction.

CUTTING COTTON ACREAGE.

G. H. Hunnicutt, editor of The Southern Cultivator, in a review of diversified farming conditions in Georgia, after recent extended travel over the state, gives results as showing that the farmers have kept faith with their promise to reduce the cotton acreage. He says: A great many "wisacencies" and northern cotton men said the southern farmers would not promise to cut the area, but they did it to their entire satisfaction.

The interest in cattle-raising is noted, mention being made of the recent sale of Hereford cattle at Quitman, where they brought from $100 up to $330. And Mr. Hunnicutt calls special attention to the fact that now ten mule colts may be seen to one in former times.

Alfalfa is being grown successfully, and in every branch of farm industry progress is noticeable, the result of better farming on broader lines. It is, indeed, an encouraging outlook.

THE MATTER WITH ATLANTA.

Diagnosing Atlanta's case in connection with the recent appointment of the committee of one hundred citizens and twenty-five leading Atlanta women, to investigate the various city departments and institutions, and say just what, in view of the constant turmoil of investigations, is Atlanta's present trouble. The Savannah Morning News suggests that it will probably be discovered to be too much of the wrong kind of politics. The Morning News says:

Does Atlanta need a change to the commission form of government? The new committee does not have in mind it is said, a recommendation that the present form be radically changed, but as it goes over the city with a microscope it is likely to find some things that would be changed for the better in the commission form. It won't be surprising if it finds that the principal ailment from which she suffers is politics. Politics is either a disease or a food. Sometimes it is a disease and at other times it is a food. Both varieties seem to flourish in Atlanta, and her present trouble indicates that she has more of the sort that is a disease than is good for her.

Without attempting to anticipate the committee's report, we are inclined to the belief that, even from its distance, The Morning News has come pretty near hitting the nail a direct and forceful blow on the head. There is scarcely a doubt that the committee will find that politics of the wrong sort—the entirely too personal sort—has been the main factor in destroying harmony and bringing about conditions leading to the many investigations which have hurt Atlanta both at home and abroad.

There never has been and never will be any objection to the kind of politics that has the public welfare at the root of it.

We anticipate the committee will experience no difficulty whatever in ascertaining that too much personal politics has much to do with Atlanta's present weakness. The committee's truly hard task will come in finding the effective remedy. Effort in this direction has been made before, without success. If this committee can find the way to eliminate this sort of politics from the city government and then put it over, it will deserve the profound and lasting thanks of the people of Atlanta.

THE CHEERFUL FIGHTERS.

Stories from the battle front in France all dwell upon the cheerful feeling of the men under appalling difficulties. President Polk, addressing the soldiers of northern France recently, said that he was "impressed with the cheerfulness, even joyousness, with which they went into battle."

The French soldier is in his glory whenever the order to charge is given. A war staged on such different lines from battles of old causes a feeling of restlessness among the troops, crouched in muddy trenches; but when there is a chance for "the glory of the fight," the thrill of the spirit of old battles is felt, and great guns seem to flash the fire of Fame.

It is a war that has its dull days of weary and watchful waiting, but the testimony is that the French fighters keep up a fairly good average of cheerfulness, and live in hope that the spectacular is coming! They must hand it to the Russians that what they don't know about retreating isn't worth knowing.

JUST FROM GEORGIA

Frank L. Stanton. 'Were They Get Him to Adjoin?' The innocence of little folks a-swingin' on the gate. Don't know their daddy's makin' laws for runnin' of the state; With statesmen at the capitol he's takin' of his turn.

'Twill be fifty days, I reckon, 'fore they git him to adjoin! He waved farewell to home-folks—the valleys an' the hills, To rise to the occasion, with a pocket full o' bills; He'll set the house on fire with words that'll burn in the hearts of all.

'Twill be fifty days o' summer 'fore they git him to adjoin. With statesmen there a-many it's hard for ONE to rise, An' read his slummy titles to the legislative skies; But we'll see him in the papers, an' we'll listen, an' we'll learn.

Through fifty days o' summer—'fore they git him to adjoin. 'Gone to the Legislature.' We pulled through the last time, and the grace o' God may be with us still. Don't know what new laws we may have to break, but we're livin' in hope of high-water mark on the legislative shore.

All we know of the legislative situation is that our representative went pledged to stay and see it out. Our only moonshine 'still has mysteriously disappeared. But we place no faith in the rumor that the gentleman from Billville took it with him. He'll get 'em. For the worryin' weather bend their heads low on the ground, Where they ask, while burns the brimstone: 'How's the weather pleasin' you?' In the land where seasons change not, Where falls no coolin' dew, Forever and forever: 'How's the weather pleasin' you?'

'The "Literary Yell".' The "literary yell" is a new one, and is the cause of this protest from a correspondent, of the Morrillton (Ark.) Headlight: "There is one thing that is requested of the young people who attend the Literary society at Overcup—do not yell or holler on the road home. It does not look well, neither does it sound well, and it gives those who do not believe in a literary society a clean bill of health. The shouting of yelling like demons and waking people from their slumbers is a disgrace to civilization."

'The Gentleman From Anywhere.' His constituents to care for In weather foul or fair, He knows just what he's there for And he's mighty glad he's there. No hush, ambitious ravin' From morn till day grows late; The state is worth the savin' And he's sure to save the state.

'Would Break His Bank.' We commend the following, by "The Bentonville Bard," to those who rave at the rise in temperature: "I'll never have enough to pay For half an hour of summer day; And if I tried to pay for all that hot sun, I'd be a dead man. My bank would go into the wall—So rich is sunny life with mirth, 'Tis not the beauty that my debt Has never lessened from its birth And doesn't yet!"

'Oh, What's the Last.' There is a story of a western farmer who stood at the edge of the mud lake into which his farm had been converted by a flood. "Today," he said, "Ain't those ducks havin' a fine time?" No matter how the blessing tumbled down He only saw a lonely road and rough. He wept and wailed in Tribulation Town: "Prosperity ain't prosperin' enough!"

'That Will Do It.' A thought from an exchange philosopher of The Arkansas Gazette: "If you want new life injected into a lagging argument, let a fool have the floor for a few moments." No gloomy hymn the times cry. In these days of gloom and gloom, 'Ef the world has gone to blazes, She'll know jes' how to blaze!"

'Prayer of Dr. Williams.' Lawd, keep us happy on a little bit, an' when we git more, keep us from lettin' it make a fool of us!

BUYING BOOKS.

By GEORGE FITCH. Author of "At Good Old Straws."

Buying books is a habit, varying from a religion to a proof of vacancy above the ears. People buy books for many reasons. Some buy them to read and love and bequeath to their heirs, or give to personal friends with passages from them to be read.

Others buy books because the architect has provided built-in bookcases beside the fireplace in the living room, and these do not look well empty. Still others purchase literature because a large, calm man with a hypnotic smile reads them half of a prospectus held upside down, while lunch is waiting at home, and then says "Sign here, please."

Many a man who bought about thirty-seven lineal feet of books at $2.50 per volume, payable $2 down and $2 a month until the collector dies of old age, and realizes that in addition to paying for them he ought to read the blamed things, he gradually becomes embittered against literature in general, and speaks of De Maupassant in coldly scornful tones. There is still another method of purchasing the wisdom of the ages. Think to look over samples of hand-tooled bindings and pick out the most pleasing combination of colors and designs. This is a favorite method of the "No. 1" class, and it is a dependency as to realize that if we were rich we would be able to buy a set of Marlin Tupper's works bound in full leather with a red heart tangle up in blue woodbine, tooled into a pure white cover with polka dots of green.

The Holland Letter

During the fiscal year which will end on Wednesday of next week several of the men of finance who have been accomplishing great things since the first of August of last year are celebrating their fiftieth year. The president of the National City bank, Frank A. Vanderlip, and one of the vice presidents who serves under him, William A. Simonsen, were under 50 by a few months when they participated in the constructive financial work which has at last brought order out of the chaos which began immediately after Germany started her great drive upon Paris. It is a fact that almost all who participated in this constructive work were of the younger generation, and a few of them being past 50 years of age, so that it will hereafter be reported among the traditions of this momentous year that in it was demonstrated the capacity of the younger generation to meet new responsibilities and to deal with the new and wholly original financial problems.

The old generation began to pass away shortly after the era of combinations which brought about what was colloquially called "big business." Those who took part in the financial work of the early days of the active life began a few years after the close of the civil war. They built railroads, they expanded our commerce, they financed great industrial organizations and they established the economic principle upon which is based "big business" in its reasonable and honorable meaning, is based. Then gradually they began to drop away. Some retired to private life, some remained partially active, some took part in the stupendous movement by means of which the currency panic of 1907 was averted, and in 1908 they were again active in the financial work of the younger generation began its business life. When the late J. F. Morgan died a question commonly asked was whether his son had the constructive ability and the capacity for leadership which were characteristic of his father.

Test of Young Morgan. And it was one of the wisest and most experienced men of affairs who said that the younger Morgan's qualities in this respect were not far behind those of his father. He never had the opportunity—were presented to him for solution. That test came much later than the time of his father's death, but it was a test that was made when war of a sudden began in Europe. The conditions and the conditions with which the younger generation found itself in August last year to have passed of a kind impossible for any one to face were of a kind which the younger Morgan had revealed themselves to be fully equipped, mentally and temperamentally, for handling a crisis like that of which had never been experienced in the United States nor, in fact, anywhere else in the world. Many of those who are of this younger generation called the "plain people," Abraham Lincoln called the "plain people." Almost all of them were in youth unfamiliar with wealth and not bred in luxury. Almost all of them were gradually promoted for merit and demonstrated that it is true in spite of the fact that the world has never in some departments of art that modernity prevails. It is not true in the world of business or of banking.

Some of the Young Men. The present head of the house of J. F. Morgan & Co. is under 50 years of age, as are some of his partners. Henry I. Davison, who trod alone, unassisted, excepting by his own merits, the path which has led to success, is still under 50 years of age and before he had reached the age of 40 he had become one of the leading constructive financial forces of the United States. Another partner, Thomas W. Lamont, was less than twenty years ago a newspaper man. In his forty-fourth year, he had mastered the problem of the financing of the great canal project, and a solution was necessary before the New York Central Railroad corporation could undertake the largest piece of single financing ever undertaken by any railroad.

Benjamin Strong, Jr., now the governor of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, is under 50 years of age, and he was well below the half-century mark when he was chosen president of one of the largest trust institutions in the United States.

No one man in official authority did more to aid in the restoration of order in our financial life last fall and winter than did W. P. G. Harding, of the federal reserve board at Washington. His counsel was sought and followed, especially at the time when the co-operation of the banks of the United States in underwriting a $100,000,000 loan was asked for. Mr. Harding spoke both from experience and as a financial philosopher whose mind went to the root of the matter, and he was the man who earnestly recommended the policy of this kind. He, too, was just turning 50 years of age when he did these things.

What is true of New York is also reported to be true of Boston, of St. Louis, of Chicago, of Philadelphia, of San Francisco, of the president of the greatest trust institution in the world, Charles D. Sabin, was under 50 when he was in the present fiscal year, chosen president of this institution, and he began his life upon his father's farm. Recently, when speaking of a heavy credit movement of gold from Europe to the United States in the last year of McKinley's first administration, Mr. Sabin said that that was before his time. In this remark he illustrated the fact that the new generation has entered upon the fullness of its manhood in the present fiscal year.

What is true of banking life is also true to a great extent of railroad and industrial life. Lewis E. Pierson, who is understood to receive the largest salary paid to the president of any mercantile house in the world is 47 years of age. The president of the American Bankers' Association when he had just turned 40, Charles E. Warren, president of the Lincoln National Bank of New York, was four years under 50 years of age when he was chosen president of the American Bankers' Association. Earl D. Babst, who is presumably to be the new president of the American Sugar Refining Company, is five years under 50, and he had already established a great reputation as a merchant, although earlier trained as a lawyer and a stock exchange member. Therefore, it is now said that one of the finest revelations of the many wonderful ones made in the present fiscal year is the demonstration of the capacity of the new generation of Americans to take up and continue the work of the generation which preceded it.

Reciprocity. A rule of dealings among men is that consideration treatment MUST BE RECIPROCAL. In all our acts we try to MERIT CONFIDENCE. Not always, however, is that effort reciprocated. For instance, council enacts an ordinance requiring us hereafter to lay concrete foundations under trolley tracks wherever permanent pavement is put down. The ordinance is passed on the very day of its introduction, without discussion, without reference to a committee, without notice to us—though we're affected by it VERY SERIOUSLY AND TAXPAYERS OF ATLANTA. Later, at our earnest request, a committee's named to study the matter. We lay our case before it, and the committee RECOMMENDS REPEAL of the ordinance. But council, offhand again, turns the committee down and stands pat for concrete foundation. We can't believe the gentlemen who speak your voice in the city's legislature have proceeded in this matter carefully, upon mature and conservative judgment. We can't believe they realize the ordinance would COMPEL US TO WASTE LARGE SUMS OF MONEY. Good strong arguments are flung against concrete foundation for tracks, but we won't bore you with 'em now. Sports Today's Game Starts An Hour Earlier Edited By Dick Jemison

Herb Kelly Twirls No-Hit Game for Nine Innings But Barons Win Out in Tenth

For two weeks and the Crackers would have won in regulation innings and likely would have been in the hall of fame today, with a no-hit game to his credit. Both sides contributed some splendid fielding stunts. All in all, it was the greatest game that has been staged at Ponce de Leon this season.

Lee opened the inning by hitting Carroll. He fumbled, then threw wild to first and Lee was safe. Manning sacrificed. Kaufman bounced a blow off Black's glove and Lee ambled to third. Bismard was sent up with instructions to put on the squeeze play.

Lord Cecil Coombs was selected in a one-round decision over Mary Calhoun already this season, rushed pell mell into the fray, only to have said intention promptly chided when he ran scurrying into Bill Rumber's big paw.

Umpire Jack O'Poole then took charge of the proceedings, ejecting Lee and Black from the game as he should have done, despite protest from both sides.
