Chicago, February 14.—Captain Nicholas Hunt, of the detective bureau, who is directing the search for Jean Cron, the missing assistant chef who is suspected of having poisoned the soup served at a banquet to Archbishop Mundelein here last Thursday, said tonight that the search has developed the existence of a gang of fifteen anarchists whose grudge lay principally against the church and church men. He said that he had the names of most of the members and that detectives have been instructed to search for them.

Captain Hunt named Frank Allegrini, in whose rooms anarchistic letters and literature were found, as one of the men. The names of the alleged anarchists are said to have been taken from these letters. They were written in 1913 and are said to disclose a widespread plot, extending to Rome, Italy, to destroy churches and church property of all creeds.

Efforts to Organize Branches. According to Detective Sergeant Paul Riccio, who aided in translating the letters from the Italian in which they were written, the headquarters of the society was in Rome. Efforts were made to organize branches of the society all over the world. In the United States public buildings were to receive the attention of the anarchists in addition to the churches. Most of the letters were addressed to "Dear Cousin" from "Fiqua, Ohio, May 20, 1913."

The first of the letters, unaddressed and unsigned, goes into details of a bomb invented by the writer. "My boys," the letter says, "will be a fine thing to throw among a lot of religious people when they go out dressed in their best clothes on the boulevards to talk the sermon over."

The second letter mentioned the receipt of a letter from Allegrini. "I am glad you are taking interest," it said, "but I will recommend you to be careful with your pals, because there may be some traitors among them who cannot tell a lie to fool justice."

The third letter, which was written from Salida, said: "I have sent your trunk. Things are pretty bad here. The strike is pretty bad but your trunk was in good hands all the time. That dirty Machi has made a report that you (blank space) and they are looking for you and I beg you to be careful and let me know if you are in a safe place. I will let you know when I write again. Let me know if you are going to Barra, etc. Then you will give me (blank space). Let me know something of what is doing over there. Mut Nicholson is working over here with Miller and yesterday they fired Miller. I don't know the reason why. Perhaps the reason is that he writes to me. This letter was signed 'Folalldini'."

The Fiqua letter mentions a person named "Fornara" and speaks of the trunk containing "all those letters and papers" as having been under water for thirteen or fourteen days. They were ruined by the water, the letter says. Most of the letters were not made public. All it was shown in blank space which apparently were understood by the correspondents.

Several maps and drawings were found. They were said to indicate that the plotters had designs on the People's Gas Light and Power Company building in Chicago and other costly structures. Captain Hunt expressed the opinion that the plot was directed by St. Patrick's Roman Catholic church in New York some time ago probably was part of the general plot of the anarchists.

NET OF CIRCUMSTANCES CLOSING ABOUT LOVER

Evidence That Orpet Bought Poison Before Last Meeting With Girl He Betrayed.

Chicago, February 14.—A two-ounce bottle, purchased Madison, Wis., and poison crystals found burned in an ash heap of the suburb of Lake Forest, are believed by Lake county, Illinois, authorities to form an important link in the circumstantial evidence involving William H. Orpet, University of Wisconsin student, who is under arrest charged with causing the death of Miss Marian Frances Lambert, the 15-year-old high school girl.

Charles W. Haastinger, a clerk employed in the Madison post office, said today that he sold an empty two-ounce bottle to Orpet at noon on Tuesday. It was on this day that the collegian came to Lake Forest. The next day he had his tryst with his former sweetheart.

Search of the ash pile resulted from information received by State's Attorney Dady. It was on the estate of Cyrus H. McCormick, of which Orpet's father, C. E. Orpet, is superintendent, an under-gardener admitted that he buried the poison under orders from the senior Orpet.

"On today's developments we are ready to go to trial," said Mr. Dady. "I am convinced that the bottle purchased by young Orpet is the one in which the deadly poison was contained. Young Orpet slept Tuesday night in a garage on the McCormick estate. The poison was put on the table and was not found the bottle, although the poison was of a nature so deadly that death is an under-gardener admitted that he buried the poison under orders from the senior Orpet."

Although Miss Lambert is said to have been confronted with the fact of her motherhood in September, she was not in this condition at the time of her death, the autopsy showed, but told Orpet she was in the hope that he would remain true to her.

Parents of Girl. The parents of the girl disclaimed today any desire to release Orpet from custody and urged that the law be permitted to take its course.

Although the nature of the poison which caused the girl's death has been determined by an incomplete analysis of the stomach, the officers are at a loss to account for the fact that death in this condition at the time of her death, the autopsy showed, but told Orpet she was in the hope that he would remain true to her.

The first of the letters, unaddressed and unsigned, goes into details of a bomb invented by the writer. "My boys," the letter says, "will be a fine thing to throw among a lot of religious people when they go out dressed in their best clothes on the boulevards to talk the sermon over."

ANOTHER LYNCHING.

With another lynching in Twiggs county last week Georgia now has a record of an average of one a week since the beginning of the new year.

Georgians, of course, are not going to permit this sort of thing to go on! Public sentiment, already awakened, needs to be aroused to determined action.

The governor may reinstate the sheriff, if he makes out a satisfactory case and shows clearly he was not responsible; but where a sheriff and his friends know he is liable to lose his office unless mobs are kept down, the state is naturally going to get substantial and beneficial results.

The Georgia laws, strangely enough, appear to be made in favor of the lynchers. If Georgia sheriffs were put on their mettle like those of South Carolina, it cannot be questioned that there would be a material decrease in Georgia's mob law record.

One of the worst features from the standpoint of this state now is not so much the criticism from those of the north and east, but from our own neighbors right here at home.

CONGRESS MUST ACT! If those states which have adopted prohibition laws really want effective prohibition they are big and strong and numerous enough to demand and get from the congress of the United States such legislation as will protect them in the enforcement of their local statutes.

Prohibition laws will be largely nullified. Practically every state which has enacted dramatic prohibition legislation has been careful to allow the usual per capita consumption, or more, to be shipped in to individual consumers.

Here is the loophole in the law which makes prohibition very much of a travesty. It is possible this is necessary under present federal laws, in order to preserve the validity of the statutes enacted by the states.

Under the Dillingham measure congress could easily put it within the power of the states to say whether they want prohibition or not.

There is not going to be any fair test of real prohibition legislation until congress, by some such enactment, paves the way for real enforcement of the state laws.

THE HOME OWNER'S PROBLEM.

We publish today a discussion of the home owner's problem by W. D. Beattie, based on an experience of twenty-eight years in supplying homes on the monthly payment plan, with payments ranging all the way from $5 to $50 per month.

Mr. Beattie deals with the problem from a strictly business standpoint, bringing out forcibly the intrinsic value of the home purchase plan as compared with that of the renter.

The question of home ownership has another and an equally, if not more, important aspect, and that is its effect upon the individual himself. Home ownership unquestionably strengthens self-reliance and self-respect; it not only makes one a better man and a better citizen, but it inspires a greater degree of community confidence in him, which is by no means the least among valuable assets.

If there were only this in the investment, it would be well worth the while. But, viewing it purely from the commercial side, there is enough in the argument to impel any well balanced man of family to proceed upon an investment basis, particularly with the extraordinary opportunities Atlanta now offers to secure his own home.

The man who pays rent today is just as surely paying taxes, insurance and repair bills upon the house in which he lives as if it stood in his own name. More than that, he is paying the owner of the property a substantial rate of interest upon his investment in it.

Looked at simply from the standpoint of transforming rent payments into savings, it is important enough to induce to action. But there is yet another side to it, that of investment. It would mean saving against a rainy day, even if there were no opportunity for enhancement. But such a thing is not to be considered in connection with Atlanta property. It grows and continues to grow in value, and this will always be true in any carefully chosen location.

There is, therefore, an unquestioned earning power added to the important principle of saving. When the payments are completed, the home owner has a piece of property that is worth more than the price he paid for it.

Considered only from the commercial standpoint, there is every good reason why the Atlanta man of family should buy his own home. But when there is added to it the other aspect of character-strengthening and increased confidence, the argument becomes wholly unanswerable.

Perhaps if we got up a spelling and defining bee for the benefit of Berlin the comment would be, "Buzz, buzz?" Sometimes diplomacy doesn't think it's the real thing if it doesn't make its case as clear as muddled water. It might help some if England would send a few more of her eminent advisers on long traveling expeditions. How can we be neutral, thinks Germany, when we persist in using English words she can't understand? As the first advocate of Preparedness, Noah certainly put one over on the unbelieving. Now and then Rumania makes a move just to show that she's on the chessboard. Even if diplomatic note paper has to be yellow they will be mad enough to write red. The Carranza idea is that the mailed hand is better than the mailed Note. When T. R. seems quiet it's no sign that a nomination will catch him napping. Reports as to Villa are as you like them—either dead or married again.

WHY YOU SHOULD BUY HOME AND SHARE IN ATLANTA'S PROGRESS

Editor Constitution: It was in June, 1888, that I began selling homes on the monthly payment plan as a side line to my regular business. At that time and for many years afterwards, I was the only person here who had an interest in such matters.

My experience shows that taking the average of the last ten years the average man is better off than he was ten years ago. If he has only the normal amount of sickness, idleness, etc., he will get through without great privation; if he has less than the normal he will get through and will not miss the money he has made during his illness, idleness and misfortune, he will have a hard struggle, but he can get through. If he obligates himself to pay more for a month on his home than his salary per week, he is almost sure to fall down on his payments and lose the place.

The salaried man should not consider for a moment the carrying of a mortgage in addition to his monthly payments, because, first, it makes the property cost him more than there were no mortgage. A simple calculation will show that a mortgage to carry part of the purchase money as a time loan, paying interest on it until the monthly payments are made, renewing it and paying it off in monthly payments will make the property cost him more than if he had bought with cash.

It has been proved that protoplasm, which, as we have seen, is the active substance found in every living cell of plant or animal, draws its nutriment eventually from the water which comes to it.

Of the solid matter to be found in the human body about one-fifth is made up of the minerals—iron, calcium, phosphorus, potassium, magnesium, manganese, sodium, sulphur, silicon, fluorine, iodine and chlorine.

Suppose a person begins to buy a home on monthly payments and after some months or years finds himself unable to meet his notes, what then? He would be exactly in the position of a man who started to swim against a strong current and who gave out before he succeeded. The benefits arising from buying a home as in all lines of human endeavor are for the man who perseveres and succeeds.

The red and white corpuscles alone are sufficient to confound all the wisdom of the world, but they are not the only things discovered in that fragment of a drop of blood.

Let us emphasize this fact over and over again. We can never attach to it too great an importance. The character of the blood depends upon the character of the food supplied to the digestive organs.

FOODS They Build or Destroy

Amazing But Rarely Suspected Truths About the Things You Eat.

By ALFRED W. McCANN. (Copyright, 1916, by Alfred W. McCann.)

A single drop of blood with its red and white corpuscles, containing potassium, sodium, phosphorus, calcium, magnesium, sulphur, iron, etc., is sufficient to confound all the wisdom of the world.

We have seen the minerals that are present in the internal secretions of the body. It is evident that these minerals are not present through the operation of any blind accident. It is just as evident that a profound intelligence has regulated their presence and proportions.

We could transfer an iron tank filled with sulphuric acid from San Francisco to New York and back again and the acid would not affect the tank in any manner. But if we introduced water into that tank the acid would immediately become active and destroy the tank.

In the case of the plant water is so necessary that without it no plant life can exist. Plants that have but a single cell, are not actually immersed in water, are generally to be found in more or less moist situations where they continually obtain supplies of water from dew or rain.

In times of drought they are seriously injured. The young cell which is inclosed with a cell membrane speedily shows a tendency to accumulate water in its interior. Gradually drops of water appear, until ultimately a vacuole, which is always full of liquid, is formed.

It has been proved that protoplasm, which, as we have seen, is the active substance found in every living cell of plant or animal, draws its nutriment eventually from the water which comes to it.

Let us for instance examine a little detail of that majestic creation. If we put a trace of blood under the microscope an astonishing picture is witnessed. Hundreds of little corpuscles are seen swimming about. Most of them are red, but a considerable number are white.

These substances are always found when pure and normal blood is examined, so that it is evident that they must get into the blood through some definite channel and in obedience to some well defined law. It has been established on many occasions by scientific investigators that the red and white corpuscles have certain well defined work to do.

Let us emphasize this fact over and over again. We can never attach to it too great an importance. The character of the blood depends upon the character of the food supplied to the digestive organs.

CAPITAL GOSPEL

NEW BRUNSWICK WANTS GEORGIA PROHIBITION. Georgia's fame as a state which has enacted a prohibition law with "teeth" is not confined to the bounds of this country. Evidence of the truth of that statement was contained in a letter received from the governor Monday from Harster Stephen B. Austin, of Saint John, New Brunswick, master of the supreme court.

Mr. Austin writes that the prohibition question in his province is one which has raised an important issue, and he has been selected to draft a suitable law providing for the prohibition of traffic in and the manufacture of whisky. He states that he has received information to the effect that this state in reality, will make Georgia a dry state in reality, and he asks that any literature which may have been prepared dealing with the law be forwarded, together with a copy of the enactment.

COMMISSIONER PRICE IS SUFFERING WITH THE GRIP. Commissioner J. D. Price, of the department of agriculture, was absent from his office at the state capitol Monday, being confined to the R. Bertson sanitarium with an attack of grip.

AUTHORITY IS GRANTED FOR INCREASED CAPITAL. The secretary of state Monday granted to the Georgia Electric and Traction Company permission to increase its capital stock from $125,000 to $250,000.

BY GEORGE FITCH. Author of "At Good Old Swank."

Department stores were invented in the country villages, each of which has its "general store," in which clothing, plows, butter, coffee, magazines, etc., were sold.

Department stores sell dry goods, jewelry, clothing, horse blankets, cough syrup, canned soup, aeroplanes, false teeth, automobiles, cement walks, milk cows, motor boats, false teeth, lighting stoves, radiums, artificial legs, piano players, celluloid ears, lingerie, tooth brushes, elephant soap, diamond larvae, rat poison, family trees, hull trees and other articles too numerous to mention, but all set forth in large-page advertisements which have made the store the greatest patron of literature in modern times.

Department stores are a block square and twelve stories high, with restaurants, rest-rooms, moving pictures, house physicians, guides, subway stations, chapels, hospital, morgue and recreation lawns on the roof. The greatest display of department stores in Chicago is on the east side of State street.

Men are not so partial to these stores. It is twelve stories high for half a mile and is never finished because there is always a new opening sale at one end and a grand enlargement slaughter sale at the other.

Department stores are greatly beloved by women because of their bargain sales, which are held at special hours and form a charming substitute for football, which is making a habit of American women. Men are not so partial to these stores, because of the great cruelties practiced on them by their wives. It is no uncommon thing to see an American man stand in the silk department of a department store for two hours with his arms full of bargain, waiting just a minute for his wife, who is trying on hats in the millinery department eight floors up and half a block southwest.

RIPLING RHYMES BY WALT RABINS. THE HAS-BEENS. I read the papers every day, and oft encounter tales which show their hope for every Jay, who in an life's battle with the has-beens ranks, at fifty years without a cent, or credit at the banks. But undismayed he buckled down, refusing to be bent, and captured fortune and renown; he's now in Easy street, Mr. Spiney, who follows down and beyond a doubt, that has-beens do come back. I know, for I saw in the rhyme, when forty-odd years old, was down and out, without a dime, my whiskers full of mold. By black disaster I was rounced until I jarred my spine; was a failure so prof, I rounced, I didn't need a sign. And after I had soaked my coat, I said (at forty-three), "I'll see if I can catch the goat that has escaped me." I labored hard; I strained my dome, to do my daily grind, until in triumph I came home, my hilly-goat behind. And my man who still has health may win the winners' stock, and have a chance at fame and wealth—for has-beens do come back.

G. O. P. COMMITTEE TO MEET IN MACON

Chairman Walter Johnson Sets Date of Session for March 10, Although His Opponents Favored February 24.

The call for a meeting of the republican state central committee at Macon March 10 at noon issued by Chairman W. H. Johnson yesterday is an interesting development of a bitter factional fight which has been waged for some time past in the ranks of the republicans.

The call for the meeting ignores the request of about forty republicans who met here last week and adopted resolutions requesting Chairman Johnson to call the meeting for February 24 at Atlanta.

It appears to be a fight to the finish and few political forecasters are willing to place their reputations as political seers on predictions as to the ultimate winners.

The battle for control of the state republican organization has many angles which are attracting wide attention among the members of the party and Georgians with other political affiliations.

W. P. Gore, a member of the Atlanta bar is another who will offer for the state chairmanship.

Political rumor has it that upon his return to Atlanta, former senator Theodore Roosevelt will be one of the local republicans of the necessity for the settlement of their differences so that the work of building up the party in this state may proceed.

By virtue of authority vested in me as chairman of the state of Georgia, I do hereby call a meeting of said committee to be held at the Auditorium at Macon, Ga., at 12 o'clock noon Friday March 10, 1916.

TEMPERATURE WILL RISE SLOWLY TODAY STATES FORECASTER

That the temperature will rise gradually Tuesday morning, and the day will be much more pleasant than yesterday and Monday in the prediction of the local weather forecasters.

Following Sunday's bitterly cold weather, Atlanta on Monday experienced continued low temperatures, although the wind was not so strong as on the previous day, and out-of-door pursuits were much less uncomfortable.

There is plenty of room for a rising temperature, however, and Atlanta's considerable portion of their time during the past two days out of doors will welcome the prediction for more pleasant weather.

Winds will shift to northeasterly, and the cold weather that has prevailed so long in the northwest took a start eastward on Sunday and spread over the southern and eastern portions of the United States but at the same time the zero temperatures have all disappeared in the northwest.

No storm is evident within the limits of the forecast, and the atmospheric pressure being quite high, a heavy snow storm is not expected.

The feature of the semi-monthly luncheon meeting of the Atlanta Rotary Club, which will be held at the Hotel Majestic, will be an address by Fred Houser on the Value of a Convention.

March 22 and 29 the Atlanta club will host to international President Albert Allen D. Albert, Mr. Albert will deliver his address on "Forces That Make Cities on the Waterfront."

March 22, a big banquet is being planned for the honor. A rousing welcome will be given to the chief executive of Rotary on the occasion of his visit here.

It is announced in a bulletin from the United States department of labor that an unlimited number of men are being accepted for the Federal Bureau of Investigation in Kentucky.

By the state of Georgia, I do hereby call a meeting of said committee to be held at the Auditorium at Macon, Ga., at 12 o'clock noon Friday March 10, 1916.

The lower trend, which was most pronounced in the final dealings, was associated with fears of further foreign liquidation.

ALONZO RICHARDSON & CO.

CERTIFIED PUBLIC ACCOUNTANTS ATLANTA, GEORGIA.

HUBBARD BROS. & CO., Cotton Merchants HANOVER SQUARE, NEW YORK.

Members New York Cotton Exchange, New Orleans Cotton Exchange, Liverpool Cotton Association.

Special attention and liberal terms given for consignments of spot cotton for delivery.

Beginning February 15th, 1916, Manufacturers and Jobbers worth $20,000 to $1,000,000 can sell us all or part of their open accounts at a lower rate than ever before.

While your business may not need money, there are, doubtless, times when you can use some additional ready cash to advantage to discount your bills, buy for cash, or increase your volume.

Isn't it most logical then to sell us as many of your open accounts or customers' notes as the occasion may demand? You will receive about 80% spot cash, balance when you have collected the accounts for us, and your customers know nothing of the transaction.

The total cost now is only 1/80th of 1% for each day (1% a month figured to the exact day) on the net face of accounts from date of our purchase until paid, provided you sell us $100,000 of accounts within any 12 successive months. No Commission, Interest, Exchange or other charges.

This is our second rate reduction within a year, made possible largely by an increase in our annual volume to over $20,000,000, three-fourths of which comes from firms rated $25,000 to $1,000,000. If you sell us less than $100,000 within any 12 successive months, there is an additional charge of $5. per $1,000.

It will involve no obligation on your part to write for details, or have our nearest representative call and explain our Non-Notification System.

CASH CAPITAL $1,500,000. Surplus $150,000.

LOANS TO FARMERS BY RESERVE BANKS

Urged in Report of Federal Reserve Board—Extension of the Acceptance System Is Also Urged.

Washington, February 14.—Six amendments to the federal reserve act are recommended to Congress today in the report of the federal reserve board for the first full year of operation of the new banking system.

"A year's experience in the operation of the federal reserve act," says the report, "has confirmed the board in its profound conviction that the act has been one of the most beneficial pieces of legislation ever adopted by Congress. Not only has the fundamental principles been fully vindicated but in most details the working of the measure has been successful."

Permit national banks to subscribe and hold stock in banks organized for the special purpose of doing a banking business in foreign countries. Permit with the approval of the board, the issue of federal reserve notes of federal reserve banks either in the United States or in foreign countries. Extend the acceptance system to the domestic trade paper as it relates to documentary acceptances secured by shipping documents or warehouse receipts covering readily marketable commodities or against the pledge of goods actually owned.

Permit national banks to establish branch offices within the day or county in which they are located. Permit advances to member banks against the receipt of the federal reserve notes or against the deposit of piece of United States government bonds.

Permit the wide discretion in the making of farm loans by national banks so that a certified check or other negotiable instrument of this kind within a radius of 100 miles of its place of business whether in its district or in another district.

It is believed that the enactment of these amendments to the federal reserve act will result in a greatly strengthening the operation of the federal reserve act and the accomplishment of its purpose of its framers.

Foreign Loans. The board announces that it does not consider that it can direct the business operations of federal reserve banks in respect to loans but that its function is to oversee these banks. A plea is made in the report for the entrance of federal reserve notes into the foreign market.

Speaking of foreign borrowing in the United States, the board says that it has received many inquiries on this subject and has given them careful attention. It has reached the conclusion, it says, supported by competent legal advice, that the purpose of the law is to export goods, and that the goods which such goods are ultimately put, does not fall within its province or jurisdiction.

If the report says the transactions which have given rise to such sales or shipments are of a true commercial nature, if the basis upon which they rest is such as to comply with the requirements of the federal reserve act and if the bank in question is a member bank, then the report growing out of them may at will be discounted by federal reserve banks and must be regarded as falling within the province of the federal reserve act. It makes no provision for the loan of foreign government securities for federal reserve banks.

Therefore, neither such member banks based thereon are eligible as investments for federal reserve banks.

The operation of the federal reserve system is a matter of business to be conducted in accordance with the terms of the reserve act. It is not the province of the board to deal with problems involving international relations of the United States other than the purpose of restricting or extending exportations in one direction or another. Eligibility in one direction or another is determined by considerations which are a valid under any set of international relations as another the function of passing upon and dealing with such paper under these regulations.

The board, however, believes that the financing of the country's export trade is at the present time one of the most important financial problems with which the nation has to deal and it is of the opinion that federal reserve banks cannot, even if they would avoid the responsibility of assisting in their prosecution, do otherwise than support them.

Suits are Regretted. The board expresses regret that in some states suits have been instituted to test the validity of the provisions of the reserve act by which it may grant loans to federal reserve banks. His counsel intervenes in these cases and has done so in California. He has also have the question settled by the supreme court at an early date. It is believed that only thirty five states banks have been admitted to the system and eighty-four others have come in in connection with national banks.

It is regrettable continues the report, that in not a few states reserves of the federal reserve banks and trust companies have been materially lowered by legislative enactment since the addition of these banks to the system. The only justification for the reduction of the reserve requirements for national banks is the fact that the nation's

LET OFFICERS TALK, URGES LESLIE SHAW

Former Cabinet Member Is in Favor of "Biggest Scheme of Preparedness."

"The biggest scheme of preparedness is the one most suitable to Leslie M. Shaw for five years secretary of the treasury under President Roosevelt and a former governor of Iowa, according to an interview given to a Constitution reporter last night at the Piedmont hotel.

When the reporter called upon Mr. Shaw he found the ex-secretary of the treasury instead of delving into financial readings bending over a copy of Hudson Maxim's 'Defenseless America.'

"He was asked for an interview on financial subjects on the country's prosperity. No answered the Iowa. There is a bigger subject for me to talk about if I am going to say anything—and it is preparedness of the American nation. I am reading Hudson Maxim's 'Defenseless America' now, and the book tells the truth."

President Wilson, instead of gagging the army and navy officers should instruct them to accept every invitation they have to talk and to talk about the defenseless state of America but not in a hysterical way.

You ask me what program of preparedness I am in favor of? The biggest plan of preparedness ever suggested for this nation should be prepared to defend its immense wealth at any time and against any enemy.
